INTRODUCTION.

LORD DARTMOUTH'S Manuscripts, in so far as they were at the time known to exist, were calendared by the Royal Commission in their Eleventh Report, 1887, Appendix, Part V.

Several years after the publication of that Report I had the opportunity, through the courtesy of the then Lord Lewisham, to examine those original manuscripts for the purpose of making such notes and memoranda as I should like to include in my own manuscript Catalogue Index of papers relating to America from 1763 to 1783 in the public and private archives of England, France, Holland, and Spain.

After the present Earl had succeeded to the title and estates several boxes of additional Manuscripts were found. These were placed at the disposal of the Royal Historical Commission, with the intimation that I might be allowed to consult them for my own Catalogue Index as before, and perhaps calendar the American portion for the Royal Commission. I had thus the honour of sorting this great mass of papers, of separating all that related to North America, and of cataloguing them for my own use. Many bundles appeared to have never been touched since they left the hands of the second Earl of Dartmouth and his Secretary in the last century, and some letters, curiously enough, had never been opened, the seals still remaining intact.

The Secretary of the Royal Commission on Historical Manuscripts having asked me to furnish the Commission with a report on these additional American papers my compliance with his request here follows in 544 pages. As my own field of research is mostly limited to what is now the United States, I requested the assistance of my friend, Mr. Douglas Brymner, Archivist, who has devoted himself to forming the official collection of Canadian Manuscripts at Ottawa, to report on the papers relating to Canada, Nova Scotia, &c. Mr. Brymner's work extends from page 545 to 606. The copious Index to the whole volume is my own.

These additional American papers have been arranged and subdivided into—(i.) Those relating to the original thirteen American Colonies and the War of Independence by which these Colonies became the United States; (ii.) Those relating in a more limited sense to the West India Islands; and (iii.) Those referring to the Colonies immediately north of the United States, as Canada, Labrador, Newfoundland, Nova Scotia, and St. John's Island.

The bulk of these Manuscripts come within the term of office of the second Earl of Dartmouth as Secretary of State for the American Department, though the dates actually range from 1676 to 1839. It is presumed that the few earlier papers are copies used as precedents in his official life; amongst them, however, is an original deed of sale of land by the Stockbridge Indians bearing seals and Indian totems. The later documents, that is, in the present century, relate to the portrait of Lord Dartmouth presented to Dartmouth College in America by his grandson.

The painstaking student of the American phase of English history will find it convenient to use the former Report of the Royal Commission upon Lord Dartmouth's Manuscripts in conjunction with this volume, in order to appreciate the very great historical and biographical importance of the entire collection. If these Calendars are compared with the Documents relating to the Colonial History of New York, the New Jersey Archives, the New Hampshire Records, Force's American Archives, and other American and English publications, the student will be gratified with the great number and value of connecting links, facts, incidents, and explanations here disclosed.

William, second Earl of Dartmouth, grandson of the first Earl, was born 20th June 1731. His father died the following year, and his mother subsequently (1736) married the Earl of Guilford, thus bringing into the same household the young Lord Dartmouth and Frederick (afterwards Lord) North, who was about two years older. Lord Dartmouth was educated at Marylebone, then at Westminster School, finally at Oxford, whence he and Frederick North accomplished the tour of the Continent. He had, meanwhile, on the death of his grandfather, 15th December

1750, succeeded to the earldom. He took his seat in the House of Lords 31st May 1754, Mr. North about the same time being elected member for Banbury, for which borough he sat continuously till called to the House of Lords in December 1790 as Earl of Guilford. Lord Dartmouth married in 1755 Frances Catherine, daughter of Sir Charles Gunter Nicholl. Though we find him acting as Recorder of Sheffield, and occasionally speaking in Parliament, a contemporary sketch of his life says that from this period to 1765 his attachment to letters and to domestic life, together with a pious turn of mind, secluded him from the bustle of public affairs. High offices of State, however, had been filled by his grandfather, who was in his time Secretary of State, Lord Privy Seal, and Lord Justice, by his uncle Heneage, Baron of the Exchequer, and by Henry Bilson Legge, Chancellor. On the formation of Lord Rockingham's Ministry in 1765, which Mr. Lecky alludes to as a "Ministry of great families but of " young men, inexperienced, with two or three worn-out " veterans," and Lord Chesterfield as an "arch without its keystone" (Pitt), Lord Dartmouth, then thirty-four years old, was urged by the Duke of Newcastle to take office, and, like Grafton and Rockingham, get the better of his own inclination for the sake of the King and the public (see previous Calendar of Lord Dartmouth's Manuscripts, 11th Report, Appendix, Part V., p. 331). Lord Shelburne having been offered in the new Ministry his old place at the head of the Board of Trade, and, declining it in a pompous letter (Walpole), the post was conferred on Lord Dartmouth. He was at the same time sworn one of the Lords of Privy Council. The historian Bancroft, who seems to favour Shelburne, says, "the " refusal of Shelburne to act under Rockingham as President of " the Board of Trade left this important office to the young and " inexperienced Lord Dartmouth."

The new Ministry opened its career with meetings and measures to carry out in the fullest degree the Stamp Act passed in the previous February, but the utter opposition and resentment of the Colonies soon led to its abandonment and repeal (pp. 15-46). The feeling of the American provinces against the Act is here embodied in the formal resolutions of the Chambers of Virginia, Rhode Island, New York, Massachusetts, and New Jersey, and by those drawn up at town and county meetings. Their agents in London, notably Franklin for Pennsylvania, Dennys de Berdt for Massachusetts, Charles Garth for South Carolina, and others, forcibly represented the opinion of their constituents. General Phineas Lyman contributes long arguments against it, and the merchants of London and Birmingham petition for its repeal.

A letter from Dr. Fothergill, the well-known physician, is curious from its suggestion at this early date (29th August 1765) of Commissioners being chosen to go to America to confer with others appointed there on the subject of their complaints, intimating that such a conference would give a correct knowledge of the Americans and "avert the independence they seem to desire" (p. 18).

Though Lord Dartmouth in the month of January 1766 moved the Lords' reply to the King, vaguely pledging their utmost endeavours to support the King's dignity and the legislative authority of the kingdom over its colonies, yet almost immediately we find, apparently, his mind made up for the repeal of the Act, and the Earl of Huntingdon and the Earl of Chesterfield offering him their proxies in most impressive terms for that purpose (pp. 33, 36).

In the month of February 1766 Lord Rockingham seems to have been so thoroughly disturbed by the conduct of the Court party as to threaten an immediate resignation, and it now became Lord Dartmouth's turn to urge the claims of country against personal inclination. The letter is found in the Memoirs of Rockingham.

"The case is not yet desperate, and while there is the least shadow of hope of doing good, I would on no account give up the game to those who will, undoubtedly, do mischief. The Act once repealed, I shall heartily congratulate your Lordship upon a release from your fatigue. Your successors may then be left to enjoy the sweets of an honourable coalition and hug themselves in the possession of employment, which nothing but concern for the public good could make it worth your while to hold. It will be some time before they can contrive to get us into such another scrape; when they do it will be time enough to call upon Yourself & Co to deliver us from it."

The Stamp Act once repealed, the overthrow of the Whigs followed, and Lord Dartmouth held no office for some years. The letters, however, in these pages show that Lord Rockingham claims him as one of his party, till in January 1771 Lord Dartmouth refers to a "step taken contrary to Lord Rockingham's opinion" (p. 77), evidently that of his joining the Tory party. In 1772, on the resignation of the Secretary of State for the American Department, Lord North, now First Lord of the Treasury, wrote to Lord Dartmouth asking permission to recommend him to the King as successor to the vacant department (p. 86). This office of a third Secretary had been created in 1768 to relieve the other departments of the great and increasing pressure of American affairs, and had from that date been filled by Wills, Earl of Hillsborough, who had married Lord Dartmouth's aunt, Baroness Stawell, widow of Henry Bilson Legge.

It is stated that Dr. Franklin may have been partly instrumental in bringing about Lord Dartmouth's appointment, for when asked by a friend at Court if, should Lord Hillsborough be removed, he could name another likely to be more acceptable to the Americans, he answered, "Yes, there is Lord Dartmouth, we liked him very well when he was at the head of the Board formerly, and probably should like him again." His appointment was received in America with general joy, the greatest hopes being placed in his high character and anticipated influence in bringing to some amicable conclusion the disputes and prevailing irritation. He was at the same time First Lord of Trade, the two offices being united for him.

That Lord Dartmouth was looked up to by the Americans, and his aid sought in order to reconcile differences even before he took office as Secretary of State, is shown by the joint letter of Bowdoin, Pemberton, and Joseph Warren, three of the leading members of the popular party in Massachusetts, written from Boston, 23rd March 1770, transmitting, by order of a meeting held in Faneuil Hall, a copy of the proceedings relative to the massacre of the 5th, and expressing the desire of the town and province that the troops be removed, for which purpose they solicit his Lordship's interposition and influence (p. 72).

It was wittily said at a later date that Mr. Grenville lost America because he read the American despatches which his predecessors had never done, and it may be imagined that Lord Dartmouth's reading was not tranquillizing. He came into office at the moment when the Attorney and Solicitor Generals were occupied with their reports and opinions on the burning of the "Gaspee," an armed revenue schooner which had become a source of friction and very unpopular with the people of Rhode Island (p. 86 et seq.), which event the Attorney-General describes as "of five times the magnitude of the Stamp Act" (p. 91).

Dr. Franklin in his correspondence relates his attending his Lordship's first levee, and his gratification at his reception, so different from that accorded to him by the previous Secretary. Dr. Franklin soon after delivered to Lord Dartmouth a petition from the Assembly of Massachusetts to the King. On Lord Dartmouth intimating that it would but offend His Majesty and bring down a reprimand on the Assembly, and that he was extremely unwilling that one of the first acts of his administration should be of so unpleasant a nature, Franklin promised to consult his constituents further, and the matter was accordingly postponed. It is curious to note that one of the last acts of Lord Dartmouth's administration was also in connection with an American petition to the King—the famous "Olive Branch," that drawn up by the second Congress of the United Colonies (see p. 358). The original, now in the Public Record Office, America and West Indies, Vol. 279, folio 251, bears only this endorsement, "Sept. 1st 1775. "Delivered to the Earl of Dartmouth by Messrs. Penn and "Lee." The first petition of Congress to the King in 1774 had also been put into Lord Dartmouth's hands, and, in Dr. Franklin's words, "he told us it was a decent and proper petition and cheerfully undertook to deliver it." (See page 241 and some correspondence in the previous Calendar.) The original of that petition is also in the Public Record Office, America and West Indies, Vol. 278, folio 471, and its duplicate original is considered one of the most precious papers among the Franklin Manuscripts in the State Department at Washington. Both petitions, with notes, are in Stevens's Facsimiles, Nos. 454 and 850.

Notwithstanding all his good dispositions towards America the Minister appears almost helpless in the current of circumstances. It may not be uninteresting to read on this point the opinion of one of the American patriots, Samuel Adams (Bancroft iv., 267):

“The present administration, even though the very good Lord Dartmouth is one of them, are as fixed as any of their predecessors in their resolution to carry their favourite point, an acknowledgement of the right of Parliament to make laws binding us in all cases whatever . . . . . His Majesty, in his answer to our late petitions, implies that the Parliament is the supreme legislature, and that its authority over the Colonies is the constitution. All allow the minister in the American department to be a good man. The great men in England have an opinion of us as being a mightily religious people, and suppose that we shall place an entire confidence in a minister of the same character. In fact, how many were filled with the most sanguine expectations when they heard that the good Lord Dartmouth was intrusted with a share in administration. Yet without a greatness of mind equal, perhaps superior, to his goodness, it will be impossible for him singly to stem the torrent of corruption. This requires much more fortitude than I yet believe he is possessed of. The safety of the Americans depends upon their pursuing their wise plan of union in principle and conduct.”

Lord Dartmouth's well-meaning efforts in opening a private correspondence with Mr. Cushing, Speaker of the Massachusetts Assembly, was rejoiced at by the extreme faction in America as an act ignoring the Governor (pp. 158, 168, 175). The transmission by Dr. Franklin to Boston of the Hutchinson and Whately correspondence had so inflamed the minds of the people of that province that they formally demanded the removal of Governor Hutchinson and Lieutenant-Governor Oliver, which demand in its turn highly incensed the Home Government and the King. The attempt to force the East India Company's tea on the American Colonies was followed by the refusal to allow the ships to land or the destruction of the cargoes. The course of events may be easily followed in these pages. There are also (pp. 236, 264, &c.) traces of the informal negotiation opened with Dr. Franklin, then living in Craven Street, just before he started for America, by means of Dr. Fothergill, the physician, Mr. David Barclay, merchant, the Hon. Mrs. Howe, Lord Howe, and Lord Hyde, which extended over several weeks, and of which an interesting account is given by Dr. Franklin in his journal. On page 266 is Dr. Fothergill's letter to Lord Dartmouth on the subject, and on page 270 the “Plan for a Permanent Union.”

Numerous papers from 1769 to 1773 relate to schemes of fresh settlement of American lands towards the west and south, the spirit of emigration from Europe being already a fact to be noticed (p. 181). Most important, perhaps, is the proposed Ohio Settlement—the rock on which Lord Hillsborough split as Secretary of the American Department. A proposed colony west of the Alleghany Mountains was to be called Pittsylvania (p. 75). A notification of the emigration of eighty souls from Fort Pitt to Fort Natchez is followed a little later by “Thoughts for erecting a new Government” there. Settlements on the Mississippi were strongly advocated by General Lyman, as is seen also in the American Manuscripts of the Lansdowne House Collection. In 1772 he proposes the erection of a “civil government” from the Bay of Mexico to the Ohio, and in this way to direct thither the emigration which is taking place from the settled lands in Connecticut to the country between Crown Point and the Connecticut River (p. 111). Two hundred Scotch families beg some encouragement to enable them to settle on that continent (p. 96). Lord Dartmouth himself owns 40,000 acres in East Florida, and William Gerard de Brahm, once Surveyor-General of America, tells his Lordship that he can find thirteen good French Protestant families to settle on it. He appears to be instrumental in forming for the purpose a Society called the Swizer or Cape Florida Society for which 8,000 acres are to be appropriated at a regular quit-rent. The terms and conditions, however, after much correspondence are finally thrown over by the members as unsuitable for a “society of free people,” but the real objection seems to have been to Mr. de Brahm as agent. Mr. de Brahm’s lengthy epistles are numerous, he transmits, too, a manuscript history of East Florida (p. 120), and various astronomical and religious treatises.

Reference also appears to the disputed grants of land west of the Connecticut River and known as the New Hampshire grants. William Samuel Johnson, Agent for Connecticut, acted in 1767 in London on behalf of the settlers on the disputed lands. He subsequently became President of Columbia College, New York. A Mr. Hawley was appointed by others, members of the Church of England, also to represent their case (p. 105). Paul Wentworth, another agent, finding that these settlers had formed part of the body of New England troops which had surprised Ticonderoga, denounces and repudiates them in a spirited letter (p. 363).

In the year 1774 are some original rolls of the Royalist Militia of different districts of the Province of New York, which rolls it is supposed escaped the fire at Fort George where, Governor Tryon says, a complete statement of the militia was lost (p. 215).

The correspondence multiplies in the year 1775, the last year of Lord Dartmouth's office. Most interesting are many private despatches from the governors and others in the different American provinces, notably Lord William Campbell of South Carolina, Lord Dunmore of Virginia, Martin of North Carolina, and Tryon of New York, each with its own tale of the anarchy and strife amongst the people, the acts of the provincial assemblies, the subversion of the Royal authority, and the final departure of the Royal governors.

Correspondence with Richard Oswald, a Scotch merchant in London, and of Achincruie, Ayrshire, who is commended to Lord Dartmouth by Mr. Secretary Pownall in a note on a wrapper (p. 268). According to Lord Edmond Fitzmaurice's Life of Lord Shelburne, Mr. Oswald originally became known to the Government as a contractor during the Seven Years War. Mr. Pownall says, "Your Lordship's uncle . . . . I believe, consulted him much in matters of commercial policy." The correspondence thus opened with the American Department culminated in 1782 in his appointment by Lord Shelburne as agent Plenipotentiary in Paris to negotiate the Treaty between England and America.

The numerous copies of intercepted letters in this year show the activity of the Post Office over the American mails. Many of them were enclosed within wrappers (see pp. 347, 376, 393), which still bear in the King's hand the exact hour and minute at which he received them. That the same activity extended to the French and Dutch mails in connection with the Home and Foreign Departments is shown by Lord Auckland's collection of Manuscripts, where, besides the copies of those intercepted, are letters in 1777 from Anthony Todd, the Secretary of the Post Office, giving glimpses of himself and his confidential "young men" engaged twelve hours on a stretch over the business.

Lord Dartmouth's important despatches of the 2nd August 1775 (pp. 344-45), recalling General Gage, "the mild General" as the King calls him, and announcing reinforcements in troops, money, and supplies, receive added interest by being read with the King's letters to Lord North (Donne, Vol. I., Nos. 303-305). The employment of Indians is here based on the ground of the American people having been the first to enlist them in their service.

Bancroft, in his History, states that in the spring of this year the Provincial Congress of Massachusetts had sent messages to the Mohawks to persuade them either to take part with the Americans "or to stand neuter," and that it had won over the converted Indians settled at Stockbridge by presents of blankets and ribbon. Also, that on the formation of Washington's camp outside Boston, a number of these same Indians were armed with bows and arrows as well as guns, visiting that camp with their squaws and children.

On the other hand the Americans grounded their overtures towards the Indians on the action of Canadian emissaries who were reported to be seeking to influence these nations in favour of England.

The holograph unaddressed letter from Mr. Jefferson, of the 25th August 1775, was, I find since the entry was printed, intended for John Randolph. As joint author in 1774 of the Declaration by Congress setting forth the causes or necessity of taking up arms, and in the year following as sole author of the Declaration of Independence, Mr. Jefferson's words at this date are noticeable:—

"I wish no false sense of honor, no ignorance of our real intentions, no vain hope that partial concessions of right will be accepted may induce the ministry to trifle with accomodation till it shall be put even out of our own power ever to accomodate, if indeed Great Britain; disjoined from her Colonies, be a match for the most potent nations of Europe with the colonies thrown into their scale, they may go on securely, but if they are not assured of this, it would be certainly unwise, by trying the event of another campaign, to risque our accepting a foreign aid which perhaps may not be obtainable but on a condition of everlasting avulsion from Great Britain."

On the 9th of November 1775 the Duke of Grafton resigned the Privy Seal, disapproving of the measures pursued towards America. This led to various changes, Lord George Germain taking the American Department. The King seems to have had some difficulty in satisfying all parties; he wishes Lord Dartmouth to have the Southern Department, and though his affection for him is well known, he petulantly speaks of him as "unaccommodating" and "foolishly attached to the office of Privy Seal." Lord Dartmouth's own state of mind is well put forward in the following letters.

Mr. Robinson, Secretary to the Treasury and Leader of the House, writes from the House of Commons, 8th November, at 15 minutes past 4 p.m., that from the situation he perceives Lord North's mind is in, and the anxiety he expresses that his Lordship should agree to accept the seals of one of the old Secretaries of State, he hopes he will agree to do so.

Lord Dartmouth's reply is amongst the Marquis of Abergavenny's Manuscripts:—

"Dear Sir,

"The distress I see Lord North in deprives me not only of the power of expressing my thoughts to him, but even of collecting and digesting them myself. Be assured that if I take the seals that are offered me, I shall render myself ten times more miserable than I am. There is nothing I dread more than the appearance of impracticability, but you will allow me to say to you, that I think it is reasonable that a noble Viscount [Weymouth] should be expected to accommodate as myself; from what you told me to day I cannot but entertain a hope that he may still be prevailed upon to do it. I dare not ask Lord North to try, perhaps you may have an opportunity to get at those who may effect it, sure it was unfortunate that Lord N proposed the option, I think incoherently & therefore I must write so: the dread of a situation in wch I foresee no satisfaction to myself on one hand, & my love for Lord N. & regard to his peace of mind on the other tear me to pieces. I would with all my heart go quite out of employment, but that would look unkind to him—if you think you see a ray of light for me, let me know, and believe me always your most faithful humble Servant, Dartmouth."

Mr. Robinson sends another note from the House at 7 p.m. "Lord North this moment tells me that he will again apply to Ld Wey—th." Both the King and Lord North, however, wish his Lordship to accept the seal of Secretary of State

The next morning Mr. Robinson writes:—"Lord North after leaving the House last night said he could never think of pressing you to accept an office that would make you miserable." He is to see Lord Weymouth this morning, and it is hoped he will accept, in which case Lord Dartmouth would have the Privy Seal that day.

Again at half-past two, Mr. Robinson sends a note that Lord Weymouth is to see the King for the purpose of settling, to which Lord Dartmouth replies:—

“Dear Sir,

“The suspense in which I have been since I received your note, is a state of no small Agony—relieve me if you can—sure I must have heard before this hour, if the interview had turned out as you expected, and things are going on well for

“Dear Sir,

“Your most obedient

“and faithful Servant

“Thursday Evening  $\frac{1}{2}$  past 9.

His suspense is shortly relieved by Mr. Robinson’s letter (see p. 400), written after ten o’clock, stating that Lord Weymouth accepted the secretaryship referred to, and that the much desired Privy Seal was at Lord Dartmouth’s disposal.

Lord Dartmouth retained the office of Privy Seal till the return of the Whigs in March 1782. That he was not quite satisfied during that time, may be inferred from a letter written to Lord North 13th September 1780, now amongst the Marquis of Abergavenny’s Manuscripts:—

“My dear Lord,

“I have opened my mind more freely to Mr. Robinson than I could have done it to you, if you had had leisure to hear me, he may perhaps have repeated to you some part of what I said to him respecting both Lord Lewisham and myself; with regard to myself I have only to say that if other people are unmindful of me, you are in a situation that gives you opportunity to remind them whenever you think fit: as to Lord L . . . it is employment that I desire for him . . . a seat at the board of trade would not now, I believe, be acceptable to him and . . . he would not receive my approbation if he should accept of it. You will think perhaps that I hold myself pretty high upon this occasion; it may be so but you must pardon my freedom, if I say that neither your plea of old promises, nor your impatient and unfriendly manner with me, have convinced me that I am wrong; however, my attachment to you, is formed upon such grounds, that no ill-treatment that I may think I receive can ever make me cease to wish well to your administration, or to be my dear Lord, your affectionate faithful humble Servant.—D.”

It is recorded in one of Mr. Toplady’s letters that about October 1776 it was “strongly represented,” and believed that Lord Dartmouth should have the Lord Lieutenancy of Ireland. “If,” adds Mr. Toplady, “he should be sent with a land tax in his right hand, I shall heartily wish him safe back again.”

Records of the part taken by Lord Dartmouth in Parliamentary debate are not numerous. Subsequent to the Cyder

Bill of 1763 which he attacked, and his condemnation of Brecknock's Droit le Roi, 1764, they relate to American affairs.

1st Feb. 1775 - Debate in the Lords on the Earl of Chatham's Provisional Act for settling the troubles in America.

21st Mar. - Debate on the Bill for restraining the Trade and Commerce of the New England Colonies.

17th May - Debate on Lord Camden's Bill to repeal the Quebec Government Act.

26th Oct. - Debate in the Lords on the Address of Thanks. (America—"The measures of " last Session were directed to the protection of the Province of Massachusetts " Bay entirely.")

1st Nov. - Debate on employing Foreign troops without the consent of Parliament.

8th Nov. - Debate on a Motion "That the Petition of " the Congress of America to the King " affords ground of conciliation."

15th Nov. - Debate on the Duke of Grafton's Motion respecting the British Forces in America.

14th Mar. 1776 Debate on the Duke of Grafton's Proposition for Conciliation with America.

7th Dec. 1779 - Debate on the Duke of Richmond's Motion for an Economical Reform of the Civil List Establishments. The public expenditure (mostly in connection with the War in America) Richmond said was lavish and wasteful to a shameful degree.

In the Coalition Ministry, April to December 1783, Lord Dartmouth served as Steward of the Household, and in 1786 he was given by Lord North the High Stewardship of Oxford University.

Both Lord and Lady Dartmouth were strongly attached to the evangelical sect organized by the Countess of Huntingdon. Lord Dartmouth had been introduced to her by her cousin the then Countess of Guilford, third wife of Francis, Lord North, Earl of Guilford. Lord Dartmouth so identified himself with the connection that, as early as 1767, during a serious illness of Lady Huntingdon, he was spoken to concerning the taking over of her chapels in the event of any such exigency. His house at Sandwell, near Birmingham, was the resort of many of the preachers, and Lady Dartmouth's drawing-room at Cheltenham was opened for religious meetings. In this way he became acquainted with Whitefield, who calls him "the Daniel of the age," Wesley, Toplady, Hervey, Romaine, Venn, Rector of Huddersfield, and other eminent supporters of Calvinistic Methodism. In the present Calendar, limited as it is to American affairs, many names are recognized as belonging to the same circle, notably the rich merchant John Thornton, "who expended an ample fortune in the most splendid charity, and who preceded Simeon in the practice of purchasing advowsons and bestowing them on evangelical preachers" (Lecky III., 123). Other names are Lord Bath, Rev. Martin Madan (pp. 407, 528) of the Lock Chapel, to which Lord Dartmouth and Baron Smythe gave the weight of their rank and influence, Rev. Mr. Rawlings (p. 472, &c.) formerly a student at Oxford, and for forty years Vicar of Padstow, and the Rev. Bryan Broughton, Rector of All Hallows, Lombard Street, Secretary to the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel in Foreign Parts and one of the original Methodists at Oxford. It was Lord Dartmouth who prevailed on the Bishop of Lincoln to ordain John Newton, and it is well known that his Lordship is alluded to by Cowper in the words "who wears a coronet and prays." It was also Lord Dartmouth who accompanied the Countess of Huntingdon and the Duchess of Ancaster in her audience with their Majesties to remonstrate on the balls and routs held by the Archbishop of Canterbury, and to Lord Dartmouth the King expressed his agreeable surprise at finding Lady Huntingdon so different from what he had expected.

The very interesting letters and papers in connection with the Indian Charity School in Lebanon, Connecticut, first started by the Rev. Eleazer Wheelock, and which afterwards developed into Dartmouth College, should not fail to be noticed. The entire text of those from Dr. Wheelock has in most cases been given, others are from Nathaniel Whitaker, who in 1766 came to England with Samson Occom, Dr. Wheelock's first Indian scholar, to rouse interest and gain subscriptions for extending the scheme. I have elsewhere in a footnote (p. 12) directed attention to Chase and Lord's history of the College. The letter from Dr. Wheelock of 22nd December 1768 transmitting specimens of Indian merchandise is by a regrettable misprint on page 65 dated from London instead of from Lebanon. In 1767, Trustees being nominated, Lord Dartmouth was appointed President of the Board, John Thornton, Treasurer, and Robert Keen, a woollen-draper in the Minories, Secretary. In 1773, Thornton writes (p. 132) of 500*l*. he is willing to give towards the building of the College. In 1776 he begs that the safety of the College might be recommended to both General Sir William Howe and his brother the Admiral. In 1826 a question arises as to the whereabouts of a full-length portrait of the Earl by Copley, supposed to have been in the College but not to be found. His grandson kindly supplying another, it is detained on its way to its destination by the citizens of New York, and at their request placed for the day of the National anniversary, the 4th of July, in its case, beside the portraits of Washington, Franklin, and other eminent Americans (pp. 489-492).

Many interesting, if perhaps partisan, letters are from Ambrose Serle, who had been in Lord Dartmouth's service while Secretary of State, is appointed in January 1776 Clerk of Reports, and who accompanies the British Army in America from 1776 to 1778, in what capacity exactly does not appear, but that part of the time in New York he had control of the press. While recounting the military or general occurrences he writes very freely his own reflections and opinions:—

“ Among the causes of the present Civil War is one which . . . . . may probably hinder more than any, all the Endeavours for Peace and Reconciliation . . . . Religion, added to the very active and unbecoming Part the Preachers here of all Denominations have taken in these Controversies . . . . the War is at the Bottom very much a religious War, and every one looks to the Establishment of his own Party upon the Issue of it.” “ Among other Engines, which have raised the present Commotion next to the indecent Harangues of the Preachers, none has had a more extensive or stronger Influence than the Newspapers of the respective Colonies. One is astonished to see with what Avidity they are sought after and how implicitly they are believed, by the great Bulk of the People. The Congress saw the necessity of securing this Advantage entirely to themselves, and of preventing all Publications, which might either expose or refute the Policy of their Measures. A free Press, however, teeming with heterogeneous Matters, would at least have retarded their great Design Government may find it expedient in the Sum of things, to employ this popular Engine, and if it be impossible to restrain the Publication of Falsehood, it will be its Interest to give Power and Facility to the Circulation of Truth."

While he sees all the distress of the people, the want of government or misgovernment of the leaders, the poor remnants of their army, he yet feels the significance of their Declaration of Independence, which the Government persists in ignoring.

"If it be not too much Presumption to say what has been uniformly my own Opinion, the Idea of treating with the Rebel Leaders, after their Declaration of Independence, and much more after their refusal to treat with us but upon that ground has given us a Wound, wch only the future Vigor of our Arms can heal . . . unless we beat and beat down too, all Men that oppose us with Arms, I believe we have no other human means for the Possession of America."

Once conquered, too, he foresees that future policy must be fundamentally adjusted, suggesting an American Constitution, co-ordinate with the British, otherwise the country would naturally shake off British authority in half a century. He recommends Joseph Galloway of Pennsylvania, forwarding some of his long and interesting letters to Richard Jackson (solicitor to the Board of Trade, King's Counsel, and M.P. for New Romney from 1768 to 1784) on the subject of the government of America, besides letters on the state of the country as he viewed it. Mr. Galloway supplies Lord Dartmouth with a number of American statistics (pp. 454-5), and arguments against the proposed evacuation of Philadelphia (p. 466).

Another correspondent and intimate friend is Sir James Adolphus Oughton of Caroline Park, near Edinburgh, Commander-in-Chief of His Majesty's Forces in Scotland. It was he who introduced Dr. Beattie, in whose Journal (Forbes' Life of Beattie) are many references to Lord Dartmouth's courtesy and kindness. Yet another is James Hutton, the Chief of the Moravians in London and a well-known figure of the period.

Lord Dartmouth received, like his successor in the American Department, Lord George Germain, various "Opinions of the best Measures to be pursued towards America," "Thoughts on the disputes" and "Schemes of Union," more or less practicable, many of them without names or dates, but some bearing the names of Lord Drummond, Lord Hyde, Lord Marchmont, Paul Wentworth, and William Knox.

William Knox, Under Secretary of State in the American Department for more than twelve years, is well known as a political writer. Paul Wentworth, who has already been mentioned in connection with the New Hampshire Grants, turned his attention towards supplying the Government with secret information of the attitude of France and Holland towards the Colonies. He was later frequently employed confidentially by the Southern or Foreign Department to discover the exact position in which the American Commissioners at Paris (Dr. Franklin, Deane, and Lee) stood with the French Ministry. One of his stipulations for remuneration was that of a seat in Parliament, and it is curious to note that he did obtain his wish for the short period of two and a half months, being elected for Saltash, 12th July 1780, which borough it is stated in the history of the Secret Service of George III. was "under the arrangement of Government with attention." The Parliament dissolved 1st September following.

This notice would not be complete without a reference to the indefatigable Under Secretary, John Pownall. For many years Secretary to the Board of Trade and Plantations he became, in addition, when the office of Colonial Secretary was created, Under Secretary of State to that Department, filling both offices under Lord Hillsborough and Lord Dartmouth. He was returned to Parliament 23rd November 1775 for St. Germans borough just after Dartmouth's resignation as Secretary of State, and 31st May 1776 was appointed one of the Commissioners of Excise, which may be the "cup of comfort" alluded to by himself on page 412. He was a brother of the better known Governor Thomas Pownall.

The manuscripts relating more exclusively to the West India possessions are chiefly letters from the various Governors and Lieutenants-Governors and others on the affairs pertaining to the local governments, letters from applicants for the governorships and other posts, descriptions of the islands, &c.

The manuscripts touching Canada, Labrador, Newfoundland, Nova Scotia and St. John's Island have, as already stated, been calendared by Mr. Douglas Brymner.

The papers relating to the province of Quebec range from 1757 to 1792 (pp. 545-573). From 1764 to 1772 they chiefly relate to the serious question of the establishment of courts and the impartial administration of justice in a newly acquired territory whose inhabitants had both language and laws of their own, to the question of the position of the Roman Catholics and to that of the legislative powers of the Governor and Council. Attention may be called to the additional instructions to Governor Murray as to the composition of juries in cases of British born subjects or Canadians; a long report of the Attorney and Solicitor General on the measures for removing the various causes of complaints in the civil government 1766 (p. 552); abstract of such of the regulations proposed in Mr. Solicitor General's Report as it may be expedient to establish by Act of Parliament, 6th December 1772; and abstract of such as the Provincial Legislature of Quebec may carry into execution. In 1773 and 1774 are drafts, memoranda, and correspondence on the constitutional change known as the Quebec Act. Here are many of the letters of Roubaud, a Jesuit priest and unprincipled man, who for many years continued to weary the Government with his persistent claims for attention and remuneration.

Part of the papers on Labrador (pp. 574-580) deal with the mission and settlement of the Moravians at Esquimaux Bay. Their first attempt to establish a mission in Labrador was frustrated by the murder of the missionaries, but in 1764 the attempt was renewed. In 1769 an Order in Council was framed favouring the mission and granting the land desired by them. James Hutton, as Secretary to the Brethren's Mission, supplies Lord Dartmouth with reports of their proceedings. The other papers relate to George Cartwright and his seal and salmon fishing posts, and to the general regulations he proposes for the fisheries there.

Of the few papers touching Newfoundland the most important are on the fortifications of St. John and Placentia.

Those relating to Nova Scotia are more numerous. In 1766 are memorials, proposals, &c., of Colonel Alexander McKnott for a settlement of lands on a large scale. The later papers 1775-1778 should be read with those of corresponding date calendared in the previous Report already noticed, especially such as relate to the dispute between Governor Legge and his Government. Here are Governor Legge's reply to the petitions brought against him, his defence of his conduct, and the report of the Board of Trade to the King. The Board, while finding that the Governor "hath been wanting in that Gracious and Conciliating

 "Deportment which the delicacy of the times and the Temper
 "of Men . . . . demanded," acquitted him of the charges put forward, though they recommended he should not be allowed to return to the Island.

An interesting pamphlet (p. 601) relating to St. John's Island, now Prince Edward Island, is that containing Lord Egmont's application for a grant of the whole island, with proposals for an elaborate system of settlement and tenure. This application was disallowed, but in 1767 the Island was mapped out into various estates, most of which were disposed of in a great lottery held at the Board of Trade. In 1769 the Island was erected into a separate Government, but the failure of the proprietors in their agreement to pay such quit rent as should meet the Government charges, or, indeed, any quit rent at all, soon produced confusion and abuses which never rectified themselves, till, in our own time, the whole of the estates of the absentee proprietors were compulsorily bought up and the Island itself made a Province of the Dominion of Canada.

Several bound manuscript volumes are in this collection, one in red morocco, gilt, entitled, "Transactions in America relative to the Boston Port Act, &c., in 1774," was apparently drawn up for the King; another, in brown morocco, entitled "Massachusetts Bay, 1775," contains copies of correspondence between Lord Dartmouth and General Gage for that year; a third is a list of offices, officers, how appointed, salary, and how paid, of the various Colonies in America and the West Indies; and a fourth is a folio volume bound in calf containing the names of persons recommended as Governors, law officers and others in America, by whom they were recommended, and dates and references to the letters of recommendation.

“A Case relating to Lands taken, by instructions from the Crown, and afterwards restored,” possibly to serve as a precedent for the above. “In the year 1732 Samuel Waldo and others proprietors of certain Lands petitioned His Majesty to be restored to Lands taken and withheld from them by instructions from the Crown to David Dunbar, which petition was referred to the Lords of the Committy. Whereupon they reported to His Majesty that the Attorney and Solicitor-General to whom it was refer’d for their opinion observed on their report, that some objections were made before them to the Nature of the Grants and Conveyances, under which the petitioners claimed and to the Manner of deduceing down their title, but they conceive that in questions of this kind concerning rights to Land in the West Indies and upon enquirys of this nature the same regularity and exactness is not to be expected as in private Suits concerning titles to Lands in England, but that in these cases the principle regard ought to be had to the Possession and the Expences the partys have been at in endeavouring to Settle and Cultivate such Lands.” . . . Therefore upon the whole they are of opinion that the petitioners, their Tenants and Agents, ought not to be disturbed in their possession or interrupted in Carrying on their Settlements.” This report having been laid by the Lords Commissioners of Trade and Plantations before the Committee, the Committee proceed to take the whole matter into consideration and report to His Majesty that they are of opinion with the Attorney and Solicitor-General, and are further of opinion that it may be advisable for His Majesty to revoke the instructions, and order Dunbar to quit possession of all the said lands. “The foregoing is a similar case with Mr. Levy’s.” Mr. Levy’s lands had been in his possession upwards of 12 years.

Enclosure :—

Reason for establishing a British Colony at the Illinois, with some proposals for carrying the same into immediate execution. From its extreme fertility it has been called the "granary" of Louisiana. The 400 French families now settled there would not be serious rivals in trade as their goods are transported from New Orleans up the Mississippi, whereas the English have ready communication from Virginia and Pennsylvania to Fort Pitt. The French posts on the E. side of the Mississippi being now in possession of the English a settlement there would be the best means of supporting them. The proposals include—The purchase of lands from the Indians; grants to soldiers who served in the last war and the offer of a company of gentlemen of character and fortune, on consideration of a grant of land, to settle at least one white Protestant person to every one hundred acres.

Pound higher than at any British Market. The best means seemingly to prevent this Trade carried on by Collusion between some of His Majesty’s new subjects from Canada Detroit and other Places, and the French Traders, would be to pass a Law to seize and confiscate all Furs and skins going down the Ohio below the Ouabache, or down the Illinois River below the Rock as well as all Skins and Furs from the Illinois country or above it, which shall be found on the Mississippi below the Mouth of the Ohio, or carrying over to the west side of the Mississippi.” Proposes the erection of posts at convenient spots. Fort Chartres must soon tumble as the River gains so considerably on its banks every year. Fresh complaints from the Indians whom Sir William Johnson is trying to pacify. 1766, September 4. Lebanon in Connecticut.—“ May it please your Lordship. Were I not confident, upon good Testimonies, that God has inspired your Breast with another Spirit, than that which rules in the men of this world, and with nobler Principles, and higher views than they are governd by, I might well be solicitous what Returns of Gratitude to make, which your Lordship might think Suitable for such distinguishing condesention, and Goodness, as you have Shewn in the Grand Affair, on which I have sent the Rev<sup>d</sup> Mess<sup>rs</sup> Whitaker and Occom, in my Stead, to Europe; but as the success of the general Design in view, is the only Joy that is set before you, I need not Trouble you with, so much as, a mention of those Sentiments of Gratitude toward you, which fill not only mine, but the Hearts of all who love our Lord Jesus Christ in this corner of the world.

Nor can I, with this confidence of your Lordship, be so modestly reserved, in a Cause in which I am not conscious to myself of having any other governing views than the Advancement of the kingdom of our common Lord, and the Interests of his Majesty's Crown, as not to Suggest any other Favour, which may be in the Power of your Hands, towards it, or attainable by your Lordship's Influence. And particularly that the grand Design be encouraged, and accomodated with a Grant of Lands suitably situate, and Sufficient for it, as by the late Conquests large Tracts are become the Property of the British Crown, and other Tracts which were before chartered, but unsettled and of but little account, by Reason of their Distance from English Settlements, and their Vicinity to an Enemy's country, are now become valuable and may soon be peopled.

Of these Lands, his Majesty has already been pleased, with good Reason, to make various Grants to one and another, as a Reward of their Merit, and as Profit has accrued to his Crown by their Service. But, may it please your Lordship, there has been nothing hitherto devised, or done, in which there is any Prospect of the firm Attachment of the Numerous Tribes of Savages in this land, to the british Interest, and their becoming good and peaceable subjects, and industrious Members of Society, which has in any Measure that Degree of Probability in it, as this has which is recommended to your Lordships Patronage.

The Nations will not make war with us while their Children, and especially the children of their Chiefs are with us—They can't resist the Evidence we hereby give them of the Sincerity of our Intentions towards them—They know their Sons are made better by being with us—and that we make no gain to ourselves by it—They receive the Testimony of their Sons, that we constantly treat them as Children in Health, and in Sickness, and calculate all our measures for their Good—And they begin to believe that our Motives are something great, quite beyond what they have before conceived of them—Many of them begin to be convinced of the Necessity of Agriculture, in order to their Subsistence when their Resources from the Wilderness fail, (as they certainly must do, when, and so fast, as the English extend their Settlements among them) and their own Sons are made able, by their Education here, to influence them in it—The Reputation of this School and their Fondness to have their Children taught in it, are yet increasing—A number of their own Sons are now become accomplished Interpreters and School Masters, among their Tribes; and recommend a Sober, manly, virtuous, and religious Life by their own Example. I can now obtain as many of their Children as I please, to be instructed here, and an hundred of them easier than I could one six years ago.—And how many and important are the consequences which now open to our view?

And by the royal Favour of a Tract of Land, in Some Place convenient, sufficient to accomodate the School, and employ the Members of it while they are learning Husbandry, there is a fair Prospect that more than double the Benefit might be done them, and the Crown, with the Same Expence.

But as I am ignorant what may be reasonable to petition for, and as I would not needlessly burden your Lordship in this affair, I have fully communicated my mind to the Rev<sup>d</sup> Mr Whitefield, and Mr Whitaker, by whom your Lordship may expect to hear what may be judged most conducive to the great End, in view.

"I humbly ask your Lordships Pardon for this Freedom, and I hope the Nature, and importance of the subject may be esteem'd, in some Measure, Sufficient Excuse for him, who begs leave, with the most sincere Duty, and Respect to subscribe himself. Your Lordships Most Obedient, and Most Humble Servant. Eleazar Wheelock."

A peace has been made between the English and the Indians. 1766, December 13. Philadelphia.—*The merchants of Boston, New York, and Philadelphia, and probably all the colonies, expected, according to the advice received from the merchants of London, that their trade would be extended, but they declare it has been lessened by the laws passed last session. MAJOR-GENERAL THOMAS GAGE to the EARL OF SHELBURNE.

1767, February 22.—Transmits copy of a journal made out by Captain Gordon, Chief Engineer of North America, in his progress down the Ohio to the Illinois, and considers its contents respecting the Indian trade on the Mississippi and state of Fort Chartres. The Spaniards are not yet settled in their new acquisition, but their new subjects are already disgusted with a Spanish government, and their inexperience in Indian management or commerce may prove advantageous to the English. In answer to the Earl of Shelburne's letter of 11 December, he states what he considers the best methods of managing the Indians and carrying on the commerce with them on the most advantageous terms. Is aware of the difficulties of exacting strict observance of any rules by the Indians owing to their wild and vicious character. Commends means used by the French in trading with them.

Proposes the erection of a fort here as the most suitable spot in connection with the trade carried on up the Mississippi and Ohio.*

MAJOR-GENERAL THOMAS GAGE to the EARL OF SHELBURNE.

1767, April 3. ## WEST FLORIDA.

N. D. [ ? 1767 ].—Extract of a letter to Mr. Oldham from a gentleman said (sic) arrived from West Florida. Describes the country for many miles round Pensacola as utterly incapable of cultivation, nor is it possible for the troops to procure vegetables however industrious they may be, the fatal consequence of which has been the total destruction of the 35th Regiment. Scarcity of other provisions. Manner of living at Mobile is much the same as that of Pensacola, but somewhat better, on account of its being nearer the Indian nations. #### DR. NATHANIEL WHITAKER to LORD DARTMOUTH.

1768, February 18. London.—“Sir, The recommendation which m<sup>r</sup> Keen sent your Lordship yesterday was drawn by myself, which I conclude he informed you of. When I drew it, modesty forbid my saying all that might be necessary fully to establish my character abroad, as having acted my part, not only with zeal, diligence, care, & faithfulness, which could say without arrogance; but also with prudence, wisdom and christian fortitude & finished the work with honour & esteem as a christian and minister of Christ, &c.

I freely own it makes me blush to mention these things, as it savors of vanity in me to suppose them of myself; but if your Lordship can think that some such amendment can be made consistant with truth, it will add to all the former obligations I am under to you & the other Gentlemen of the Trust, if you will be so kind as to draw it with some such alteration ; and this will give fresh Spirit to the cause itself, when the pious doners come to know that I have met with the fullest approbation from the honourable trustees.

As a vessel is going for Boston next week or the begining of the week after, if the recommendation can be finished, it will put it in my power to endeavour going in her, which, if it can be accomplished, will save the expence of longer support here.

I beg leave to ask wherther it would not be best to leave out of the recommendation the kind donation which the Hon<sup>ble</sup> trust have made to me, as it may offend some, tho' it should please others but this I submit to better judgment.

If I may have the honour of taking leave of your Lordship before my departure, it will add to all the other obligations of your Lordship's most obliged most obedient humble Servant, Nath<sup>l</sup> Whitaker."

DR. NATHANIEL WHITAKER to LORD DARTMOUTH.

1768, February 23. London.—“Your letter of the 19th I received yesterday, & the contents intimate your Lordships displeasure with me, which very sensibly affects my mind & fills me with sinking grief.

Doubtless the hurry of my affairs in preparing for my voyage hath led me into several steps of conduct which will not bare the reflection of my superiors, and discovers great indelicacy, tho' I am not conscious of any designed offence. The reason why I drew up the scetch of recommendation &c. was the hint which your Lord-Ship was pleased kindly to give, that it should be done to my satisfaction, & the desire of m<sup>r</sup> Keen that I would write something like what I would have, which I did not suppose would be the form of it, but be drawn as should seem best to your Lordship. Yet I acknowledge upon reading your Letter, my conduct appears to me to savour much of dictating which I abhor in myself, & which I hope your Lordship will pass by with all your wonted kindness. Could I know wherein I have offend your Lordship or any of the gentlemen of the trust, tho' inadvertantly, I should count it an honour freely to acknowledge it, and humbly to ask your and their pardon. And tho' I am not conscious, in the sight of God, of any wilful offence, yet, as I know I have numberless infirmities & weaknesses, which have exposed me to many unjustifiable Steps in conduct, which I reflect on with grief, I humbly hope a kind veil will be cast over them all. I heartily retract all I have done about the recommendation, and leaving it with great cheerfulness to your Lordships wisdom & goodness to form it, as you shall see meet, only beg that all I have done amiss may be kindly passed by & that I may stand well in the good Opinion of the Hon<sup>ble</sup> Trustees.

I can assure your Lordship, that as it has been, so I purpose it ever shall be my care & endeavour to promote the cause you have so kindly patronized, and pray that the worthy Trust may see a glorious harvest of souls gathered from among the poor Indians in America.

I have this day taken a passage in the vessel which sails next Monday for New York, Capt. Richards. If your Lordship pleases to favor me with the Recommendation, it will greatly oblige your Lordships most obliged, dutiful & hum<sup>ble</sup> Serv<sup>t</sup>, Nath<sup>l</sup> Whitaker."

THE MARQUIS OF ROCKINGHAM TO LORD DARTMOUTH.

1768, December 12. Monday night, 11 o'clock, Grosvenor Square.—The American papers are being read in the House of Lords, and resolutions thereon are expected to be made on Thursday. The papers give but partial information, and the resolutions are likely to be strong. The affairs of Boston “should naturally incline a wise administration not to be precipitate, and yet possibly in these times the desire of gratifying resentment may overweigh all prudential considerations.” As the debate will be important he would like Lord Dartmouth to be present.

*Endorsed:—*Ld. Rockingham. 12 Decr. 1768.

HOUSE OF LORDS.

Nine Resolutions, not dated, but from comparison with the Lords' Journals, believed to be about 15 December 1768. That the Votes, Resolutions, and Proceedings of the House of Representatives of Massachusetts Bay in the months of January and February last are illegal and unconstitutional. The resolution to get the other Houses of Representatives to join with them in petitions questioning the right of Parliament to impose taxes, and the letters written by them, are unwarrantable proceedings. An address to be presented to the King to thank him for communication of the papers, and to assure of the intention of Parliament to stand by and support him in his measures, and that they consider it immediately necessary to proceed in the most effectual manner for bringing the authors and instigators of the last disturbances to condign punishment.

AMERICAN PETITIONS.

[1768.]—Copy of three Petitions, not dated, to the King, the Lords, and the Commons, from the Freeholders and other Inhabitants of Massachusetts Bay, Rhode Island and Providence Plantations, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, the Government of the Counties of New Castle, Kent and Sussex upon Delaware, and Maryland. Refer to the establishment of these Colonies by their ancestors, and of their enjoyment of the rights and privileges essential to freedom to which they consider themselves entitled. Express their concern at the passing of the Stamp Act. Their connection with the British Empire they esteem their greatest happiness and security. Set forth the necessity of observing the principles of the English Constitution, the two most important of which are self-taxation for the support of representative Government and trial by their peers. These invaluable rights and liberties are in danger of being for ever lost by the late Act of Parliament, imposing burdensome duties and taxes on the Colonies, and their payment will very soon become impracticable for want of specie. Beseech the King, Lords, and Commons to take their petitions into serious consideration, and pursue such measures as may restore the rights and liberties of the Colonies.

The names of the delegates signing the petitions are James Otis and Oliver Partridge for Massachusetts Bay; Medcalf Bowler and Henry Waret for Rhode Island; Kendrick Fisher and Joseph Burden for New Jersey; John Dickinson, John Morton, and George Bryan for Pennsylvania; Cæsar Rodney and Thomas McKean for Government of Newcastle, Kent and Sussex on Delaware; William Murdock, Edward Tilghman, and Thomas Ringold for Maryland; Eliphalet Dyar, David Rowland, and William Samuel Johnson for Connecticut.

DOCTOR ELEAZAR WHEELOCK to LORD DARTMOUTH.

1770, March 12. Lebanon.—“My noble Lord, Your Lordships condescending Letter of of April 10th 1769 not only advising me of Dangers, but calculated with Design to incourage & Strengthen me amidst them with the Assurances of your Lordship's Favor and Friendship, was very refreshing to me; for which I can make no Suitable Return to your Lordship other than my wishes, & Prayers to the God of all Grace that you might be more & more built up to the Measure of the Stature of the Fullness of Christ.

I can give your Lordship no other Grounds or Reasons for those disadvantageous Representations made of me to his Majesty's Servants, than that which I have already assigned viz. the imprudent, & unadvised Conduct of a Missionary sent to supply Mr Kirtlands place while he rode for his Health. I have wrote Sir William Johnson upon the Head but he returns me no answer. The Hon<sup>l</sup> Hugh Wallace Esq<sup>r</sup> one of his Majesty's Council in New York writes me that he has discoursed Sir William upon the Subject, & that he professes himself fully satisfied of my intire Innocence in that affair, but Resented the Publication of something in the Narrative given of my School, without his leave, which he wrote designing it only for private use &c.

I suppose your Lordship, has been well informed that he is made a Member of the Society in England propagating the Gospel in foreign parts, and that the Society have imployed him to build a Ch<sup>h</sup> & erect a School among the Mohocks, upon the same plan with mine, but Mr Wallace informs me that his notions of christianizing Indians are intirely different from mine &c. Yet I apprehend there is no great to be feared from that quarter provided they can be supplied with Missionaries and School Masters of the right sort. I wish my Hon<sup>d</sup> Patrons or some other Friends in England could be Instrumental to furnish them with Such, or that I could find pious Youths of the established Ch<sup>h</sup> to educate in this School for that Purpose.

Your Lordship is doubtless Sensible of the Danger and Difficulty (if not impracticability) of proceeding in the Affair of this School, according to the largeness of the Plan which God in his Providence has evidently pointed out without a legal Incorporation to Secure the whole against Reproach, and the Interests of it against the many Plotts and Devices of bad men, & especially in bad Times.

In the enclosed Copy of Incorporation, your Lordship will see some success of my feeble Endeavours in that important affair by the Blessing of Heaven.

Governor Wentworth thought best to reject that Clause in my Draught of the Charter which gave the Honourable Trust in England equal Power with the Trustees here, to nominate and appoint the President from Time to Time apprehending it would make the Body too unwieldy but he cheirfully consented I should express my Gratitude and Duty to Your Lordship by Christianing it after your name; and as there seemd to be Danger of many embarassments in my way in the present ruffled & distemper'd state of the Kingdom, I tho't prudent to embrace the first Opportunity to accomplish it, and by that means could have no time to know your Lordship's Pleasure in that Matter before it should be accomplished, which I hope you will accept as excuse for that Neglect, and esteem it to be as it is designd, an Expression of my Duty and Respect to your Lordship, and a small acknowledgment of the many & great obligations which your Condesention and Goodness have laid me and my School under to you, but if I have erred as to the matter or manner of it, you will be so good as to impute it wholly to my Head and not to my Heart.

I send it enclosed to you that you might have the first view of it, and, if I have misnamed it you will please to advise me what your Lordship's pleasure is, and I will endeavour to execute it. But I hope Sir, I shall be happy as to find it ageable to you, as there is no name which would be so universally agreeable, not only to the School, and all in connection with it, but to our whole country, and I hope in God who has so Surprizingly owned it hitherto, to make it a Channel for many & great Blessings to his Ch<sup>h</sup>, and that your Lordship's Name, & Memory may be perpetuated by it without Dishonor to the latest Posterity.

It appears to me that the Wisdom, Faithfulness and Lovingkindness of God are so manifest in every Step by which this great Affair has come to this Ripeness, that none can fix their Thoughts, upon the Subject and review the course God has Steerd, and the Steps by which he has brought it hitherto, and not find themselves constrained to acknowledge his Hand and give all the Glory to him alone. God has led the way from Step to Step; I have had nothing to do but in the Capacity of a Servant to follow where he has pointed out the way for me. And, blessed be his Name, there has been no such wrong Step taken as to give the Enemy opportunity of just Occasion to reproach it. In how short a Time has God raised it from Nothing, and made it thus respectable, and opened the Hearts of so many to such Liberalities as that there is a fair Prospect y<sup>t</sup> a very large number of pious English youth (which I wait upon God to furnish it with) as well as Indians may be supported and educated upon Charity.

If this had been effected by human Policy it would doubtless be admired, and the Instrument of it justly applauded as a great Politician, but it is God who has done it, and he has chosen an Instrument on Purpose that he might have opportunity and occasion to Shew the Excellency of his Own Perfections in the clearest Light, and Secure the Glory forever to his own great Name.

If your Lordship and the rest of my Hou<sup>d</sup> Patrons shall be pleased with what I have done, I shall greatly rejoyce at it, and we will here Set up our Ebenezer together.

My dear & Hon<sup>d</sup> Sir, that God may long lengthen out your Important Life, and honor it more & more with eminent Usefulness to the Interests of the Redeemers Kingdom, is the earnest Prayer, of your Lordships much obliged and most obedient Humble Servant, ELEAZAR WHELOCK."

SIR WILLIAM JOHNSON to the EARL OF HILLSBOROUGH.

1772, June 29. Johnson Hall.—Recounts a late unlucky transaction with the Indians, which may be productive of very ill consequences. A certain man of the name of Ramsay, who formerly lived amongst the Indians and was sent by Captain Brown to Quebec to prevent his doing further mischief amongst them, has found means to trade with the Indians at Lake Erie, at a distance from any fort or place of inspection. Had quarrelled with and killed and scalped several. The General has sent him to Canada to be tried, but interest will probably secure his acquittal. Sir William fears the resentment of the tribes, in spite of assurances of their deputies that orders have been given to prevent any act of retaliation. "The Chippawaes and Mississagaes are by far the most numerous and powerful nation with whom we have any connection in North America."

The REVEREND WILLIAM GORDON to LORD DARTMOUTH.

1772, October 24. Jamaica Plain.—Details of a conversation lately held with Thomas Cushing on American affairs. "He assured me that the Colonists would not be fully satisfied till matters were brought back to the state in which they were before the stamp act." The right of Parliament to regulate trade was admitted, as also to appropriate the sums arising therefrom, but not to raise a revenue. The conversation turned on what would be an immediate gratification and put the General Court into good humour, on which the Speaker mentioned the removal of the troops, the restoration of the castle to the care of the Colony, instructions to be given to the Governor to sign tax bills without any exception in favour of commissioners etc. and the leaving it to the General Court to provide for the Judges. Mr Gordon thinks the removal of the troops would be a good thing; he continues:—"I had the honour of dining with the Governor at his table, the day his Excellency prorogued the Assembly and refused signing the tax bill in virtue of the instruction received a few days before, and had an opportunity of observing the disgust, and of knowing the sentiments of some of his warmest friends, who could not refrain from mentioning that they hoped the Assembly would never agree to make the proposed exception let the consequences be as they would." ## THE REVEREND DR. ELEAZAR WHELOCK to LORD DARTMOUTH.

1772, December 28. Hanover, New Hampshire.—Congratulations on his appointment as Secretary of State. Good wishes. Submits the enclosed petitions to his Lordship's disposal. "I am very sorry to hear that the Character, and Administrations of My dear Governor Wentworth are impeach'd before the Board of Trade. And indeed it is strange to me, if there be any Reason for, or Justice in the Charges laid against him, that I have been so long in this Province, and have had so much acquaintance with him (and as I supposed with all orders and sorts of men in it) and have never once, that I remember, heard him complain'd of in any one particular which I hear he is now complain'd of and charged with before that Honourable Board. And your Lordship will pardon me that my Zeal is so far warmed for his vindication against that which I suppose to be cruel slander, as to say, and it is but what I must say if I were under the greatest solemnity, that his true character (so far as I know it) is that he is easie of Access, his Temper benevolent and obliging, he is a Pattern of Charity and Compassion to the poor and afflicted, He is vigilant, and Assiduous, to promote, and incourage Virtue, Learning, Industry, impartial Justice, Peace, and good Order throughout his Province, and the happy Effects of his mild, and prudent Administrations witness the same. And I verily beleive their is not a Governor upon this Continent more cordially and universally beloved by his People than Governor Wentworth, nor one they would be willing to exchange him for."

THE REVEREND DR. WHELOCK to the KING.

1772, December 28. Dartmouth College, Hanover, New Hampshire.—"The Petition of Eleazar Wheelock Doctor in Divinity and President of Dartmouth College on Connecticut River in the Province of New Hampshire, Most Humbly Sheweth,—That the Petitioner Your Majesty's most dutiful and loyal Subject, did upon his own Inheritance and at his own Expence found and erect an indian charity School, in Your Majesty's Colony of Connecticut above twenty years ago, with a view to civilize and christianize the Natives in the Wilds of America, and by the Charitable Donations of Friends piously disposed towards the Design of said School, and particularly by Your Majesty's most benevolent Assistance in the Year 1766, and the charitable Donations of many Noblemen, Gentlemen and Others in imitation of Your Majesty's pious Example, which your Petitioner dos always most gratefully Acknowledge, he has been enabled to support and continue said School unto this Day.

That by Your Majesty's Royal Munificence said School was constituted a College by Letters Patent under the great Seal of the Province of New Hampshire bearing Date the eighteenth Day of December in the year of our Lord one Thousand, seven Hundred and sixty-nine by the Name of Dartmouth College, and there upon was soon removed and Settled in this new and almost uncultivated Wilderness, with a Special View to civilize & Christianize the indian Natives, as well as encourage and promote the Settlement of this new & wide extended Country, whereby a large Addition of Subjects and opulence may accrue to your Majesty's American Dominions.

That it has been found by repeated Tryals, & long Experience that it is necessary in order to the Successful Prosecution of the great Design proposed, that a Suitable Number of English Youths should be fitted for Missionaries to go forth with the Children of the Natives to take the Lead and conduct of the great affair in the Wilderness.

That a Number Educated in this School have been and still are employed as Missionaries with Success in that Service, and a considerable Number are now preparing in this College and School to follow after them in a Succession as God in his Providence shall open a Door for their Employment therein.

That the Hardships and Dangers they have to encounter in such a Service, while separated so far from all the pleasurable Enjoyments of the Social Life, and among uncultivated Savages in the Wilderness, are too many and great to enumerate or justly describe.

That one great and common Objection, among many others which their own thoughts as well as their Friends naturally and strongly suggest against their undertaking such a Mission, is that they must either undergo the Mortification and all the Burdens & Disadvantages of a Single and unmarried Life in that Service, or bring up a Family without the ordinary Advantages of an Education and be exposed to leave a Widow and Children under very penurious and dependant Circumstances.

That the Slender Funds already collected for the Support of Missionaries in this said Service, bear but small proportion to their great Expences, or the Demerit of Such a Service. The Confederation of which has induced Your Humble Petitioner, though at great Expence, to examine into the State and Situation of Your Majesty's vacant and uncultivated Lands in this Country, by which he has discovered Sundry large Tracts of Land in the Province of New York wholly uncultivated, & never yet granted by any of your Majesty's Governors in America, and neither claimed nor possessed by the Indians.

That your Humble Petitioner is very desirous of obtaining your Majesty's Letters Patent under the great seal of the Province of New York for the Quantity of Twenty-five Thousand Acres of the said vacant Lands, in Trust for the use of said Missionaries and their needy Families on the same Terms of Quit Rent which your Majesty has lately been pleased to grant (as your Petitioner is informed) in Trust to the Governors of your Majesty's College in the Province of New York and to the Church of England in the same Province by Law Established.

Your Petitioner therefore most humbly prays that Your Majesty would be graciously pleased to take the Premises into your princely Consideration and to grant unto the Trustees of said Dartmouth College your Majesty's royal Order or Mandamus, to the Governor or Commander in Chief of your Majesty's Province of New York directing and commanding him by your Majesty's Letters Patent under the great Seal of the said Province to grant unto your Petitioner or to the Trustees of said Dartmouth College, in Trust, for the use of such Missionaries as shall be from Time to Time sent forth into said Service, or for the Education of their Children, or Support of their needy widows and Families, at Discretion as Merit or necessity shall deserve and require, the said Quantity of Twenty-five Thousand Acres of Land on the same Terms of Quit Rent as above Specified, and that the same may be erected into a Township by the Name of Appii Forum and vested with all the usual Privileges granted to other Townships with in the Said Province, and your Petitioner as in Duty bound shall pray &c."

The REVEREND DR. WHEELOCK to the KING.

1772, December 28. Same address.—"That the Petitioner your Majesty's most dutiful and loyal Subject, being deeply impressed with a just sense of your Majesty's most gracious and benevolent Aid and Assistance extended in the Year one thousand seven hundred and sixty-six, to the Indian Charity School founded more than twenty Years ago, and carried on in your Majesty's Colony of Connecticut by your Majesty's humble Petitioner, which has since been removed to the Province of New Hampshire, and thro' your Majesty's Royal Munificence constituted a College by Letters Patent under the great Seal of the said Province bearing date the eighteenth day of December in the Year of our Lord one thousand seven hundred and sixty nine by the name of Dartmouth College, for which peculiar privileges your Petitioner begs leave with undissembled Sincerity to return your Majesty his most unfeigned and hearty thanks.

That your Petitioner flatters himself that the erection of the said College has already been, and will yet be of great utility and Advantage to this as yet almost wild and uncultivated part of your Majesty's American Dominions, by encouraging Population and Literature, and promoting civility and Virtue, particularly among the Indians.

That the slender Funds on which this Infant Seminary is established has induced your Majesty's Petitioner (tho' at great

That your Pctitioner is very desirous of obtaining your Majesty's Letters Patent under the great Seal of the Province of New York for the quantity of twenty five thousand Acres of the said vacant Lands to your Petitioner and his Successors, or to the Trustees of said College in Trust, for the same Uses and purposes of said College and School as the Lands already given by private Doners were designed for, and on the same Terms of Quit Rent which your Majesty has been lately pleased to grant (as your Petitioner is informed) in Trust to the Governors of Your Majesty's College in the Province of New York, and to the Church of England in the same Province as by Law established.

Your Petitioner therefore most humbly prays, that your Majesty would be graciously pleased to take the Premises into your princely Consideration, and to grant to your Petitioner, or to the Trustees of said Dartmouth College your Majesty's Royal Order or Mandamus to the Governor or Commander in Chief of your Majesty's Province of New York, directing and commanding him by your Majesty's Letters Patent under the great Seal of the said Province to grant unto your Petitioner and his Successors, or to the Trustees of said College in Trust, for the early Use and Benefit of said College and School as before specified, the said quantity of twenty-five thousand Acres of Land on the same Terms of Quit Rent as above specified, and that the same may be erected into a Township, by the name of St. George, and vested with the usual Privileges granted to other Townships within the said Province."

Has received from Mr Pollock a copy of the last despatch from Carolina, upon which he will only say that he most zealously wishes that without prejudice to any other person, some occasion may soon present itself of removing Lord Charles to a better situation and thereby avoid to himself and to Government the unpleasant consequences of a dispute which whilst it is maintained on one side upon the ground of privilege and on the other side upon the ground of prerogative can never have an end. ## GOVERNOR WILLIAM TRYON to LORD DARTMOUTH.

1773, January 5. Fort George. New York.—Acknowledges the King's approbation of his endeavours to become acquainted with the state of the different parts of the Colony. With reference to the purchases and grants made at the Congress in July previous, states that in full confidence of the quiet enjoyment of these lands a number of subjects have expended nearly 5,000*l.* in surveys and purchases. Submits whether it would not be a real hardship if titles thus regularly obtained should suffer any impeachment. Concerning the Canadian claims, states the facts on which he grounded the opinion he had presumed to give—that the Dutch, the first settlers, claimed the whole of the Connecticut River and Lake Champlain and all the country South of the St. Lawrence down to the Delaware River—that a West line from the head of the Connecticut has always been deemed the ancient boundary of New York. Two instances in which it has been abridged. Considers the question of the extent of the French dominions as interfering with these bounds. Encroachments of the Canadians. Regrets the failure of his expedient to settle the New Hampshire claimants. With regard to Colonel Howard's grant, it was issued in obedience to His Majesty's mandamus, and it was not until afterwards he was informed that some settlers on this grant pretended a claim under Massachusetts Bay. Sends a copy of the case and of his correspondence with Governor Hutchinson on the subject.

Copy. 12 $\frac{3}{4}$  pages. [The original signed letter is in the Public Record Office, series America and West Indies, Vol. 183, fo. 79, and a duplicate in Board of Trade, New York, Vol. 43, fo. 5.]

AMERICAN REVENUE.

1773, January 25.—J. Williams. An account of the produce of the American Revenue and proposing Remedys for extending and securing the same. Upon the three articles of sugar, molasses, and wine alone, the duties, if put under a proper mode of management, would annually amount to £109,333 6s. 8d. This is almost all lost by the misconduct of the present members of the American Board who have impressed such an idea of their insolence, timidity and ignorance upon the whole continent of North America that the people there abhor having any transactions with them and all subordination and respect to the revenue under their management. Advises a removal of the present members of the board (who may be put on half-pay) and the appointment of a new one with a respectable, experienced commissioner from the mother board in England at the head of it, which would spread universal joy through the whole continent.

ISAAC SPOONER to LORD DARTMOUTH.

1773, February 10. Birmingham.—Fears that if Mr. Quincey's petition now before the House of Commons be granted it will be prejudicial to the country; if they manufacture the steel and send it over to England it will greatly injure the home trade, and if the use of tilt hammers is permitted it would prejudice that part of the home manufacture. "If they are permitted to make steel, and draw it with Tilt hammers, they will soon manufacture it, that being the next step, & though the beginning may be small, yet manufacturers will soon increase with them to the great prejudice of England, on which I am sure I need not enlarge to your Lordship, nor need I mention to you how greatly any progress in the Iron & Steel Manufacturies will tend to promote the favourite scheme of America; Independence on (sic) this Kingdom. Tilt hammers are of very general utility in almost every Branch of the Iron & Steel manufacturys, being a more expeditious and cheaper method of preparing both for their different uses than any other, & I think should be absolutely prohibited in America, if we have any power to prevent their use there."

CHARLES SMITH to [LORD DARTMOUTH].

1773, March. London.—Is engaged in trade with America and once in two or three years takes a voyage thither to collect debts. He thus rides through the provinces of New England, New York, and Pennsylvania. Everywhere he observes a disposition which savours too much of rebellion. Advises Lord Dartmouth to read the American newspapers which can be got at the coffee-houses. These rebellious sentiments are especially prevalent in the back settlements particularly of Pennsylvania. Some 8 to 10,000 people were imported there from Ireland in one year. These settlements are composed of an uncultivated banditti on whom the lawless publications take great effect. Can the event be any other in a few years than to throw off their dependence? They are ripe for it. Suggests the need there is to cool and quiet the present tumults in New England and to choose the wisest men for governors of the different provinces.

The REVEREND DOCTOR ELEAZAR WHEELOCK to [LORD DARTMOUTH].

1773, April 15. Hanover.—"Right Hon<sup>le</sup> Sir. May it please your Lordship. I esteem it a Singular Favor of Heaven that I may apply to your Lordship, and especially in your late dignified Capacity, with Confidence that I shall find the Ear, & Heart of a Father, while I have no other or higher motive, than the Furtherance of that cause which I am confident lies nearest your Heart, and I assure you, my Lord, it is only your well known Character, your past Condesensions, the nature and importance of the case, together with the Consciousness of the Singleness, & uprightness of my Intentions that have inspired a Boldness in my present Application to you, and which are all I have to rely upon to excuse me without any other Apology for myself. In my Letter to Your Lordship of December 28, 1772, with an Address, of a number of my Pupils on Your Lordships Advancement to the American Administration, I also enclosed two Petitions to His Majesty for the royal Favor of two Patents of his ungranted Lands in this Country containing 25,000 Acres each free of Quit Rents, the one for the use and Benefit of this School, the other for the Encouragement of Missionaries, the Support of their Widows, Education of their Children &c., and prayed that the royal Mandamus for the same might be given to the Governor of New York, whom I then understood to have the right of Granting those Lands on the west Side of this (Connecticut) River, which Lands were, 'till of late, supposed to belong to this Province, and are situate nearer to this School than any other of his Majesty's ungranted Lands, on which I designed those Patents should be laid, as being most convenient for the Purpose designed, if the Favor Should be granted, but we have lately been advised by Reports from several quarters which have gained such credit as to occasion much joy to the Inhabitants, that his Majesty has given Orders to the Governor of New York to ratify all the former grants of those Lands made by the late Governor of this Province, and of course has vacated all the Patents of the same Lands granted by the Governor of New York which has raised a hope in all who had not a Prospect of personal advantage by those new Patents that this step is an Omen that all those controverted Lands will revert to this Province. And this is that which has given me Occasion to give Your Lordship this Trouble, which is humbly to bespeak your Lordships Favor to alter those Petitions, if you shall see it needful, and it be not too late, that the royal Mandamus may be to the Governor of this Province, or to either of them as Your Lordship shall see to be proper. I would also beg leave humbly to suggest to Your Lordship, the present necessities of myself & Family on account of my having no visible means of support adequate to my necessary Expences. God has graciously provided for me and mine hitherto, and has not left me or them to Suffer, nor am I yet afraid to trust him to provide for me while I have a Heart to Serve him, and he has anything for me to do for him here, yet it appears to be duty to let my case be known to Friends of Ability, while I wait upon God to perform the desire of my heart. I yet live in the little Store House which I erected for the use of the School, and which is now used for that Purpose, on which account my Family is much straitned for Room, and I am not yet able to build for myself. I am sensible that Pensions have been much confind to a Party. Yet as his Majesty has been made, in some measure, sensible of the great utility of this undertaking, to his American Dominions, and has been graciously pleased, repeatedly to testify his royal Approbation, and especially as the Hearts of all are yet in the Hands of God, I have confidence there is some hope of Relief for me by a proper Application to him for it, which I wholly submit to your Lordship's wisdom. God is graciously pleased to continue his Loving-kindness to this School and the Prospects are yet, I think, greatly increasing, some account of which I have given the Honourable Trust, which I suppose your Lordship will See. And that God may graciously guide you by his Counsel in your high, and important Sphere of Action, and make you eminently & very extensively useful to enlarge & build up the Kingdom of his dear Son, is the earnest Prayer of him who begs leave with Sincerest Duty, Affection and Esteem to Subscribe himself Your Lordship's Most Obedient and Most Humble Servant Eleazar Wheelock."

SAMUEL KIRKLAND to [ . . . possibly DR. WHEELOCK.]

1773, June 7. Onvide.—“I bless God for friendship, & the hope of its being perfected in the world above.” Apologises for not writing. Has been collecting materials during the winter and spring for building a church and too much engaged in promoting the temporal accommodation of his people. His proposed narrative of the five Nations he has thrown by for the present. He has attended considerably to translating the Scriptures, which he ought to have pursued and neglected less weighty matters. “Last Monday, we erected our Church 35 Feet in Length, 18 feet post—a Gallery at one End. The Indians with my Assistance got most of the Timber. I hired a Carpenter and two hewers several weeks—the house was raised by the Indians without the help of white people. Several small Towns of Indians assembled in the Morning to implore the Divine Blessing. . . . The whole was conducted with Decency beyond my most sanguine Expectations—not one either Man or Woman was the least disguised with strong Liquor, nor asked for any more than was given them. Upon a petition from the people Sir Wm. Johnson has given a Bell. I hope if Things go on well to erect a Steeple & finish a House by next Summer.” The people improve much in husbandry and are inspired with an ambition for comfortable dwelling houses. “Two are already set up 35 by 18 feet seven or eight more are upon the Work. I have furnished them with a number of Carpenters tools for which I expect some allowance from the Boston Board.” Council held by the Indians at Onondago. Their disposition for war seems to abate and their affairs are well settled for this season.

Autograph letter signed. 3½ pages.

Note.—Samuel Kirkland, though not of Indian blood, had been one of the scholars in Dr. Wheelock’s Indian Charity School. He was ordained in 1766, and spent his life amongst the Indians. See his Life by Rev. S. K. Lothrop, Sparks’ Biographies.

The REVEREND WILLIAM GORDON to LORD DARTMOUTH.

1773, June 16. Jamaica Plain.—Present sentiments of the Americans concerning his Lordship. Congratulates him on having escaped the difficulties that must have followed had a discovery been made by the court of inquiry at Rhode Island of any concerned in the business of the “Gaspee,” and had any attempt been made to take the accused to Great Britain for trial. Such an event would have “set the continent into a fresh flame,” especially since the Act of Parliament making it death to destroy any of the King’s ships, stores, etc. and authorising the trial in Great Britain. “The affair of the Judges, the court of inquiry, and the act, have led the house of burgesses in Virginia to set on foot committees of correspondence through the several colonies. . . . All open attempts from home to put a stop to them will only convince the country of their importance . . . & hasten a kind of congress.” Admiral Montagu has said “that British Acts of Parliament will never go down in America, unless forced by the point of the sword.” His own opinion that Government should take things back as far as possible to the state they were in at his Majesty’s accession. The Lieutenant-Governor by broaching afresh and supporting through the former assembly the anti-American doctrine of the parliament’s right in all cases has given disgust to the public, not lessened by the fact that the Massachusetts House of Assembly have possessed themselves of original private letters written by his Excellency and others years ago to Mr Weattly [Whately], which they have voted “had a tendency to overthrow the constitution of the country and to introduce arbitrary power” so that neither the house nor the body of the people will have any “confidence in or value for the writers.” If a change in the government should be made suggests Wm. Pepperrell. The Bishop of St. Asaph’s sermon is highly approved. Should there be a war with France fear may be entertained for Canada. P.S.—The committee considering these letters has resolved to petition His Majesty for the removal of the Governor and Lieutenant-Governor.

Desires he will thank the Assembly for their favourable sentiments expressed about himself. Is concerned at the unhappy spirit which has lately prevailed in Massachusetts Bay. Gives his opinion on acts lately passed; also upon the wild and extravagant doctrines contained in the answer of the Massachusetts Assembly to the speech of the Governor at the opening of the late session of the General Court.

[ ] to LORD DARTMOUTH.

1773, August 2. London.—A letter signed "Fact." On the objectionable paragraphs which appear in the newspapers, particularly in the Public Advertiser. These are concerted by Mr Temple, Lieutenant Governor of New Hants, assisted by Mr Lee. Confidential letters of Hutchinson, Oliver and Paxton to the late Mr Whately were procured immediately after his death by Temple from Whately's brother, a banker in Lombard Street; they were sent to persons in Boston who kept them until an opportunity offered for laying them before the Assembly. The paragraphs which recommend that some one be sent out as a grand reconciler and umpire between Great Britain and the Colonies, come from Governor Pownall, but the taunting sneering paragraphs and letters come from Mr Temple.

Original. 2 $\frac{1}{3}$  quarto pages.

Enclosure :—

Newspaper cutting containing a letter signed "An American" and addressed to Lord Dartmouth. His Lordship was designed for private not for public station. He has been rashly prevailed upon to undertake the superintendence of American affairs at a time when they were hourly hastening to a most unfortunate catastrophe. Lord Hillsborough foresaw this and prudently retired. Remarks on the scandalous manner in which the Americans have been traduced as appears by the disclosure of the letters of Mess<sup>rs</sup> Hutchinson and Oliver.

MASSACHUSETTS COUNCIL and ASSEMBLY to LORD DARTMOUTH.

June 29. Province of Massachusetts Bay.—Signed Thomas Flucker, Secretary. “The original causes of the interruption in the union that formerly subsisted between Great Britain and her colonies may probably be found in the letters sent from hence to Administration and to other gentlemen of influence in Parliament, since the appointment of Sir Francis Bernard to the Government of the province.” Apprehend that he and his coadjutors laid the plans for the establishment of the American revenue and have since prevented the petitions against it from reaching both King and Parliament. They are of opinion that if things were brought to the general state in which they stood at the conclusion of the late war it would restore the harmony which at that time existed.

CAPE FLORIDA SOCIETY to LORD DARTMOUTH.

1773, August 20. London.—Signed by James Samuel Loup, J. Jam<sup>s</sup> Bonhole, Daniel Bercher and Henry Dessoulavy, intended Directors. Cannot discover in the draft of grant of 8,000 acres drawn up for Lord Dartmouth by the agent, Mr De Brahm, any sign of his Lordship's benevolence. THOMAS CUSHING to LORD DARTMOUTH.

1773, August 22. Boston.—Thanks his Lordship for the communication of his sentiments in his letter of 19 June. Gives an account of the manner in which the controversy between the Governor and the Assembly arose. Observations respecting the temper and disposition of the gentlemen who composed the late House of Representatives. Thanks his Lordship for the assurance of his aid and support to any temperate representation of grievances that the province may make. Hopes that the letter of the two Houses to his Lordship of 29 June will answer that purpose. Submits whether it would not be eligible for Parliament to take up American affairs upon their own principle without any apparent attention to the applications made by the Americans for redress.

REVEREND WILLIAM GORDON to LORD DARTMOUTH.

1773, August 28. Jamaica Plain.—Sends intelligence of the measures likely to be taken by the Assembly at their next sessions. Remarks upon his Lordship's letter to Doctor Franklin which he has seen. Though the King acting consistently could not but disapprove of calling into question the right of Parliament to make laws binding in America in all cases whatsoever yet the prevailing sentiment is that the British legislature has not that right. Was grieved "that his Lordship's letter should suggest, that the doctrines held forth in the petitions and remonstrance, might be owing to the artifices of a few who seek to create jealousy and distrust; for individuals though not intended might think themselves aimed at . . . and have their minds soured into a stiffer opposition to all healing measures," and without the concurrence and assistance of such individuals no measures are likely to be adopted. Thinks there should be a petition for the removal of complaints. Their politicians depend much on the correspondence set on foot by the Virginians and on the apprehension of a French war for an opportunity of insisting on an equivalent to a bill of rights. Would like to know if a petition would be supported in Parliament as he might be able to promote and procure such a one.

WILLIAM WHATELY to LORD DARTMOUTH.

1773, August 30. Lombard Street.—Has endeavoured, hitherto fruitlessly, to find out by what means the letters written to his late brother by Governor Hutchinson, Mr Oliver and others fell into the hands of the Bostonians. In the month of October last Mr Temple applied to him saying that he wished to see a paper relative to the colonies transmitted to his late brother and also a letter written by him (Mr Temple). In perfect confidence he laid before him various parcels of letters and after some time spent in search Mr Temple acquainted him that he could not find his own letter nor anything relating to it. On receiving recently Mr Oliver's communication as to the publication of the letters he immediately went to Mr Temple and said to him that he was the only person who had had access to them. Mr Temple assured him in the frankest manner and in precise terms that he had not taken away the letters, and indeed had seen so little of importance that he did not even take any extract or memorandum. The matter gives him deep and anxious concern both as regards his brother's memory and his own character.

*Endorsed :—*Mr W. Whately 30 Aug. 1773. Relative to the Letters of Gov<sup>r</sup> Hutchinson &c. published at Boston.

Franklin, writing to the Printer of the Public Advertiser, says :—"Mr W[hately] could not communicate them, because they were never in his possession; and, for the same reason, they could not be taken from him by Mr T[emple]," p. 435.

BENJAMIN HALLOWELL to JOHN POWNALL.

1773, September 29. Boston.—Unsettled state of the province. Surprise caused by Mr Temple having ingratiated himself into the favour of those in power in England. In the earliest of the disturbances in America it is known that he took a leading part in the opposition.

Since he has been in England the intelligence he has given has been as mischievous as that of Doctor Franklin. Difficulty Governors have always had to please the people in this province. Attitude of the Government of Rhode Island concerning the inquiry into the loss of the "Gaspee." Remarks on importation of tea. Suggests measures for securing duties and preventing smuggling. Further remarks respecting Mr Temple who must be violently imposing on his superiors.

The REVEREND WILLIAM GORDON to LORD DARTMOUTH.

1773, December 11. Jamaica Plain.—Disgust displayed by American merchants in London on account of the measures pursued by the East India Company with regard to the tea. Explains that their representations of the monopoly of that Company have been the means of rousing the opposition in America. The meetings etc. Temper of the people. His own endeavours to dissuade them from a rupture. How far they may have exceeded the bounds of moderation, after allowing for the manner in which they have been managed by interested persons at home and among themselves, as that Government may decline giving them relief or judge it necessary to adopt rough measures, is not for him to determine, but if any colony should be dealt with separately the rest would make it a common cause. Warns that from his observation they could oppose any British regiments set against them. The population is much greater than any returns show as the people do not wish their real numbers known.

progress through the colonies on the continent of North America upon the character of the people at Boston. They are not only the worst subjects but the most truly immoral men of any he has had the Gospel be an exact criterion of vital religion they are the best people on earth but if meekness, gentleness and patience constitute any part, those qualities are not found there. If they could maintain a state of independence they would soon be at war amongst themselves.

Accompanying this is a document marked "B. Copy of Marginal Note in the late Gov. Hutchinson's MS History of Massachusetts Bay." This relates to the procuring and sending to America of his private letters. Reference is made to the duel between Mr. Temple and Mr. Whately, the appearance in the Public Advertiser of a letter by Dr. Franklin, the hearing of the case on 9 January 1774, Mr. Wedderburn's speech and the statement made by the Agent of the House of Representatives of Massachusetts against the Governor and Lieut. Governor. "The manner in which these letters were obtained was never fully discovered . . . , they must have been unfairly obtained from Mr. Whately in his lifetime . . . . From some circumstances there were strong grounds to suppose, that they had been in the possession of another person, a Member of Parliament, by whom they had been communicated to Dr Franklin; but Governor Hutchinson, upon information given him, thought it prudent to discourage further inquiry, which would increase the number or malevolence of his avowed enemies." General Congress go on and the deputies chosen are not of a spirit to propose healing measures ; General Lee has gone to influence Rhode Island, thence to Boston where his admiration for Gage, and his hatred for Government must lead him to some inconsistencies. ## EXCERPTA from some PRIVATE LETTERS to GOVERNOR HUTCHINSON.

1774, December 10–15.

General Gage, December 15, 1774.—Thinks the Continental Congress will advise the Provincial Congress to usurp the Government. Sends to Lord D[artmouth] a printed extract of a letter said to be a performance of Dr. Franklin, and written to Cushing. “I mention another letter to his Lordship dated in September which Cushing talked of before Mr Flucker and others as from Dr Franklin and told the contents of it. I have not mentioned the Dr's. name as I could not prove it upon him; but he's certainly capable of any mischief, and I believe the Author of the Disturbances in this Province, and, I may add now, of the Continent.” Is told that the next meeting of the Congress may be earlier than February in order to nominate a governor, resume the old charter, and fly to arms immediately.

Lieutenant Governor Oliver, December 10.—Provincial Congress at Cambridge. Delegates dropping off. Intelligence that has leaked out. Associations forming.

Alarm and astonishment at the manner in which Gage writes, and the inactivity and irresolution of his conduct, steps to be taken in consequence. His Lordship desired to be in town. Pownall is at a loss to account for the strange conduct of General Gage, which seems devoid of sense and spirit.

P.S.—Mr. Quincey is a strenuous actor and writer in support of rebellion.

The EARL OF DUNMORE to LORD DARTMOUTH.

1774, December 24. Williamsburg.—The Associations first in part entered into by the Colony and adopted by the Continental Congress are now enforcing throughout the country with great vigour. A committee is chosen in every county to carry the Association of the Congress into execution. They inspect the trade and correspondence of any merchant, watch the conduct of any inhabitant, may send for, catechize, and stigmatize him if he does not appear to follow the laws of their Congress. Every city besides is arming an independent Company to protect their Committees and to be employed against Government should occasion require. As to the power of Government which Lord Dartmouth in his letter of November 11th directs should be exerted to counteract the dangerous measures pursuing here, it is entirely disregarded if not wholly overturned. Not a Justice of the Peace acts except as a Committee-man. Abolishing the Courts of Justice was the first step taken. The General Court is, much the same, for the lawyers refuse to attend, nor would the people allow them. Interposition of Government in its present feeble state would only suffer the disgrace of a disappointment. But, he feels, every step taken by these infatuated people must defeat its own purpose. The non-importation and non-exportation agreements cannot fail in time to produce a scarcity which will ruin thousands of families, and as to manufactures here, the people of Virginia are not naturally industrious. The arbitrary proceedings of the Committees cannot likewise fail of raising quarrels and dissensions which will create partisans of Government. He is persuaded that this Colony by its own acts and deeds must be brought to see the necessity of dependence on the Mother Country and of embracing its authority.

COLONEL ROBINSON [Robertson], Quarter Master General, America, to [ISRAEL MAUDUIT].

1774, November 3. Boston.—Was summoned by General Gage in September to get cover for some troops. Narrates how he was stopped in providing quarters by an Edict issued by the Select Men and Committee of Correspondence and by the destruction of his materials. Under considerable difficulties he hopes however to have accomplished this work by next week. The four New England provinces are alike ill-disposed; are numerous, perhaps 60,000 are armed; the common wish the destruction of the army before the spring; their Congress has appointed three scoundrels, foolish fellows, generals, a committee to do the office

INTELLIGENCE from BOSTON.

1774, November 2.—Extract of a Letter from Boston by the St. Lawrence Schooner. Has sent some of the latest newspapers to show the progress made in rebellious designs. America is preparing for war and surprised at the apathy of Great Britain who may be assured that the longer the colonies are let alone the more difficult the contest will be. NATHANIEL WALKER to [LORD DARTMOUTH].

1775, January 12. Newman Street.—Has just arrived from New York. Assures him of the tranquillity of the provinces and contradicts from personal observation the accounts given in newspapers. The disturbances are entirely due to a few people from different provinces aiding the Bostonians. Reluctance shewn in giving help for the support of Boston. The "Asia" and "Scarborough" men of war had arrived at Boston, as also the "Mercury" packet at York.

Autograph letter signed. 1½ quarto page.

Enclosures :—

Newspaper Cutting containing two notices dated Birmingham and Dudley 9th and 7th January 1775 calling a meeting of the Merchants, Factors and Manufacturers interested in the trade to America to consider the discouraging state of that trade and the propriety of petitioning Parliament.

MATTHEW BOULTON to [LORD DARTMOUTH].

1775, January 17. Birmingham.—With autograph draft of proposed petition to the House of Commons by the town of Birmingham. Has attended the meeting of merchants and endeavoured to prevent them petitioning Parliament at present but without success, so he and several others in the town considered it their duty “to sign and to promote the signing of a petition which tended 1st to take off that stigma theirs would carry with it, and 2<sup>dly</sup> to promote Perminance in the execution of our Laws and consequently better security of their American Debts.” Desires [Dartmouth's] opinion of this petition which is given at the end of the letter.

GOVERNOR THOMAS GAGE to LORD DARTMOUTH.

1775, January 18. Boston.—Disposition of the people cooling down. Influence of the press, which has been more open to Government than usual. Hoped to have procured an Association in this town but they hesitate to make open declaration until assured of England's resolve to pursue her measures. Thinks if the most obnoxious of the leaders were seized and pardon proclaimed for others, Government would come off victorious with less opposition than expected a few months since. People concerned in the rash action against Fort William are terrified at their conduct and seek pardon.

1775, January 18. Wednesday.—Having been long employed in service connected with the American timber, states his conviction that the important duty of Surveyor General to the Crown for the northern district cannot be properly fulfilled by the Governor of New Hampshire, as each office requires the time and attention of a separate person. Destruction of timber will not be suppressed while deputies are sent to attend to the business.

1775, January 19. Old Jewry.—Has completed the work mentioned in a previous letter. Sends a copy of it. Hopes he will excuse it being sent unbound as he was anxious it should arrive before the House of Lords met tomorrow. Beseeches him not to assist in enforcing the present measures against America. Believes his book, founded on authorities and facts, if read, will convince him of the error of so doing. Has sent a second copy for Lord North's perusal if desirable.

GOVERNOR WILLIAM TRYON to LORD DARTMOUTH.

1775, January 19. Bath.—Believes the Americans will not henceforth accept Parliamentary taxation in any form, or consume any British articles even if forced to receive them. Cannot agree with his Lordship's idea of holding out the olive branch in one hand and the rod of chastisement in the other. Half measures will not do, delays still more dangerous. Advises removal of stumbling blocks, or vigorous measures. Thanks for public recognition of Colonel Fanning's and Mr. Sauthier's services.

Autograph letter signed. 5 $\frac{1}{2}$  quarto pages.

GOVERNOR WILLIAM TRYON to LORD DARTMOUTH.

1775, January 20. 9 o'clock, evening. New Round Court, No. 4, Strand.—Details of conversation between English merchants and American and West Indian merchants who have lately petitioned Parliament, showing that such was only done to "preserve appearances, and to keep up a good understanding with their correspondents in America and the West Indies." Thought such an impartial, authentic and just account ought to be communicated to his Lordship as it differs so essentially from common report and the newspaper account of things.

PETITION OF MERCHANTS.

[1775, January 23.]—Heads of the Petition from the Merchants, Traders and others, concerned in the North American Commerce, [presented to the House of Commons on this day]. That on the balance of the extensive commerce carried on with North America there is now due from the colonies to the city of London alone two millions sterling. That by the operation of various injurious Acts the minds of the people in the colonies are greatly disquieted, a total stop is put to the export trade, and that ruin and distress are before them. They crave an examination of the commercial policy previously maintained to the happiness of both countries and that healing remedies should be applied to establish the commerce between them on a permanent foundation.

DOCTOR JOHN FOTHERGILL to [LORD DARTMOUTH].

1775, [February] 6th instant. Harpur Street.—Regrets the failure of his negotiation owing to the Boston Port Bill and the Government of Massachusetts and Quebec Acts for “as a concession to pay a tax was the sine qua non on this side, so a rescinding of those Acts, or rather repealing them, is the term of reconciliation on the other.” No permission had been given to him to raise hopes that the Acts would be repealed and nothing less would satisfy. If the whole of America were as sensible of the advantages of peace and as disposed to it as his Lordship, it would be soon accomplished, but the contrary is the case at present. If these Acts were repealed America would return to every just expression of duty. The party [Dr. Franklin] we conferred with would have no objection to petition for the restoration of peace, to offer on the part of Boston to pay the East India Company for the tea though at the risk of his own private fortune, and concert every means of a lasting and reciprocally beneficial union.

JOHN CAMBEL to [LORD DARTMOUTH].

1775, February 26. Brompton (Kent).—Mentions his introduction (by Governor Browne) to a Mr. Reynolds to whom he gave information respecting West Florida. On the previous Thursday and Friday he spoke his sentiments in the Assembly without reserve censuring and condemning the measures of the Congress in everything. He stood single and unsupported. The opposition was violent and indecent but 14 members came over to him and they managed to postpone the debate to gain time to oppose the motion for presenting an Address to the King. Sends his pamphlet containing a Plan of Accommodation. Answer, 12th March:—The Assembly of his Province was precipitately hurried into an express approbation of the measures of the Congress. Details of the proceeding. Discusses the pamphlet. Mr. Galloway, 26 March:—A full account of the debates in his Assembly. ## SIR JAMES ADOLPHUS OUGHTON to LORD DARTMOUTH.

N. D. [? 1775, February].—Sends a letter from his friend Captain Balfour. Other letters from Boston also state the violences committed by the people there who are disclaiming allegiance and preparing for action in the spring. Thinks the only alternative left is either to put the laws in execution by force of arms, or withdraw the troops entirely with every loyal subject and stop all communication and commerce with other countries until they return to obedience. States what he considers would be the result of the latter measure.

CAPTAIN THOMAS WEBB to [LORD DARTMOUTH].

1775, March 1. New York.—Disposition of the people in America is more favourable than a few months ago. The measures of Congress being disapproved and rejected by the New York Assembly is one grand blow. Believes that if the King's standard were raised about three fourths of the people would join. It is suggested by some that shutting up the ports would soon bring them back to a proper obedience. The consequent indigence and poverty would lead them to break through the resolves of Congress. Intends publishing some facts, relative to their proceedings, in the form of an address to all the artificers and manufacturers in Great Britain showing that the true cause of the present disturbance is the restless spirit of independence. Has sent this pamphlet to Charles Wesley for revision. Encloses copy of a letter written to his brother.

WILLIAM LEE to JOSIAH QUINCEY, Junior, Boston.

1775, March 17. London.—Considers the enclosed should be published in all "y<sup>r</sup>" newspapers and communicated to those to whom it is addressed by every possible means. Reminds them of James II., and of his seizure of the seven bishops. Lord North has “declared himself not to have been the Author of those Acts relative to Boston, and that he will give up the Authors &c.” Is assured the Americans will never be a happy people unless some constitutional line is drawn between Great Britain and them. “It will not be fifty years before we shall be at intestine wars among ourselves as this continent seems now to swarm with inhabitants.”

COLONEL PHILIP SKENE and the REVEREND JOHN VARDILL to [LORD DARTMOUTH].

1775, March.—Soliciting his attention to the case of the Presbyterian Churches of New York. Endorse the opinion of their fellow citizens of New York in their desire for the charters solicited by them, as they only ask these for toleration in religious matters. Shew how beneficial such would be, by quoting extracts from D<sup>r</sup> Chandler to M<sup>r</sup> Vardill, dated 27 September 1774 and 2 January 1775. It would be policy to grant this request as it would tend to allay the jealousies they entertain of the Church of England and lead them to co-operate more zealously in support of Government.

Letter signed.  $2\frac{2}{3}$  quarto pages.

INTELLIGENCE from AMERICA.

Not signed, dated, nor addressed. “I was told by a Gentleman on whose Veracity I can entirely rely, that he was in company the Night before they went to the Provincial Congress with Mess<sup>rs</sup> Hopkins & Sessions whom the Rhode Islanders sent to the Congress.” These men are of opinion that it was impracticable to raise an Army as they lack money and resources and were in every sense totally unable to contend with Great Britain. M<sup>r</sup> Hopkins was informed that M<sup>r</sup> Dalton of Newbury had declared openly at the Congress against hostilities and was much distressed at the despairing appearance of the people at Salem. Humourous scenes enacted by the military actors. Remarks on the adjournment of the Connecticut Assembly. Starvation and ruin seem inevitable in America.

SIR GEORGE COLLIER TO LORD DARTMOUTH.

1775, April 5. Southampton Street.—Desires to be re-imbursed £737 expended on public service. His circumstances will not permit him to make a present of it to Government. That they could not determine out of what fund it should come is no reason why Lords North and Hillsborough should not meet his demands. A twenty gun ship is just ordered to take the three generals to America and Captain Chads who commands her has been reimbursed £400 out of the contingencies of the army.

General Gage will find a large force to oppose him and though he may destroy towns, he cannot enforce obedience to Parliament. 1775, May 4. New York.—“The Number of Provincials killed is not so many as the Troops, which seems very probable from the circumstance of firing from cover.” Dispute as to which side made the first attack in the late skirmish. All letters coming from that quarter by post are opened by the New Englanders, so true account of the action is difficult to obtain. Friends of Government in this city in danger and business suspended; port now re-opened and the whole city entered into an association to abide the measures recommended by the next Congress. ## CAPTAIN LAURIE to his FATHER.

1775, May 8. Boston.—Letter not signed nor addressed, probably from Captain Laurie of the 43rd to his father (see 22 May). Sends printed paper containing an account of the action on the 19th. English loss not so considerable as at first imagined. Lieutenant Hull of his company has since died of his wounds. Enemy's loss four times greater than theirs. Denies from personal observation that the troops first fired upon the people. Complains of cruelty shown by the enemy. All communication with the country is now cut off, and a large force gathered here from this and neighbouring provinces ready for action. The General's conduct has been to avoid extremities and use conciliatory measures. Proceedings of troops and engineers since 19th ultimo. Many persons have left the town with the General's permission. All communication with the country being cut off, fresh provisions are unavailable. Gives list of rebel Generals. Want of money and provisions will surely make them disperse soon. Help expected from Halifax for the English.

JOHN and PETER CHEVALIER to INGHAM FOSTER.

1775, May 13. Philadelphia.—Having enclosed in their last a paper relating some circumstances of a skirmish or running fight between the Regulars under General Gage and the Boston Provincials, now send this day's newspaper containing depositions showing that the Regulars were the aggressors. Inhabitants of Boston have suffered much the last twelve months from officers and soldiers. Unanimity prevails from the colonies of New England to South Carolina and people of all ranks are associating for the purposes of military action. Congress now sitting here but their deliberations will be kept secret for some time; measures recommended by them will doubtless be universally adopted. Shows how General Gage commenced hostilities in the late action.

Copy. Intercepted. 3 folio pages.

*Endorsed:—*Philadelphia May 13, 75. Copy of a Letter from Jn<sup>o</sup> & Peter Chevalier to Mr Ingham Foster.

THOMAS WHARTON to SAMUEL WHARTON.

1775, May 13. Philadelphia.—Congress has met for three days but wait for delegates from Rhode Island before making propositions. On the 15th they go into Committee to consider ways and means to find men and money. Gives his opinion on this subject. Patrick Henry delayed in Virginia it is feared by fresh difficulties with Lord Dunmore. John Watts of the New York Council really gone to England to present to the King the true state of that Province as drawn up by the Governor and Council, showing the impossibility of subduing this continent as the people of New York as well as the other colonies are determined to oppose the measures of Parliament. Just heard that the Massachusetts people have set out to take possession of Ticonderoga and Crown Point. Consequences that have resulted by the mail from Boston being broken open.

Extract. Intercepted. 3½ folio pages.

*Endorsed:—*Philadelphia, May 13, 1775. Copy of a Letter from Thomas Wharton, to Samuel Wharton Esqr.

WITTING [Willing] MORRIS & Co. to THOMAS STONE
Cornfactor, London.

1775, May 14. Philadelphia.—(The same paragraph to John Motteux Esqr) “You may depend that all Exports from these Colonies will certainly cease on or before the 10th Sept<sup>r</sup>.” It is almost certain this may happen on 20 July and probably much sooner; it will depend on Gage’s operations. Congress keep their Councils so secret that definite information cannot be obtained.

Extract. Intercepted. 2½ folio pages.

*Endorsed:—*Philadelphia May 14, 75. Extract of a Letter from Witting Morris & Co. to Mr Tho<sup>s</sup> Stone.

CHIEF JUSTICE FREDERICK SMYTH to [LORD DARTMOUTH].

1775, May 15. New Jersey.—Commends the bearer, Captain Michael Kearney for his zealous services in the Royal Navy; his loyalty shown in recent riots has excited such a spirit of resentment and defiance against him that he has been compelled to leave the country. “In truth we are in a bad way.” Will endeavour to fulfil his judicial duties with as much punctuality and resolution as possible, and hitherto the authority of the Courts of Justice there has been pretty well supported, but owing to the unhappy and dangerous spirit among the people, cannot promise that the authority of Government or laws will long prevail.

Autograph letter signed. 2 quarto pages.

Endorsed:—Ch. Just. of N. Jersey, 15 May 1775, recommending Capt. Kearney.

ALEXANDER INNES to [LORD DARTMOUTH].

1775, May 16. Charles Town.—Proceedings of the [Assembly's] committee before and after the action of 19 April. Fears if Gage does not strike some successful blow within a few weeks there will be a total change of Government here. Disturbances caused by the contents of a letter from Mr. Lee in London proposing freedom to the slaves who desert and join the King's troops. Present condition of the Council. States what he thinks the new Governor should do on his arrival here. Advisability of stationing two regiments in Charles Town and frigates under an able officer in the harbour as people are very despondent. No official record of the Boston action has been received, but many erroneous statements are made thereon by the enemy and circulated.

Autograph letter signed. 7 $\frac{3}{4}$  quarto pages.

Endorsed:—Mr Innis Charles Town, 16 May 1775. American Affairs.

JOHN INMAN to RICHARD BENSON WALKER, Hodsdon.

1775, May 17. Boston.—“Dear Brother, I have delivered in Mrs Calahan's Care a Packet containing Copies of most of my Accounts, also a List of Debts due to and from me.” There are threats of bombarding the town, so sends these papers for safety. About 3,500 people have moved into the country with their furniture, but Gage has prudently kept all the merchandise in town to restrain the madness of the country. Captain Hall with a reinforcement of marines has just arrived.

Endorsed:—Boston, May 17, 1775. Extract of a Letter from John Inman, to Mr Rich<sup>d</sup> Benson Walker.

GOVERNOR JOSIAH MARTIN to LORD DARTMOUTH.

1775, May 18. New Bern, North Carolina.—Séparate. Remarks on the recent resolution of the House of Commons. The effect of the Propositions contained therein on the Americans will depend upon the light in which the Congress now sitting in Philadelphia considers them. Disposition of the people in different parts of his province. The pernicious influence of press and faction is more weighty than the measures of Parliament. Gives his reasons for not calling the Assembly at the present juncture.

THOMAS WHARTON to SAMUEL WHARTON.

1775, May 20. Philadelphia.—Refers to some enclosed papers for news which shows that the hint he gave respecting Ticonderoga is verified. Congress has resolved to recommend the removal of all cannon and stores down to Fort Gage and there properly to fortify the pass. All trade with Newfoundland has been stopped. Doctor Franklin's proceedings in the Congress. Unanimity and firmness among the people on this continent.

Copy. Intercepted. 2 folio pages.

Endorsed:—Philadelphia, May 20, 1775. Copy of a Letter from Thomas Wharton to Samuel Wharton Esq<sup>r</sup>.

CAPTAIN LAURIE.

1775, May 22. Boston.—Letter not signed nor addressed, probably from Captain Laurie. "My Letters to my father of 21st April & 8th inst. I hope you will receive safe, and to them I refer you for the News of this country to that date." Shows the awkward and ridiculous situation they have been in since he last wrote by being blocked up in Boston, and not allowed to return the insults of the rebels. Supposes Gage has good reasons for being inactive, but personally he considers this forbearance and studied moderation will never answer the purpose desired. Encloses copy of a letter from Doctor Warren respecting release of Major Dunbar. Failure of expedition to one of the islands in consequence of the naval commander's neglectful conduct. Received intelligence that the people of Connecticut and Albany have taken fort Ticonderoga, also of seizure of the Earl of Dunmore in Virginia. Damage caused by fire in this town.

Frederick, BISHOP OF DERRY, to LORD DARTMOUTH.

1775, May 23. Derry.—Ascribes the rebellious spirit in the central provinces of America to the exportation from Ireland of nearly 33,000 fanatical and hungry republicans in the course of a few years. Land uncultivated; regrets that his own brethren have not laid the foundation of an exclusive cultivation of the island. Remarks on the progress of independency and a manifest increase among the inhabitants of a republican spirit. Believes it results greatly from the non-residence of the clergy who leave extensive and populous parishes to the care of an indigent curate, an ignorant priest and a factious dissenting minister.

Autograph letter signed. 4 quarto pages.

Endorsed:—Bishop of Derry 23 May 1775, respecting the Migrations from Ireland, and the Growth of Republicanism & Dissension from the Non-residence of the Clergy.

JOSEPH GOLDTHWAIT to JOHN BLACKBURN.

1775, May 24. Boston.—Directions for sending to America a quantity of coal and provisions much needed. The whole of the country is arming and in a state of rebellion. Requests everything sent out to be addressed to himself Barrack Master at Boston and that will ensure a free admittance.

LIEUTENANT COLONEL W. DALRYMPLE to [LORD DARTMOUTH].

1775, May 29. Monday evening.—“Since I had the honor of seeing your Lordship this morning, I have made some inquiry into the affair that has lately passed near Boston.” It appears from accounts given that the troops fulfilled their intention of destroying the stores collected at Concord, and the measures pursued by them appeared to be those of deliberation and sound military judgment. Hopes General Gage’s despatch will confirm details given by troops themselves.

GOVERNOR THOMAS HUTCHINSON to LORD DARTMOUTH.

1775, May 29. 9 o’clock p.m.—Has no doubt the printed account from Boston is a very partial one. Expects Government will receive very different advices from General Gage. Seeks so justify the troops for their conduct in the action. The paper sent is published under the directions of Adams and the master of the ship belongs to one of the most incendiary families. P.S.—Captain Brown with the General’s despatches sailed four days after the action.

Endorsed :—Gov<sup>r</sup> Hutchinson 29 May 1775, on the Skirmish at Concord.

JOHN POWNALL to [LORD DARTMOUTH].

1775, May 29. Lane and Fraser who are in connection with Captain Derby. Letters for Lord Dartmouth from General Gage are on board the “Sukey.” Encloses paper reprinted from Salem newspaper and hopes his Lordship will speedily send it to the King.

COUNTESS GOWER to [LORD DARTMOUTH].

1775, May 30. Whitehall.—Commends to his kind consideration Captain Foy, and desires it may be made worth his while to remain in America as his services are most requisite to Lord Dunmore at the present time.

Autograph letter signed. 2½ quarto pages.

JONATHAN SEWALL to MAJOR GENERAL FREDERICK HALDIMAND.

1775, May 30. Boston.—In compliance with his request, reduces to writing the substance of some loose hints respecting the present very alarming state of public affairs in America, the cause of the disorders, and the remedies which alone seem to promise a radical cure. The hidden spring of this wonderful movement is the ancient republican spirit brought by the first emigrants and which the form of government in the New England colonies has cherished and kept alive. Considers the present calamities might have been prevented by a seasonable application to the cure, and may even now be stopped by a speedy exertion of British vigour and an attention of Parliamentary wisdom to the radical cause.

LORD BARRINGTON to [LORD DARTMOUTH].

1775, June 1. War Office.—“There are three officers named King in the Army, but none of them in Regiments serving in America.”

COLONEL JAMES ROBERTSON to [ ].

1775, June 1. Boston.—Discovery of coal at Cape Breton—advisability of conveying it to Boston in consequence of the rebels cutting off all supplies of fuel from that place. Mr. Knulton Junior delivers this with proposals for his approval. Fears the garrison will be distressed for coal soon, though he has secured some in England.

Autograph letter signed. 1 quarto page.

THOMAS WHARTON to SAMUEL WHARTON.

1775, June 1. Philadelphia.—One of the Council of Antigua has informed him of the distress of the islands on the prospect of exportation being stopped to their ports. Congress has decided to petition the King for redress of grievances. It has already voted 10,000 men for the protection of Boston and directed New York to raise 3,000 for its particular safety. Surprise at the Doctor's silence at the Congress. Lord Dunmore having called his assembly has necessitated the absence of the president, the Virginia speaker. The people of Virginia much exasperated with Dunmore's conduct of late.

The REVEREND THOMAS HATTON to [LORD DARTMOUTH].

1775, June 3. Waters Upton, Shropshire.—Enclosing a letter from his nephew in New Jersey, relative to the temper, &c. of the Americans.

JOHN HATTON to the REVEREND THOMAS HATTON.

1775, February 17. New Jersey.—Private news. This country in a most disordered state, friends of Government very precariously situated and commerce stopped. States objections made by the Sons of Liberty to the measures of Parliament and the answers given by the Sons of Loyalty (of whom he is one) to show the true foundation of the present dispute. Details the recent obnoxious conduct of the Bostonians. Steps taken by the Quakers. The Sons of Faction grieved at the refusal of the New York Assembly to approve the proceedings of the Congress, and the merchants of that place in general threaten a total declension from the party.

ALEXANDER INNES to [LORD DARTMOUTH].

1775, June 3, Saturday. Charles Town.—The Assembly met on the 1st instant and passed their Tax Bill, ordering certificates to be issued for about £140,000 currency. The Lieutenant Governor adjourned them to the 19th. He (Lieutenant Governor Bull) has received a letter from General Gage with an account of the action on the 19th April. The Provincial Congress is meeting in secret, but it is well-known they intend to frame an association, raise troops, and take the Government into their own hands. The Governor expected every hour and it is hoped his presence will aid the King's servants. Two frigates in this harbour would prevent much mischief. The "Tamar" lies some miles below the town and Capt. Thornborough, an old, good officer, has been confined to bed two months. As the Lieut. Gov. is constantly at his country house waiting with anxious impatience for the arrival of Lord William Campbell no requisition could be made to the Captain for any protection from insult. Refers him for further particulars to Captain Barbet Commissary of Stores in West Florida now on his way to England.

JOHN PEMBERTON to JONATHAN WILKINSON, at Cockermouth.

1775, June 3. Philadelphia.—“It is a sorrowful time amongst us, little but Confusion and Disorder.” Trials are daily increasing. JOHN PITCAIRN to LORD ADAM GORDON.

1775, June 3. Boston.—Will gladly do all in his power to serve Mr. Finnie, both for his own merit and Lord Adam's recommendation. For the present he has been appointed to one of their Grenadier Companies where he will have many opportunities to distinguish himself as they encamp in a few days.

THOMAS FISHER to GEORGE LOGAN, at John and Robert Barclay's, London.

1775, June 5. Philadelphia.—The Congress is sitting and has prohibited the exportation of provisions to the fishing islands and coasts, and also to the British army and fleet. Troops have been provided for New England and New York. Gives names of officers appointed. The city bears a warlike appearance. Has been informed that about twenty of General Burgoyne's horse, put out to graze, have been taken by the provincials. Efforts will be made to disappoint the designs of the King's troops. Hopes a change in the Ministry or some other event may produce an alteration in the system of Colony Administration to the mutual benefit of both countries.

DOCTOR BENJAMIN FRANKLIN to THOMAS LIFE.

1775, June 5. Philadelphia.—Has received his favour of April 5 giving an account of the progress of his suit. Affairs are now so situated that he does not think he will ever return to England. General Gage having commenced hostilities with America and civil war now begun, which he has no chance of living to see the end of, being seventy years of age, it does not seem worth while to proceed in the appeal to the House of Lords. Desires him therefore to withdraw the petition and will settle his account.

Endorsed :—Philadelphia, June 5, 1775. Extract of a Letter from Dr Benjamin Franklin to Thomas Life Esq<sup>r</sup>.

JOHN PENN to WILLIAM BAKER.

1775, June 5. Philadelphia.—“The Post brought me yesterday your Letter of the 5th of April, inclosing Mr Burke’s & Mr Hartley’s Resolutions, the Merchants Petition to The King, and the Bill restraining the Trade of the Five Middle Colonies, filled up, and a Clause added.” Is persuaded that the part of the Bill respecting the three lower counties will not have the desired effect as they will be governed by the decisions of the Congress. Lord North’s conciliatory resolution has been ill-received here. Since the late action all the provinces have applied themselves to military exercise. Gage is besieged in Boston by 9,000 men and his destruction would have been attempted were it not for the distress it would have brought upon the town. Remarks on armies preparing in Philadelphia, New England and New York. His own position very unpleasant.

Copy. Intercepted. 5 folio pages.

Endorsed:—Philadelphia, June 5, 1775. Copy of a Letter from Governor Penn, to William Baker Esq<sup>r</sup>.

Autograph letter signed. 10 quarto pages.

Endorsed:—Sr. W. Pepperrell 6th June, 1775, respecting his own Situation & the Situation of Affairs in America.

DISPOSITION of the COLONIES.

Copy of a letter unsigned and unaddressed dated Philadelphia 6 June 1775.—“The Unanimity of the confederate Colonies is every day increasing in Strength.” Lord North’s proposal will be referred by all the Assemblies to the Congress and no Colony will treat separately. It is intended to send one more petition from the Congress to give Britain another chance of recovering and retaining the affection and commerce of the Colonies. Fears there is not wisdom enough among them to seize this golden opportunity, but that violent methods will still be pursued towards America. Sees in the future her foreign trade stopped but her domestic flourishing and a few strongly fortified posts on the coast garrisoned by the British troops and supported by fleets, as Spain holds Ceuta and Oran, with the country all round their enemies.

Accompanied by a paper headed “A Counter Prophecy,” beginning—“If the Spirit of Prophecy, as well as all the Wisdom and Virtue, be not departed to America, and confined there by the Non-exportation Decree it may be lawful even for an Englishman to deal in futurities.” Britain will no longer brook the indignities of America but exert herself to humble the arrogance shown by her. States reasons for present measures and the ultimate consequences that will ensue to America from her rebellion. The contest is so unequal that if America has any wisdom or virtue she will endeavour to cement that union to which she owes her present freedom.

1775, June 7. Westminster.—On the introduction of their remonstrance to the House of Commons a dispute on the propriety of such a paper being presented took place and it was refused admittance. The Duke of Manchester presented it to the Lords where, after a long debate, it was also rejected. Has received no answer to the Petition to the King.

1775, June 8. Trade is destroyed and the peasants are training for soldiers. Frequent skirmishes have taken place but the English are always victorious. Details of the affair on Noddles Island. The troops much encouraged by the arrival of the three Generals about a fortnight ago. Work is difficult and they are in want of fresh provisions.

JOHN MORTON to THOMAS POWELL, Merchant, London.

1775, June 8. Philadelphia.—An entire stoppage to trade is expected on the 1st of the next month and preparations are being made for a civil war as the people are determined to support the cause of liberty. Petitions and remonstrances from London meet with the same fate as those from the colonies and are treated as of no consequence. General Gage is hemmed in by the provincials at Boston. Calling the Americans rebels has made them desperate and they now mean to act as such. Arrival of Major Skene Governor of Ticonderoga, Crown Point and the Lakes, but as these places have been taken possession of by New England men, he has no Government to go to, and is under a guard of American militia; it is expected he will be obliged to show his papers. Sincerely wishes reconciliation as the contest is horrible.

PETER RENAUDET to INGHAM FOSTER.

1775, June 8. New York.—Deplores the unhappy contest between Britain and America and hopes soon to be in England again unless the ports should be shut. Account to-day from Boston of a skirmish on Hog and Noddle Islands, in which the regulars have lost over 150 men and the provincials only one killed and four wounded. Gage still shut up in Boston and limited to salt provisions. If affairs continue thus the Colonies will soon have 270,000 fighting men.

LORD DRUMMOND to [LORD DARTMOUTH].

1775, June 9. 10 o'clock evening. Whitehall.—Has just seen a letter dated Boston 21 April from a gentleman of some importance who has arrived there from Salem which place he quitted on account of the affair of the 19th; he states that the retreat by Lord Percy was deemed a piece of masterly officership in bringing off his men with so little loss through a severe and incessant fire for twenty miles; killed, wounded and missing between 80 and 100 including many officers. The provincials were endeavouring to cut off communication between the town and country and they are computed at 20,000. Lord Percy is in good health at General Gage's house.

MESSRS. GIBSON and ASTON to MESSRS. JOHN and ROBERT BARCLAY, Merchants in London.

1775, June 9. Philadelphia.—Many skirmishes have happened about Boston, much to the disadvantage of the King's troops; the New Englanders are strengthening their acquisitions at Ticonderoga and Crown Point and they are masters of Lake Champlain, having taken all the vessels upon it. The country is now firmly united and preparing to contend for their liberties. Major Skene on his arrival found his Government taken from him by the Connecticut forces and himself a prisoner in Philadelphia. Still hope that the Ministry will stop their measures before it is too late to conquer America.

MORDECAI LEWIS to JOSEPH WOODS, Whitehart Court, Gracechurch Street.

1775, June 9. Philadelphia.—Fears if measures are not altered at home an accommodation will never take place between the two countries. Congress is endeavouring to raise men to furnish an army and they have appointed a Committee to draw up another Petition to the King, an Address to the People of England, one to the Assembly of Jamaica, and one to the People of Canada. Many desertions from the General's army. Military manœuvres in Philadelphia. Arrival and arrest of Colonel Skene, with seizure of his papers. Generals Howe, Burgoyne and Clinton have arrived at Boston. Acts of Parliament by no means affect them as they used to.

ALEXANDER INNES to [LORD DARTMOUTH].

1775, June 10–13. Charles Town.—After the signing, by the Members of the Congress, of the association enclosed, it was carried round the town by a committee with orders to report all who refused to subscribe. Few dared refuse. Raising of troops and other military measures decided upon by the Provincial Congress. Several leading men here tremble at the lengths already gone and strive to check the torrent. Refers him to Captain Barbet for many particulars. Laments Admiral Graves's neglect of this province where smuggling goes on daily.

JOSEPH GOLDTHWAIT to JOHN BLACKBURN.

1775, June 11. Boston.—“As to Politicks, I dont know what to say. We remain as in my last, still blockaded up.” The Congress at Philadelphia has voted to make a million of money, and all the colonies to be jointly concerned in redeeming it, to carry on the war against the Government. Refusal to submit to any Acts of Supremacy or Taxation by Parliament. The New England Governments have issued Treasurers' notes for payment of the rebel soldiers and those who reject them are deemed enemies to their country.

ENOCH STORY to MESSRS. JOHN and ROBERT BARCLAY.

1775, June 11. Philadelphia.—The proceedings of the Continental Congress kept very secret. A sufficient reinforcement of the Connecticut people is supposed to be at Ticonderoga to keep possession of that fortress against any attempt of the regulars to retake it. Arrival of Captain McCulloch, Major Skene, Lieutenant Moncrief and others.

Skene and Moncrief detained as prisoners but now discharged on their parole of honour not to cross the Delaware or Schuylkill or go further than eight or ten miles north or south of the city. Nothing material was discovered by an examination of their papers.

1775, June 12 and 18.—“The Situation which The Enemy has taken in Forming the Blockade, is Judicious & Strong, being well Intrenched where The Situation Requires it, & with Cannon.” His reasons for not attacking them, the needs of his army and refusal of the colonies to supply him. Intelligence scanty and only through rebels, so is ignorant of the doings in the neighbourhood. States his ideas of the measures desirable to be taken on Dorchester Neck and Roxbury and other places and the force required.

MAJOR GENERAL WILLIAM HOWE to LORD HOWE.

1775, June 12. Boston.—“In consequence of the defection at New York a Frigate has been sent to bring the 4 Regiments destined for that Province to this Port.” The situation of the rebels for continuing the blockade of this town is exceedingly strong; gives particulars respecting their numbers, manner of fighting and position. Disadvantages under which the British troops labour. Details of the taking of Fort Ticonderoga. Gives his ideas of the measures able to be taken in their present situation, showing he has no great hopes of doing much this campaign with the present force. Is in great want of frigates and states the army required for the province of New York and the garrison of Boston and how to furnish the same.

BRIGADIER GENERAL JAMES ROBERTSON to [ ].

1775, June 13. Boston.—“A Gentleman lately sent to Philadelphia brought me the inclosed, which I consider as the best Intelligence he brought.” The Congress here has struck money and is severe against those who refuse it. Mr. Burgoyne had a good share in framing the General's proclamation. People say there is more attention paid to style than to policy. The Irish transports with troops are arriving. “The Rebels lie round the Town and our Boats make it in a manner all land round us.” Nothing less than a decisive victory will alter the face of affairs. Prescott sails to-morrow for Quebec.

Enclosure :—

[ ] to BRIGADIER GENERAL ROBERTSON.

1775, May 25.—The affair at Lexington has given such ideas of New England prowess that the Americans will listen to no terms but such as they themselves shall dictate. Delegates from the New England colonies declare openly against any Law of Parliament binding them in any respect. Congress proceedings. "It was said, and I believe truly, that Dr. Franklin came out as an agent from Lord Chatham, to propose certain Terms, which he would push at home . . . We fear Lord Chatham: he is for having the supremacy acknowledged . . . Lord North's Motion would be slavery." The taking of Ticonderoga has given great spirit to the Americans. New York has out-heroded Herod; its delegates are still the ablest in Congress. They hate the New Englanders. Strange and fabulous stories told of the provincials and the troops.

1775, June 19. King's Road, Chelsea, opposite Mrs. Hutchins's Farm.—Accounts from the Ohio shew the willingness of the Delaware Indians to receive the Gospel through the instrumentality of Captain White Eye. They also wish to be secured to them by the King and for that purpose resolved to send this Captain to England. He comes with good recommendations and was to set out on 2 March for Pittsburg on his way to England. Congress is determined that all American ports should be shut on the 20th July and New York and North Carolina had determined not to avail themselves of the privilege granted them by Parliament. LIEUTENANT-GENERAL THOMAS GAGE to LORD DARTMOUTH.

1775, June 25.—No. 34. The last transport of the first embarkation from Ireland landed her troops at this port on the 19th instant, and 422 recruits &c. have arrived under the command of Major Bruce. Has heard that a motion was made in the Congress at Philadelphia for conciliatory measures with Great Britain; has also been informed that Lord Dunmore and his family have been compelled to take refuge on board the "Fowey" ship of war; doubts the first item, but thinks the latter authentic. There is scarcely a province that has not overthrown its Government and all power is lodged in the hands of Congresses and Committees; the people are so blind and "bigotted" that they cannot see they have exchanged liberty for tyranny. No advices received from Canada for three months past, though he has sent there for supplies of all kinds.

LIEUTENANT-GENERAL THOMAS GAGE to LORD DARTMOUTH.

1775, June 25.—Private. Wishes that the success, so necessary, had not cost so dear. The number of killed and wounded is greater than they could afford to lose. The rebels are shown not to be the disorderly rabble too many have supposed. They have fortified all the heights and passes around the town. It will be perceived that the conquest of the country is not easy and can be effected only by time and perseverance and strong armies attacking it in various quarters and so dividing their forces. In all their wars against the French they have showed no such conduct, attention and perseverance as they do now. The people's minds are kept heated and inflamed and they do not see they have exchanged liberty for tyranny. No people were ever governed more absolutely than the American Provinces now are, and no reason can be given for their submission but that it is a tyranny they have erected themselves.

ALEXANDER FRASER, Midshipman on the "Scarborough" Man-of-War, to [ ].

1775, June 26. Portsmouth, New Hampshire.—The battle previously mentioned by him has produced as yet no visible consequences though it is the general opinion the rebels are sick of the service as they are not able to cope with the troops. A reported division in the Continental Congress. Samuel Adams and John Hancock have been excepted from the pardon offered by General Gage's proclamation to all who shall lay down their arms; some have availed themselves of this offer but great numbers hesitate through fear of being taken in the attempt. Present distressed condition of the country. Insufficient force on the English side to reduce the rebels as every skirmish diminishes it while they are continually increasing in numbers. Unwarrantable acts of violence committed. They have robbed the different forts of the cannon and ammunition and forced the governor with his family to leave the town.

INTELLIGENCE.

[ROYAL HIGHLAND EMIGRANTS REGIMENT.]

N. D. [1775, June].—Letter not signed, dated, nor addressed; beginning—"Sir I hope your Excellency will have the goodness to pardon the liberty I take, in troubling you on a Subject, which has been revealed to me in Confidence, by my friend Major Small." Owing to the great influx of Highlanders into this province, proposes the enlisting of them into a brigade. Shows the desirability of such a step at the present juncture of affairs. Offers himself as commander of such a brigade if another is not destined for the post.

VIRGINIA.

N. D. [1775, June].—Address of the Council of Virginia to all the good people of the Province. Can no longer forbear to express their abhorrence and detestation of the ungovernable spirit which misleads the once happy people of this country. Desire the consequences to be considered. The Council on this occasion wish to be looked upon not as a separate body of men, but as the watchful guardians of the rights of the people. Will heartily join with them in whatever means may be judged most salutary for enforcing obedience to the laws.

1775, July 1. Mr. Chapman's, Cheap Street, Bath.—Quotes from a letter written on the 12th May by his brother John Fisher showing the confused state of affairs in America since the action of 19 April, and who as he is Collector of Customs at Salem and in personal danger from the populace, asks leave and opportunity to embark for England. Desires his Lordship to intercede with Lord North on his brother's behalf.

IS. SEAGROVE to JOHN BLACKBURN.

1775, July 2. New York.—In consequence of England's rejecting the remonstrance and petition sent from the colonies to redress the grievances, the Americans are determined to defend their liberty by a vigorous opposition. Preparations for war. Non-importation stoutly adhered to and non-exportation daily expected. Not less than 2,000 lives have been lost since the 19th April. Saw the action at Lexington, which was a hot one. Not less than 1,500 fell in the attack on Breed's Hill; a general engagement may be hourly expected. Washington, Lee, Ward and Putnam are in command of the American army. It is said General Carleton is coming down from Canada with an army of Indians and French; a strong army is posted at Ticonderoga to intercept him. Wishes he were in England as he has no relish for civil war.

A. Z. to the REVEREND JOHN VARDIL[L].

1775, July 5. New York.—“It is said that a Motion has been made at the Continental Congress for an Independency, which occasioned very warm Debates.” Captain John Hansen, who lately discovered some of the secrets of the French Cabinet, for which he received a pension of £500, has now it is said discovered that the English Ministry are in league with the Pretender, who must this year assert his right to the throne, or be for ever barred. This is supposed to be the reason of the present measures respecting America, that by drawing the forces out of Great Britain and Ireland those countries will be subject to the incursions of the Pretender. Of the Provincial Officers not one in ten have ever smelt gunpowder. Repeats sentiments declared by the people on the present state of affairs.

JOHN HARRIS CRUGER to HENRY CRUGER, JUNIOR.

1775, July 5. New York.—“It is with the greatest Pleasure I communicate to you the honourable Mention that is made of you in your Support and Defence of our Assembly’s Memorial and Remonstrance to the Lords.” The treatment of this remonstrance has irritated and greatly vexed many of the moderate well-disposed people and will hasten on the scene of confusion, ruin and anarchy. Is anxious to hear the fate of their petition though despairs of a favourable reception. This city wears a warlike appearance. Has received no certain account of Bunker's Hill battle, only newspaper accounts.

MESSRS. MCFARRAN and DUNLAP to MESSRS. JOHNSTON and CANNING.

1775, July 5. New York.—“When Trade will be open again it is uncertain, for People here are determined not to give Way.” Considers England cannot subdue them by land, but only destroy their towns by her men of war, and an army marching from under their cover will run a great risk of being massacred.

JOHN WEATHERHEAD to CHARLES WILLIAMOS Esq., St. James's Place.

1775, July 5. New York.—“Mr. Skeene's promises must appear very highly contemptible to the Ministry, when they are informed that he is a Prisoner still in the Hands of the Philadelphians.” His whole family have been dispersed and his effects destroyed by the very people he has been recommending to the favours of the Crown. Ethan Allen and Seth Warner are now parading the streets of New York, notwithstanding that £500 is offered by Act of Assembly for securing their persons. Considers a squadron of small ships of war and 4,000 good regular troops would soon strike terror into the Southern Colonies and “put to flight the rebellious scoundrels in this Province,” providing the Admiral and General are active enterprising men.

JOHN BAYARD to JOHN SARGENT, Downing Street.

1775, July 6. Greenwich.—“Our Situation is as melancholly and shocking as pen can describe it. Where it will end God alone knows.” Anarchy and Blood will be the production of this dismal year unless Government should step in and send to this country proper persons to meet and treat with deputies from the different assemblies to settle the differences between the two countries.

GOVERNOR JOSIAH MARTIN to LORD DARTMOUTH.

1775, July 6. Fort Johnston, North Carolina.—No. 35. Receipt of dispatches by Captain Tollemache. Disadvantages experienced by not being able to communicate with General Gage. No communication by sea yet established by the Admiral or General and all intercourse by land is cut off by the vigilance of the Committees. “A servant of mine, whom I had dispatched from hence to the Post Office at Wilmington for my letters three days ago, was stopped by the Committee at the little Town of Brunswick, who obliged him to swear, that he had no letters for me, before he was suffered to proceed." Regrets that his Lordship's dispatches had been previously opened by the mob at Charlestown as certified by Mr. Roupell, Deputy Post Master General there. Enumerates several letters by the "Sandwich" Packet that his Lordship may judge whether any have been suppressed. Introduces Mr. Schaw and refers his Lordship to him for information of this province. Thinks recent orders respecting the authority of Major and Brigadier-Generals will bear somewhat hard upon himself, though he will not fail to have them fulfilled.

WALTER and THOMAS BUCHANAN and Co. to Messrs. GEORGE and JOHN BUCHANAN, Glasgow.

1775, July 7 and 8. New York.—It has been decided to shut up the ports on the 10th September, unless something is done by the man-of-war to oblige them to alter their sentiments. Do not find that any other house here has any advice of this matter. Are convinced that the first vessel that is stopped going from America by virtue of the Restraining Act will cause all the ports to be shut, or if a man-of-war take any vessel loaded with provisions and carry her to Boston it will result in the same action.

GOVERNOR WILLIAM TRYON to LORD DARTMOUTH.

1775, July 7. New York.—The idea of Parliamentary taxation is the heavy clog that keeps the Americans from vigorously supporting Government. Were this accommodated numbers would stand forth in its cause. Hopes his intended answer to the Corporation of this City will meet with his Lordship's approbation. Desires leave of absence by the next packet with discretionary leave to remain if affairs require his presence.

GOVERNOR WILLIAM TRYON to LORD DARTMOUTH.

1775, July 7. New York.—In the delicate state of his health and public situation and it being very probable he may either be taken prisoner as a state hostage, or obliged to retire on board one of His Majesty's ships of war to avoid the insolence of an inflamed mob, humbly requests discretionary leave to return to England and that it may be sent by the next packet. BENJAMIN MOORE to the REVEREND DOCTOR COOPER at Dr. Thurloe's, Temple.

1775, July 8. King's College.—“Our Situation grows more & more distressing. The City is held in a constant Alarm.” The Connecticut Troops about 1,800 are encamped near Mr. Elliott's. Various false rumours are constantly being spread concerning the movements of the troops. It has been suggested that the college be converted into a hospital and Doctor Clossy Physician General to the American army. Governor Tryon is viewed with a supercilious eye, though he behaves with much prudence and moderation. The Corporation were prohibited by the Provincial Congress from presenting their address to Governor Tryon.

LORD VISCOUNT TOWNSHEND to [LORD DARTMOUTH].

1775, July 11. Portman Square.—If more ordnance stores are required, suggests that they could be spared from Boston, as General Gage has more than he can possibly use for Quebec and Virginia. The artillery, small arms and stores are all ready for embarkation as ordered.

CADWALLADER COLDEN, Junior, to the REVEREND DOCTOR
MYLES COOPER.

1775, July 15. Coldenham.—"If any one has dared to put Pen to Paper to give you a State of Affairs in this Province since you left us it must fill your sympathetic Breast with the greatest anxiety to hear of the great Progress of——I know not what to call it, in so much that no one dare now print, write or speak a word in favour of Government." His life and property threatened till he was compelled to sign the Association Paper. Some who refused to do so tied hand and foot and sent down to the Provincial Congress. All Church men in this part of the country have appeared averse to the public measures and are consequently called Tories.

GOVERNOR JOSIAH MARTIN to LORD DARTMOUTH.

1775, July 15. "Cruizer" Sloop of War, Cape Fear River, North Carolina.—No. 36. Gives account of Howe's victory at Bunker's Hill as received from the master of a vessel just arrived from Boston. Pernicious influence of printed papers circulated by rebels. Is eager for intelligence and supplies from General Gage; it is rumoured that the Committee at Wilmington have intercepted General Gage's letter to him. Captain Collets' just representations that he could not hold Fort Johnston with three or four men against a multitude have determined him to dismount the artillery and lay it under cover of the "Cruizer's" guns. The fort a contemptible thing. Cornelius Harnett, John Ashe, Robert Howes or Howe and Abner Nash are the persons who lead the revolt in his province and who he proposes should be proscribed the same as Samuel Adams and John Hancock in Massachusetts have been by the King's proclamation.

JOHN GIBSON to MESSRS. JOHN AND ROBERT BARCLAY.

1775, July 18. Philadelphia.—General Gage by carrying the Trenches at Bunker's Hill has gained perhaps 1,000 acres of ground by the victory of the 17th but he is as closely besieged as before the arrival of troops from England and Ireland. The Continental Congress has announced the resolution of the country to defend itself against the arbitrary Acts of Parliament; it has taken the reins of Government, and implicit obedience is paid to its decrees. If no response is made to the last petition sent to the King, Independency will be looked forward to and a European Power asked for assistance if required. Harvest generally in; every kind of produce has yielded abundance this year.

GOVERNOR LORD WILLIAM CAMPBELL to [LORD DARTMOUTH].

1775, July 19, last part on 20th. Charles Town.—No. 2. Detriment to the province by General Gage's neglect to send vessels for his assistance. Every hour he hears of vessels from the Dutch and French settlements arriving and smuggling cargoes in the neighbouring creeks. His reasons for not dissolving the Assembly. "The Assembly met the 10th. The Papers inclosed contain every thing that has pass'd, & shows (sic) plainly the temper that reigns amongst them. When I received their Address I thought of dissolving them immediately, but I soon found that was what they wish'd; it would have furnished a fresh grievance, & an excuse for every violent, desperate, measure that might be adopted in their Committees, & Councils. They would have immediately said, that by a Dissolution at such a Crisis I had inflamed the minds of the people, weakned Government, & riot, anarchy, & confusion, could not fail of being the consequence. I have consider'd this matter with the greatest attention, I have consulted those few of the King's Servants that I could depend on, as well as the Council, & they are all of opinion I cannot fall on a more effectual method to embarrass the faction, than suffering the Assembly to sit some little time longer, & putting it in their power to compleat the necessary business of the Province, if they chuse it, which I do not expect, as I am convinced they do not wish at present to have even the appearance of a Legislature. They are ripe for any violence, & I am determined whatever is done shall be acted before them; in fact it will be their own Deed, as the Assembly almost to a man are Members of the Congress, & Committee. No subterfuge should be left them; things are come to such a pass My Lord that the whole World ought to know—that the present measures proceed not from a mob fired by oppression but . . . are the result of a concerted plan, and firm determination of a powerful party, to establish an independancy, by Acts as unprovoked, as they are unjustifiable.” . . . The Advices from the Continental Congress (a few resolutions excepted intended for the publick eye) are as caretully concealed as possible, but it is said that two millions of Dollars are to be raised immediately, & the proportion of this Province will be 56,000£ Sterg. This with the enormous expence of ye new Troops &c<sup>a</sup>. will oblige them to raise a sum little short of 300,000£ Sterg.” The Carolina Committee and Council of Safety sit night and day; is told they are debating about seizing the King’s officers and those few who have not signed the Association. “Your Lordship will easily conceive the distress of my present situation, & how very uncertain my personal safety is; but as I know my presence here embarasses them I am determined at all events to remain to the last extremity, & see what they dare do. To publish proclamations against their proceedings would be only giving them an opportunity of pouring fresh insults on Government, but could I only keep my ground till General Gage enables me to publish an Account of a severe correction given to the Massachusetts People; & till the Admiral recollects the situation we must be in to the Southward, & sends us some little force; I am still in hopes our Heroes here might come to their senses.” Has received no communication from Lieutenant Governor Bull. Commends Mr. Wragge for his zeal and loyalty though he is threatened with banishment for it. Georgia has joined the General Association and appointed delegates to the Continental Congress. Gunpowder seized; the governor, Sir James Wright, dares not write. Hears that a posse of men is waiting to seize his dispatches from Mr. Innes as he carries them down to the packet, so will send to Capt. Thornborough for his boat in the night to convey Mr. Innes safely with them. Enumerates five papers sent in a packet with this letter.

SOAME JENYNS to [LORD DARTMOUTH.]

1775, July 20. Botisham.—Has been requested to recommend Mr. James Gifford who has served some years in the Army as Captain of a Company in General Keppel's Regiment, but now sold out and wishes to obtain some inferior Government or Lieutenant Government in America or the West Indies. Thinks he is suitable for it, as he has served six years in that country and seems well acquainted with most of the provinces.

BENJAMIN HARRISON to GENERAL GEORGE WASHINGTON.

1775, July 21, 23 and 24. Philadelphia.—“ Your fatigue and various kinds of trouble, I dare say are great; but they are not more than I expected, knowing the people you have to deal with by the sample we have here. . . . I wish, with all my heart, your troops were better, and your stores more complete. . . . The want of Engineers, I fear, is not to be supplied in America. Some folks here seemed much displeased at your report on that head. . . . Indeed, my friend, I do not know what to think of some of these men; they seem to be exceeding hearty in the cause, but still wish to keep every thing amongst themselves. Our President is quite of a different cast—noble, disinterested, and generous, to a very great degree. The Congress have given you the appointment of three Brigade Majors. . . . The military chest, I hope, will be supplied soon. . . . What has occasioned the delay in this article I know not, without an imitation of the Congress, in its slowness, is become fashionable. . . . The Governour . . . is still at Yorktown, with three men-of-war. He, Montague, and Foye, went the other day by water to his farm, and were within three or four minutes of being all taken by Captain Meredith, with seventy men from Hanover. . . . Meredith says his intentions were to carry his Lordship to Williamsburgh, to put him into the Palace, and promise him protection, to convince him and the world that no injury was intended him; however, as he missed his stroke, I daresay he will be charged with intending to murder him. We think the season too far advanced to send you any more men from the southward. . . . Georgia has come into the Union. . . . The debate about our remove was taken up yesterday, and determined in the negative. I proposed a Committee, but could not carry it. . . . I think it is high time there was an end of the Congress.” Recommends Edmund Randolph as Washington's Secretary.

1775, July 21. Rainham.—A letter received from General Gage announces his satisfaction at the arrival of Engineer Page. Hopes others on their way will give equal pleasure. Mentions artillery now at the Tower which would be useful to General Gage and easily transported. Lord Dunmore's decision to embark. Has received a letter from North Carolina of 1st June describing the temper of the people there and the willingness of Highlanders to take up arms for the Government. Endorsed :—Plan of Accommodation. Anonymous.

[COLONEL CHRISTIE] to LORD DARTMOUTH.

1775, July 22.—Reasons for taking immediate possession of New York :—

1. "Because the province in General is well affected, & great numbers of real Friends to His Majesty in the Town of New York who wish to promote the Public Tranquility, but are intimidated by a licentious Mob, as well as from the want of Troops under proper Orders, to afford them protection. Therefore it would now require about 2000 Men to recover and take possession of the place, and this force assisted by a determin'd Declaration made to the Town, that Hostilities, and a bombardment should ensue, in case of Insult or Resistance. The Landing to be effected in the North River, a little above the Town, where the Ground commands it, under the protection of a couple of Frigates, & as many Bomb Vessels, in which case there would be no opposition."

2. Because the place in question is strong from its natural situation (this is enlarged upon) and a frigate or small armed vessel if necessary could keep all this rich and extensive country in good order, and the whole easily defended; also, the "possessing New York will be establishing a Centrical and Winter Port for Vessels with Warlike or other Stores as may be found expedient to send from England."

3. Because opportunity would be given to recover the arms and stores of the King's which were violently seized, and the nations would be happy for the pretence to join and drive off the people who came from the neighbouring provinces of Connecticut at the instigation of certain turbulent and factious spirits in the province of New York.

4. "Because It is of the last Importance in all Countrys under the Calamity of a Civil War, to endeavour, if practicable, to form Provincial Battalions, or a Force raised from among themselves," &c.

5. Because the seeds of Disaffection & Rebellion were 1st sown in the town of New York the country being pretty free from it & depend[ing] so much upon the exportation of their grain . . . "It may almost be presumed, that the Skochry people, a numerous race or Industrious & Obedient Germans settled upon a Creek or River of that name, branching from the Mohock River above Schenectady, would take Arms to a man, for the King, upon the least Encouragement, as well as those Inhabitants of the Mohock River, all whom are extremely Robust, & esteemed the best Militia (Canadians excepted) in N. America."

6. Because of many German and Scotch wandering in New York waiting to settle there.

7. Query. Whether some one should not be sent over to receive and report complaints from inhabitants.

8. The possession of it is necessary to open communication with Boston.

9. Shows its necessity for the sake of other provinces in their fishery and trade.

MAJOR-GENERAL JOHN BURGoyNE to LORD DARTMOUTH.

1775, July 26. Boston.—Private affairs of consequence require his presence in England. Feels himself a mere military cipher in his present post, and pleads, upon the most zealous motives, for some more active part in this great service. Submits a plan* to visit in the course of the autumn the different colonies and obtain their sentiments relative to an accommodation. Since he formed the plan a circumstance has happened which makes him think no admittance would be granted to him. "Mr Lee late a half pay major in the King's service, & whose character I am persuaded is well known to your Lordship, lived with me formerly upon the footing of friendship. This gentleman your Lordship will have heard has accepted from the general Congress a commission of Major General in what is called the army of the united provinces, and he is now acting in that capacity under General Washington the commander-in-chief. A few days after his arrival at the neighbouring Camp I received two letters from him one dated Philadelphia June 7th for the delay of which he blames the person charged to convey it; the other dated July 5th the day on which it came to my hands.

It was my intention to transmit to your Lordship extracts of these letters stript of all stuff which is calculated merely for the meridian of New England. But finding since that the first letter was printed & reprinted in all the American papers, & concluding that by the same pains to circulate it, it will appear in the English ones, I give you a copy entire, together with my answer which at the request of Mr Gage & the army has been printed likewise, tho', for my own sake I would rather have avoided that measure." His ultimate view was to try Lee in a private conference but the Provincial Congress forbade Lee meeting him. Thus his scheme for the autumn fails. Presses his entreaties to return to England.

LETTER to INGHAM FOSTER [from his brother].

1775, July 29 and August 5. Philadelphia.—Transactions of Congress; Franklin and two others are appointed to conciliate the Indians by large presents, etc. Five thousand men are on their march for Ticonderoga to be under the command of General Schuyler, who will act according to the motions of the administration and the exigency of affairs here. LORD TOWNSHEND to [LORD DARTMOUTH].

1775, July 29. Rainham.—Regrets to hear Skene is in danger for want of stores. Congratulates him on the success of His Majesty's troops on the 17th June. Fears General Gage has much to do to establish himself in such healthy and commanding winter quarters as may maintain his forces in a respectable footing. "Your Lordship is the best Judge how practicable it may be to possess" Long Island, New York and some part of the province of Connecticut by embarkations from hence if such can be spared. Great reinforcements are probably moving to General Putnam. Stress of the war will lie on the Light Infantry; this kind of regiment raised more easily than any other. Captain Montessor in a letter to Lord Townshend complains of want of engineers. Reason for desiring to see Captain Holland's map was only "to gratify my curiosity as to this cursed Height above Charles Town, which I was anxious about from y<sup>e</sup> moment I heard the Rebels seized much artillery."

H. BYRD to SIR JEFFERY AMHERST.

1775, July 30. Westover.—Impossible now to avoid a civil war. Has met with insults and given offence because of his refusal to command the army being raised by their Convention to oppose the King's troops. The Southern Colonists have been led to believe by false accounts that they are far superior to the power of Great Britain and by artful schemes have been deluded into rebellion. Requests he may not be considered one of the American traitors as he is ready to serve His Majesty and would be glad of an opportunity to convince the Virginians of their error and bring them back to loyalty and duty. Asks that an answer to this letter may be enclosed to General Gage and thence forwarded to him by water, if no ships are sent to this colony.

GOVERNOR LORD WILLIAM CAMPBELL to LORD DARTMOUTH.

1775, July 30. Charles Town.—No. 4. Arrival of packet. "In consequence of the directions I had before given to Capt. Thornborough he secured the Mail on board the King's Ship, & that night at 12 o'clock,

I went on board with the Dep<sup>y</sup> Post M. Gen<sup>l</sup>, open'd my own dispatches, & have taken the best care I could of those belonging to the neighbouring Governors." Preparations to fortify the town. Encloses a "waspish" message addressed to him by the Assembly on his refusal to adjourn them. The Association has been refused by many through the influence of Colonel Fletchal. The rebels most indefatigable in their efforts; the late defection of Georgia "brought about entirely by the People here" was a matter of amazing triumph to them. Remarks thereon and desirability of recovering that unlucky stroke.

JAMES TILGHMAN to WILLIAM BAKER.

1775, July 30. Philadelphia.—Advisability of settling a temporary line of jurisdiction to the westward owing to the arbitrary and violent proceedings of Lord Dunmore's officers. Has heard that Doctor Conelly (Lord Dunmore's chief instrument) is going to England with some Indian Chiefs of the Delaware tribe who seek for a confirmation of their lands. All things seem verging towards anarchy. Congress proceedings. Ammunition is being sent in by the French, Spaniards and Dutch. Hopes the petition from Congress to the King may have a salutary effect as he believes they only object to internal taxation. Interference with private as well as public correspondence.

Proposes measures to be adopted with regard to removing the fleet from Boston and making a descent on New York. Ticonderoga should be recovered and preparations made for Canadian service next spring.

HENRY KELLY to MESSRS. KELLY and COMPANY.

1775, July 31. Chester Town.—“In America the order of Things seems to be inverted.” Owing to present disturbances he would be happy to collect all that is due at the loss of 10 per cent. The measures of Government are exceedingly unfortunate and the error of their military proceedings patent to all. Thinks the troops will vacate Boston in the fall. Cannot think that General Gage has acted with the spirit becoming a commanding officer.

WILLING MORRIS & CO. to MESSRS. JOHN MOTTEUX & CO.

1775, July 31. Postscript August 3. Philadelphia.—“You’ll have seen by our late Letters we could not execute the fresh Orders of any Your Foreign Correspondents.” The restraining Act now prohibits them from sending produce to any foreign markets. “Our Exchange is at 150 p. c. so that if Wheat came down to their Limits of 5/ to 5/6 Nothing could be done.” Both wheat and flour have fallen since the 20th. People preparing to sow another crop notwithstanding the dull prospect before them; they are cheerfully disposed to submit to their fate and are united in a determination to sacrifice all things to preserve the liberties of their country. “You will hear a great deal of what you call bad news from this country, but here it is thought differently of, and we hope will be the means of bringing about a reconciliation on honest and equitable principles.”

HENRY CRUGER to JOHN CRUGER, New York.

1775, August 2. London.—“Dear Uncle, I hope this may find you in tolerable Health & Spirits, amidst the innumerable Troubles & Afflictions that beset you.” Thinks the only way to make peace would be moderation, treaty, and a little concession on the part of the colonies. The King is said to be enraged at the defiance of the Congress. All is quiet here and likely to continue so in spite of the efforts of the merchants who will be ruined by the dispute. Private messages to friends.

HENRY CRUGER to JOHN HARRIS CRUGER.

1775, August 2. London.—Depression of his spirits. Apologies for neglect of correspondence with lady friends. “I would not, could not do a dishonourable thing, no not to possess the World’s great mass of Vanity. I repeat I have twice as much in America as I am worth. Who then in such precarious circumstances would think of Matrimony?” This country enjoys the most perfect repose and were it not for the newspapers the people would hardly know there was a civil war in America. The administration are making tremendous proposals for next summer’s campaign, which doubtless will be carried out unless America makes some concession.

JOHN HARRIS CRUGER to MOSES FRANKS.

1775, August 2, preceded by a previous letter of 28 July. New York.—Has just received an imperfect account of the confusion and uproar in England in consequence of the battle of Lexington and Concord. Refers him to newspapers and the bearer of this, William Laight, for intelligence, as he can tell more than it is safe for friends to write. Both armies are now strongly entrenched and fortified and an attack from either side will be attended with sad consequences. The enthusiasm of the Americans increases.

Leave granted to General Gage to return to England; command of the Army in the Colonies on the Atlantic in his absence to devolve upon Howe; but if in the course of the service the two armies should be joined the command of the whole would be with Carleton as the senior officer. ## J. INGERSOLL to JONATHAN INGERSOLL, New Haven.

1775, August 2. London.—Is now suffering under the most humiliating news of a defeat of the Provincials by the King's troops. Supposes defeat is owing to the King's troops being better officered and more amply furnished with every implement of destruction used in war. Is eager to hear of some success over General Gage's army that may retrieve the late disgrace. Mentions what is reported to be the King's intentions for the future. Remarks on the commercial relations between England and America. Assures him America has no auxiliaries to depend upon. Has heard with delight of the bravery of the Americans in the late action.

WILLIAM STRAHAN to BENJAMIN FRANKLIN.

1775, August 2. London.—Has heard with regret of the late battle at Boston as it widens the breach and renders all hope of reconciliation more difficult and distant. A civil war has commenced in earnest. Wishes some means could be found to stop it and settle differences without shedding more blood. Requests him to do his utmost towards this end. Great preparations being made here to furnish more troops and ships to America, and he thinks that country will have a hard time in seeking to overcome the same; victory on either side will be dearly bought. Hopes the address which Congress proposes to lay before the King will be worded in proper terms and that in next October he will come over with equitable proposals and be the means of restoring peace and unanimity to British subjects everywhere.

JOSEPH SWIFT to MESSRS. JOHN AND ROBERT BARCLAY.

1775, August 2. Philadelphia.—Hopes that the claim which America makes, when rightly understood by the people of England, will be thought reasonable upon constitutional principles and the Parliament's right to tax America be given up. Is convinced that Great Britain will be the loser by the contest. Sends an order for goods to be sent if differences are settled.

ROBERT WATTS to The Honourable JOHN WATTS.

1775, August 2. New York.—Addressed to the care of Mr. Moses Franks. Has been impatiently expecting to hear of his arrival, but the June packet has not yet been seen. No fresh occurrence to report in the situation or politics of the town. The contractors must themselves do all that is necessary to supply provisions and money to the eastward.

JOHN POWNALL to [LORD DARTMOUTH].

1775, August 3. Secretary's Office.—“Our Shop to-day has received only the usual Communication from the Post Office & a private Letter to you from Charles Town of the 10 of June.” Has written to Lords Townshend and Barrington in consequence of his Lordship's commands of yesterday. Major Maxwell is mortified and disappointed, offering to give up his majority. Is going to dine with the Virginia merchants. Fears for Ingersoll's fate if the original of his letter was at hand.

WILLING MORRIS and Co. to MESSRS. ERRECARTÉ DEL RIO and Co.

All exports have been stopped in Virginia except tobacco, but Maryland, Pennsylvania and New York will remain open until the 10th September. The ship will be recommended to George Casker Fox at Falmouth to assist the Captain there and all necessary instructions can be sent to him.

JOHN GRAY to [LORD DARTMOUTH].

1775, August 4. 7, Orange Street, Leicester Fields.—Offers his Lordship a pamphlet; has marked in the margin the parts that tend to make his reasoning more full and conclusive. “I have endeavoured to overturn the doctrine about Free Gifts; & from the authentic documents of history, hitherto grossly overlooked by our historians, to establish the maxim that Public Supplies are necessary duties. I flatter myself I have put the case of Wales, of Chester, & of the Netherlands, so often absurdly appealed to, in quite a new light; and also the case of Ireland, which has hitherto been the great stumbling block in the argument with the Colonies.” . . . “It has ever been my system to make the Colonies feel la puissance foudroyant of Parliament by Political acts, which would have brought them upon their knees without a single soldier; & I still think that Government can act most powerfully by that Engine. The Colonies are vainly presumptuous of their own resources, therefore it will be in the highest degree mortifying & humiliating to them to feel "that such can vanish at the command of England. Suggests that premiums be given in every county to the farmers who should sow the greatest quantity of wheat. Denies the assertion that the colonists can better afford to lose 20 men than we can, & thinks it would have a good effect if a gratification were given to every survivor of the regiment that first entered the entrenchments at Bunker's Hill. Remarks on the Declaratory Act and further refers his Lordship to his pamphlet. (This pamphlet is not now with the letter.)

Autograph letter signed. 7½ quarto pages.

Endorsed :—J. Gray. Aug. 4, 1775, respecting the Settlement of our Disputes with the Colonies.

J. INGERSALL [INGERSOLL] to JARED INGERSALL.

1775, August 5. Philadelphia.—The miniature picture is still on board ship, and the trunk which contains it must undergo the examination of the Committee of Inspection before he can have it. Times have become so critical that both of them must be careful what they write.

WILLIAM KNOX to [LORD DARTMOUTH].

1775, August 5. Whitehall.—"My dear Lord, Some accounts have been received of your Lordships Friends in Watling Street which shew them to be persons deserving attention. We are promised particulars Tomorrow and when they are received they will be forwarded to your Lordship by a Messenger. There appears to be an intercourse of a nature which ought to be prevented, but I see no way of doing it without a Proclamation declaring the Rebellion." The Article from Philadelphia in the newspaper herewith transmitted has been received by Mr. Blackburn and other American merchants from private correspondents and so considered authentic. He agrees with the 1st proposition thereof respecting trade with America. The only letters for Lord Dartmouth from America are from Governor Wentworth at Fort William.

Autograph letter signed. 3 quarto pages.

Endorsed :—Mr Knox. 5 Aug. —75.

THE REVEREND ROBERT BOUCHER NICKOLLS to [LORD DARTMOUTH].

1775, August 5. London.—Relates his distresses and losses in America during the rebellion, on account of his loyalty. Would be glad of some appointment in Ireland.

Autograph letter signed. 3¼ quarto pages.

SIR JAMES ADOLPHUS OUGHTON to [LORD DARTMOUTH].

1775, August 5. Caroline Park.—Laments the loss of Abercrombie as he was a gallant good officer and a zealous steady friend. Denounces the conduct of the rebels and justifies that of Britain towards them. Future prospects very gloomy but justice authorises and necessity requires present measures. Suggests that if officers were not distinguished by their dress, some of their lives might be spared. Is glad to hear the Canadians are in motion, hopes they will be engaged as regulars in the King's service. Considers Lord Dunmore can ill be spared from his province just now. Would much like a visit from him [Lord Dartmouth].

JOHN POWNALL to [LORD DARTMOUTH].

1775, August 5. Whitehall.—Considers Ingersoll's letter and that of Lee's correspondent deserve attention; thinks the original of the former should be detained and the latter narrowly watched. "The Lodgers at the Hotel in Watling Street have been watched & pumped by a discreet & proper person employed by Lord Rochford, they prove to be as stated in the Letter you left with me, french officers from the West Indies, by the way of North America; they do not conceal that they have been in Putnam's Camp, but they speak of him and his troops in a most despicable Light, and say that but for their advice they would have made an Attempt that would have ruined them. If this be true I don't think we are much obliged to the Gentlemen. They further say that there is at least 200 able Officers & Engineers of all countrys now here endeavouring to get passages to North America. A few days ago the Society at the Hotel was increased by the addition of a french officer from France, who got out of his Chaise at Westminster Bridge took a Hackney Coach, and went both to the Spanish and french Embassadours—in a few days we shall probably know more and be able to judge what is fit to be done." Mr Pownall thinks a Proclamation for suppressing the Rebellion ought to be issued soon.

Autograph letter signed. 4 quarto pages.

*Endorsed :—*Mr Pownall 5 Aug—75.

WILLIAM PIERIE, 1st Lieutenant Royal Regiment of Artillery, to LORD DARTMOUTH.

1775, August 5. No. 4, Little Titchfield Street, Cavendish Square, London.—Considers from long experience and acquaintance with America he could be of good service there. His plans, drawings and mode of operations of and for that country have been seen and approved of by Colonel Phillips, his talents are known to Lord Townshend and General Harvey and he is no stranger to Generals Gage and Howe. Has written a similar letter to Lord North.

Autograph letter signed. 2 quarto pages.

*Endorsed :—*Lieut<sup>t</sup> Pierie 5 Aug. 1775, desiring to serve as an Engineer in America.

GEORGE BRYAN to HUGH WILLIAMSON, M.D.

1775, August 6. Philadelphia.—Mr Cox is returned from the Temple having left London on the 8th June but brought no intelligence from there. General Gage and his brother officers muster about 7000 men. Most of the wounded at Bunker's Hill have since died from sickness owing to want of suitable provisions. No attempt being made to break through their blockaders round Boston. Preparations made by their foes to prevent the Regulars taking any neighbouring island. Proceedings of both parties in Canada. A sloop of war the "Nautilus" is at Newcastle but the Captain needs help before he dare provoke hostilities. A good supply of gunpowder has arrived, and more is expected. Reported differences between General Gage, the Admiral and other officers.

STEPHEN CERONIO to MESSRS. MARSH REEVE and Co.

1775, August 6. Philadelphia.—The restraining Act of Parliament took place on the 20th of last July and now they can only ship to England, Ireland and the West Indies until the 10th September next, when Congress will totally stop such exportation. Wishes for a solid and undisturbed peace. An excellent harvest gathered in, but regrets Britain cannot share it.

J. G. to THOMAS CHARLES WILLIAMS.

1775, August 6. New York.—Addressed to the care of Mess<sup>rs</sup> Williams Teb and Williams, London. The spirit of liberty is spreading, even the Germans have caught it. Philadelphia is perfecting in the military art and life and property are freely sacrificed. The only hope of reconciliation is from the strong disposition on Britain's part to heal the differences. No account from England since 1 June. Abraham Van Vleek has imprudently been concerned in shipping provisions to Nantucket contrary to the recommendation of Congress; he has published a most humiliating handbill and offered to give sloop and cargo to the poor to pass himself unmolested. Implores him to write nothing he would not like all the world to read.

IS. FOSTER to MAJOR ROBERT ROGERS.

1775, August 8. Clifford's Inn.—Communication between Carver and Mr Whitworth, the former expects to be appointed Superintendent of Indian affairs through the interest of the latter. Advises him to be careful in his letters to Whitworth, Carver and Dacosta for some things look suspicious in their affairs. Has tried to obtain from Atherton Captain Abbot's address but without success. "Whenever Atherton mentions your name it is with the greatest Disrespect & contempt." Carver and Dacosta have finished a new plan of Boston at the request of Whitworth. If any doubt exists of going upon the intended expedition, begs to be recommended to Mr Mitchell, Secretary of the East India Company, for an employment in that service.

WILLIAM MOLLESON to [LORD DARTMOUTH].

1775, August 10. America Square.—"This day, for the first time, I received a Letter from a Member of the Congress,":—This letter is written cautiously but gives assurances that something will be offered by Congress to bring about peace and harmony between the two countries and in the meantime prevent the further effusion of blood. Is unacquainted with the nature of these proposals but hopes they will be such as Britain can accept.

JOHN MOORE to MESSRS. DAVIS STRACHAN AND CO.

1775, August 10. New York —"I must be so candid, Gentlemen, as to tell you that this Bill of £400 inclosed is nearly my All." The miserable situation of the country compels him to commit to their hands as a place of safety this little pittance for further exigencies, as it is the means of support for a family which may soon be helpless.

Extract. Intercepted.  $\frac{2}{3}$  folio page.

CHRISTOPHER STARBUCK AND CO. to GEORGE HAYLEY.

1775, August 10. Nantucket.—Recommends William Vassal as a man of honour and integrity and well acquainted with all public affairs in this country as well as the distressed state of this island.

R. GORDON to [ ].

1775, August 12. Corke.—From intercourse with people from America and letters received from others, gives what he considers the exact state of affairs in that country, particularly at Boston on the 14th July, adding details of Bunker's Hill and the movements of both armies since that action, also why the troops are in need of provisions.

Copy. 4 $\frac{1}{4}$  folio pages.

CAPTAIN E. LE CRAS to MR. LE CRAS, Merchant, London.

1775, August 13. Boston.—Is in a great hurry having received orders to go to Halifax to stop his leaks. Laments the deplorable state of affairs. Fears the rebels are beforehand with them in military preparations. Sickness and famine reducing their army; he personally is better off, and will take care to lay in a stock at Halifax in case of emergency. The rebels have many privateers at sea and have taken a Government schooner the "Diligent." Considers it will be hard work to conquer them by military force, suggests it could be easier done by leaving them to themselves and cutting off their trade from every place.

A. PEPPERRELL to LORD DARTMOUTH.

1775, August 13. Boston.—Doubts not he has received dispatches acquainting of the unhappy situation of General Gage and his army shut up in Boston, and surrounded by 20,000 rebels who are devastating with fire and sword the lives and property of all who oppose their measures. Sir William's property and his own have both been seized by them and devoted to their own use. It is believed that the town cannot be held much longer without more troops, as the army is much reduced by sickness. His personal discomfort from want of suitable food in the long and fatiguing passage of ten weeks without vegetables.

WALTER BARRELL to JOSEPH GREEN.

1775, August 14. Boston.—Addressed to the care of Messrs. Champion, Dickason and Company, Merchants in London. Has been in a very disagreeable state of frequent alarms in the night since his last. Relates some of the foolish proceedings of the rebels, especially in regard to setting fire to the Light-house. Has taken measures to preserve Green's house from destruction. Refers to two letters from John Adams to J. Warren and Mrs. Adams showing the desire of the Americans to be independent. Considering the uncertainty of war and the enthusiasm of the rebels, he questions whether Great Britain will overcome them either now or at all.

JOHN POWNALL to [LORD DARTMOUTH].

1775, August 15. Whitehall.—Has not yet heard anything more of Mr. Penn or of the petition he is said to bring. Is anxious to see this petition as he is much worried about the proclamation which he wished postponed till his Lordship's return to town, but Lord North desired to see the draft thereof to send to the Attorney and Solicitor General for revision, so sent it to Mr. Robinson who to-day returns it with the enclosed note. Intends giving the note and proclamation to Lord Suffolk to-morrow and proposing that publication thereof should be deferred until Mr. Penn's petition has been seen.

TIMOTHY NEWMARCH to GOVERNOR TRAPAUD.

1775, August 17. St. John's near Montreal.—They are now employed in fortifying this place, it is the Key of Canada, the enemy sometimes comes near them, but he does not think they will have sufficient courage to attack them. They (he and others) are building two schooners and a row galley, and when these are completed there will be an expedition up the Lake.

R. ROSS to ROBERT WOODGATE, Golden Square.

1775, August 17. Camp on the Heights of Charles Town.—Hopes the vacancies which have happened both in America and at home will entitle him to full pay as a Captain. Thinks England will never settle the war by pursuing the present measures, but by withdrawing her troops and stopping trade they (the Americans) might be reduced to reason and be glad to accept any terms offered them.

Extract. Intercepted.  $1\frac{1}{4}$  folio pages.

T. WALKER to LIEUTENANT BEAZLEY, Dover.

1775, August 17. "Somerset" at Boston.—The English army is so reduced by sickness that it is unable to force and penetrate into the country where the enemy is well fortified in great numbers. Is glad of the opportunity of going to Halifax as much suffering is experienced at Boston from starvation and neglect. States the consequences he fears will result from present measures, and remarks on the disposition of the Americans.

GOVERNOR LORD WILLIAM CAMPBELL to LORD DARTMOUTH.

1775, August 19, Charles Town.—No. 5. "We are now in such a situation I cannot attempt to send duplicates of my last letters, as I must be under the necessity of letting this Mail take its chance in a defenceless Packet Boat, for I cannot in our present State send the poor solitary, worm eaten Sloop we have got here, out of the Harbour, as I may now expect the next packet every day, & I am still in hopes of hearing from Gen<sup>l</sup> Gage, and the Admiral soon. Your Lordship will I am afraid imagine I dwell too much, & too warmly on the wretched state we are left in here, but my zeal for the King's Service my thorough conviction of the ill consequences that has attended the total neglect of this Province, as well as Georgia, & N. Carolina, will not suffer me to remain silent. Since my arrival here, I have seen Georgia a Province at present, of the last consequence to the W. India Islands, warp'd from its duty by a very insignificant internal faction, aided by the people in this Province. The friends of Government here have been so sunk, so abandon'd to despair, for some time, that it is hardly possible to make them believe the British Nation is determined to assert their just rights over the Colonies, & it is to very little purpose I mention the great force to the Northward, when it is not in my power to produce a single line from either of the Commanders in that part of America, to enable me to contradict the numberless falsehoods which are every day propagated, & which does more mischief than I can express. This is a very disagreeable subject for me to dwell on, but my Duty requires I should represent the true state of this Province, and of my unfortunate Vicinage of N. Carolina, & Georgia, which is equally neglected, equally abandon'd. Your Lordship will I am sure excuse my warmth when I acquaint you, that yesterday under colour of Law, they hanged & burned, an unfortunate wretch, a Free Negroe of considerable property, one of the most valuable, & useful men in his way, in the Province, on suspicion of instigating an Insurrection, for which I am convinced there was not the least ground. I could not save him My Lord! the very reflection Harrows my Soul! I have only the comfort to think I left no means untried to preserve him. They have now dipt their hands in Blood, God Almighty knows where it will end, but I am determined to remain till the last extremity in hopes to promote the King's Service, 'tho my familys being here, adds not a little to my distress. Another Act of Barbarity, tho happily not of so tragical a Nature was committed a few days ago, on a poor man the Gunner of Fort Johnson, who for expressing his Loyalty was tarr'd, & feather'd 10 or 12 times, in different parts of the Town, & otherwise treated with great cruelty, stopping him at the doors of those Crown Officers who were most obnoxious; & the Mob so grossly insulted Mr Milligen in particular who is Surgeon to the Forts, & Garrisons in this Province, that he was under a necessity of taking refuge on board the King's Ship till the Packet Boat sails. I intend committing this Packet to the care of Mr Milligen who I hope will have the honor of delivering it to Your Lordship. I beg leave to introduce him as a most honourable, worthy man, who has lived many years in this Province beloved, and respected by all ranks, till his Zeal for the King's service in these unhappy times, made him obnoxious to the Mob. This Gentleman is perfectly acquainted with the state of the Province, & I can assure Your Lordship you may put entire confidence in his Honor & Veracity. I enclose with this a Letter I rec<sup>d</sup> from Coll. Fletchal with my answer: sorry am I to find myself unable to protect, or assist the King's Loyal Subjects here, it is a cruel mortification. I also send my answer to an Address from a society of Quakers, in the back part of the Country; they consist of about 300 family's, & are warmly attached to Government. Your Lordship will likewise receive a Copy of an Oath tender'd to all those who refused to sign the Association, my own private Secretary not excepted, & a message I sent to the Assembly some days ago, with their answer, all which will plainly convince Your Lordship on what ticklish Ground we stand here. The Armed Vessel that was fitted out from this Port has seized a quantity of powder, part of it the property of His Maj<sup>y</sup> on board a Ship lying off Augustine Bar in E. Florida, & carried it to Beaufort in this Province. Last sunday 30 of the Militia of this Town were sent to convey it here, & I am told that by one means or other, they have amass'd great quantities of warlike stores, ammunition particularly, which they can easily do, as there is no force by Sea, or Land to prevent them, & they allow Rice to be exported on no other terms, but paying in Arms, & Ammunition. The new raised Troops which are quarter'd in the Barracks may be near 800 consisting of Vagabonds & Thieves of all Countries, & the Charles Town Militia may be pretty near the same number. The Reg<sup>t</sup> of Horse was to be raised in the back Country; but I am told the levies there have been much check'd by Fletchal, Robinson, & one Cunningham, mention'd by Coll. Fletchal in his letter, who is a very active man, & remarkably spirited. Mr Milligan will give Your Lordship a very particular account of these matters that have fallen within his knowledge, as he is sensible, and intelligent. As the fate of the Crown Officers is not determined by the Comm<sup>e</sup>, if Mr Innes is forced from me, which I will endeavor by all means to prevent, he has offer'd at any risk, to endeavor an escape into the back Country, join Co<sup>l</sup> Fletchal & endeavor to maintain his ground at Fort Charlotte, in concert with Mr Cameron the Dep<sup>y</sup> Superintendent, but I will not now think of that Scheme. I have the Honor to be with the most perfect Regard, My Lord Your Lordship's most Obliged & most Obed<sup>t</sup> H<sup>ble</sup> Serv<sup>t</sup> William Campbell.

"N.B.—I shall encourage the King's faithful Subjects as much as is in my power I can do no more. Some expence may be incurr'd by my Orders to Coll. Fletchal, I have no power to do it, but I cannot hesitate at such a juncture."

In the hand of Secretary Innes, signed by Lord William Campbell.

— GRAVES* to THOMAS GRAVES at Thaneke, near Plymouth.

1775, August 21. "Preston."—"I take this opportunity of writing to you by a Transport which carries home Mrs. Gage." Regrets to state that he fears the two commands do not draw together as well as is desirable for the sake of the service. Thinks his uncle pays too much attention to a parcel of sycophants, who are constantly about him; "Old Hartwell" and Le Cras have too much ear of him. His uncle is also in disrepute with the army. There has been a disagreeable affair between the Admiral and Mr. Halowell, Commissioner of Customs, which was tried by court-martial, the sentence being "An error in judgment for disobedience of orders and neglect of duty."

CONGRESS to the KING.

Petition. Representing that the union between the mother country and the colonies has been broken by a system of statutes and regulations made by His Majesty's ministers and enforced by hostile measures, and beseeching him to interpose with his royal authority and influence to procure them relief from that system and to direct some mode by which the applications of his faithful colonists may be improved into a happy and permanent reconciliation.

JOHN POWNALL to LORD DARTMOUTH.

1775, August 21.—Affairs in America appear to be as bad as possible. Has received a report of the defeat of the rebels on 14 July, but the enclosed copy of a letter from Corke seems to refute the intelligence. No news yet of Mr. Penn or his petition.

FRANCIS STUART to THOMAS CHEAP, Bedford Row.

1775, August 21. Quebec.—The evil influence over the Canadians of some villains here disaffected to Government. Need of re-inforcement of troops and of examples to be made of those who oppose Government. A Highland Volunteer Regiment is being raised to serve during the present disturbances. Fifteen hundred Indians are anxious to go down upon the Bostonian Rebels, but are forbidden. Considers the Americans deserve no clemency as they are more savage than the Indians. Wishes lenient measures had never been adopted towards them.

DAVID BARCLAY to LORD DARTMOUTH.

1775, 8th mo: (August) 23d. Youngsbury, near Ware.—From a persuasion that Lord Dartmouth will not think it impertinent, is induced to intimate various opinions concerning the reception of the petition and the consequences that will result therefrom. He has received information on good authority that the Petition from the Congress was carried through by those who are heartily and most zealously inclined for conciliation, and every expression which could be considered exceptionable was studiously avoided. Others think it too humiliating. It is feared that if it meets with the same reception as former applications for redress, the effects will be to inflame the minds of those who yet remain moderate and make the breach irreparable. "They say, they have been told from high Authority, that if their Assemblies would petition separately, all their real Grievances should be redressed; but they say also, that from Authority nearly equal, they have been inform'd their Cause is prejudged, by calling their Greivances pretended & not real. They think from the Reception of the New York Memorial there is no disposition, on this Side, for Reconciliation, & if my Information is well grounded, which I have reason to believe it is, Nothing can exceed their Firmness and Unanimity; nor any thing be more affecting than the present Prospect." Dr. Smith's sermon shews the temper of the times and that it is not Dissenters only who are warm in the cause. Nothing but an anxious concern for the re-establishment of peace and tranquillity would have induced him to trouble Lord Dartmouth.

SIR JAMES ADOLPHUS OUGHTON to [LORD DARTMOUTH].

1775, August 24. Caroline Park.—“Am heartily glad that the Eyes of People begin to be open'd, and their Spirits roused. Nothing but the most wilfull and obstinate Blindness can prevent their seeing that the two Actions near Boston were the consequences of a long pre-meditated, regular, and well laid Plan; nor need any General, whom I have the Honour of knowing, be ashamed either of the Dispositions for Battle, or Blockade of the Town; which appear to me Masterly. Those who believe them to be the result of chance or hasty Resolutions are capable of believing anything. We hear much talk of conciliatory Proposals from the Congress, and Suspensions of Arms. The one must be fallacious, the other pernicious to the last degree: the Purport of both to gain time. The Congress I see have assumed the Republican Title; and, I doubt not, are pretty far advanced in their Plan of Government; the Winter may ripen it into a consistancy not easily to be dissolved. Their Army want to get in their Harvist, sow their Grounds, and prepare for the next campaign. Treating with Rebels, while they have Arms in their Hands, would demonstrate a Weakness in Government which no Victory could compensate for. If they are sincere let them lay down their Arms, and implore Pardon: if they refuse to do that they mean to deceive; and, though they may pretend to disclaim Independancy, they assume it in the strongest Manner, if they expect to treat upon equal Terms with a Sovereign against whom they are in actual Rebellion and a Nation whose Power and Authority they absolutely disclaim. No Terms which do not establish their Independance will be adhered to longer than suits their present necessities ; and we shall find them much more formidable when we are next obliged to enter the Lists with them. At present we have it in our Power to reduce them by dint of Distress, and nothing else will make them submit."

THOMAS JEFFERSON to [ ].

1775, August 25. Monticello.—"Dear Sir, I received your message by mr. Braxton & immediately gave him an order on the Treasurer for the money, which the Treasurer assured me should be answered on his return. I now send the bearer for the violin & such musick appurtenant to her as may be of no use to the young ladies. I believe you had no case to her, if so, be so good as to direct Watt Lenox to get from Prentis's some bags or other coarse woollen to wrap her in, & then to pack her securely in a wooden box.

I am sorry the situation of our country should render it not eligible to you to remain longer in it. I hope the returning wisdom of Great Britain will e'er long put an end to this unnatural contest. there may be people to whose tempers & dispositions Contention may be pleasing, & who may therefore wish a continuance of confusion, but to me it is of all states, but one, the most horrid my first wish is a restoration of our just rights ; my second a return of the happy period when, consistently with duty, I may withdraw myself totally from the public stage & pass the rest of my days in domestic ease & tranquillity, banishing every desire of afterwards ever hearing what passes in the world, perhaps ardour for the latter may add considerably to the warmth of the former wish. looking with fondness towards a reconciliation with Great Britain, I cannot help hoping you may be able to contribute towards expediting this good work. I think it must be evident to yourself that the ministry have been deceived by their officers on this side the water who (for what purposes I cannot tell) have constantly represented the American opposition as that of a small faction ; in which the body of the people took little part. this you can inform them of your own knolege to be untrue. they have taken it into their heads too that we are cowards & shall surrender at discretion to an armed force. the past & future operations of the war must confirm & undeceive them on that head. I wish they were thoroughly & minutely acquainted with every circumstance relative to America as it exists in truth. I am persuaded this would go far towards disposing them to reconciliation. even those in parliament who are called friends to America seem to know nothing of our real determinations. I observe they pronounced in the last parliament that the Congress of 1774 did not mean to insist vigorously on the terms they held out, but kept something in reserve to give up; & in fact that they would give up everything but the article of taxation. now the truth is far from this, as I can affirm, & put my honor to the assertion; & their continuance in this error may perhaps have very ill consequences. the Congress stated the lowest terms they thought possible to be accepted in order to convince the world they were not unreasonable. they gave up the monopoly & regulation of trade, & all the acts of parliament prior to 1764, leaving to British generosity to render these at some future time as easy to America as the interest of Britain would admit, but this was before blood was spilt. I cannot affirm, but have reason to think, these terms would not now be accepted. I wish no false sense of honor, no ignorance of our real intentions, no vain hope that partial concessions of right will be accepted may induce the ministry to trifle with accomodation till it shall be put even out of our own power ever to accomodate. if indeed Great Britain, disjoined from her colonies, be a match for the most potent nations of Europe with the colonies thrown into their scale, they may go on securely. but if they are not assured of this, it would be certainly unwise, by trying the event of another campaign, to risque our accepting a foreign aid which perhaps may not be obtainable but on a condition of everlasting avulsion from Great Britain. this would be thought a hard condition to those who still wish for reunion with their parent country. I am sincerely one of those, & would rather be in dependance on Great Britain, properly limited, than on any nation upon earth, or than on no nation. but I am one of those too who rather than submit to the right of legislating for us assumed by the British parliament, & which late experience has shewn they will so cruelly exercise, would lend my hand to sink the whole island in the ocean.

If undeceiving the minister as to matters of fact may change his dispositions, it will perhaps be in your power by assisting to do this, to render service to the whole empire, at the most critical time certainly that it has ever seen. whether Britain shall continue the head of the greatest empire on earth, or shall return to her original station in the political scale of Europe depends perhaps on the resolutions of the succeeding winter. god send they may be wise & salutary for us all!

I shall be glad to hear from you as often as you may be disposed to think of things here. you may be at liberty I expect to communicate some things consistently with your honor & the duties you will owe to a protecting nation. such a communication among individuals may be mutually beneficial to the contending parties. on this or any future occasion if I affirm to you any facts, your knolege of me will enable you to decide on their credibility; if I hazard opinions on the dispositions of men, or other speculative points, you can only know they are my opinions. My best wishes for your felicity attend you wherever you go, & believe me to be assuredly Your friend & serv<sup>t</sup>.

P.S. my collection of classics & of books of parliamentary learning particularly is not so complete as I could wish. as you are going to the land of literature & of books you may be willing to dispose of some of yours here & replace them there in better editions. I should be willing to treat on this head with any body you may think proper to empower for that purpose."

SIR JAMES ADOLPHUS OUGHTON to [LORD DARTMOUTH].

1775. August 25. Caroline Park.—Sees with regret the obstinacy with which the Bostonians persist in refusing obedience to the British Legislature but sees at the same time the absolute necessity for persevering in those judicious measures which have been adopted to bring them to a sense of their duty. The smallest relaxation would now be fatal. Their spirits are kept up at present by their factious leaders and preachers, by the seditious papers and hopes of a change of measures “which our Opposition here flatters them with at the opening of a new Parliament. That they not only aspire at Independency, but flatter themselves with the Hopes of a Separate Sovereignty, has been long known, nor have they scrupled to avoid it. . . It is to our interest to nip those hopes in the bud; sensible men however fond of the idea must see the Absurdity of it, and that their Utopian State can never exist but in the interior wilds of that vast continent, while Britain is Master of the Fleet.” Returns thanks for his interposition with Lord North “in behalf of our Chapple”; had mentioned in a former letter that the sum required for purchasing a pew in perpetuity and filling it up properly was £200; encloses receipt for whatever his L<sup>dp</sup> may be so good as to bestow.

INFORMATION obtained from two FRENCH OFFICERS.

[1775, August.]--Paper not signed, dated nor addressed. Endorsed "Intelligence." "What I have been able to collect from the two French Officers by employing every art and all the Address I am Master of, amounts to what follows:—

" 1st. That they have been over great part of the American Continent, particularly at Philadelphia, at New York, Rhode Island, and New England, which with their stay in and about Boston, would have required more time to perform than the three Months they say they remained in America.

" 2d. That they are particularly acquainted with Putnam and Ward. —the first they represent to be a good natured Civil and brave old Soldier—but a head strong, ignorant and stupid General—Ward they hold indeed very cheap.

" That they were both in person at the Affair of Lexington, and from circumstances they cited, I am induced to think that they were present at the Affair of the 17th.

" 4. That they were courted by the Rebels to stay amongst them, and were offered forty Pounds p Month each, of pay—they say they did not think such Offers solid, nor did they like the paper Currency.

" 5. That there are at least 200 french amongst the Troops of the Rebels, who acted as Artillerists and Engineers, which numbers may be augmented since they came away.

" 6. That the Rebel Officers in general are perfectly ignorant of their business, and they esteem them men of very moderate, or rather mean parts,—but the private men are well trained to the handling of Arms, and remarkably well armed, particularly in the Articles of Firelocks and Bayonets.

" 7. That they saw the Fortifications on the Posts of Roxbury and Cambridge and also the Park of Artillery the Rebels have in the neighbourhood of the last place consisting of Canons, Mortars and Howitzers, concerning the quality of which they do not agree—Le Comte de Beauvoulair says,—they are equal in quality and Bore to those employed in Europe, and he only found them defective in the Article of the Carriages, which he said are of a bad Construction.—his friend the Engineer (whom I heard called Le Chev<sup>r</sup> d'Ambroise) held the Artillery rather cheap in general, but particularly the Mortars which are small.—they both agreed that the Rebels were in want of Ammunition, particularly of powder, and insinuated that they might be greatly distressed by being Canonaded from Posts well chosen and properly fortified.

" 8. That during their stay in America, Seven french Ships, masked under English Colours came into different ports with Ammunition &c. and that these Ships would have risked an Engagement rather than Submit to be visited by a small Ship of War, had they been met by one.

" 9. That the Americans expected French and Spanish Officers and Engineers, also Powder &c. to be carried over from time to time in small numbers and small quantities, not only by Ships directly from England & our West Indies, but by French and Spanish Ships from their Islands, such Ships to appear to be American property, and to be manned chiefly with American Sailors, that the European Courts may not be detected, should such Ships be taken.

" 10. That the common people in America have been worked up to a pitch of enthusiastick phrensy that is beyond conception, and such was their Confidence (when they came away) that they were convinced His Majesty's Troops would be entirely defeated, and driven on board the Ships in less than two Months, and indeed the Rebel Chiefs employed every Art to keep up their Spirit and enforce such Ideas, some of which they themselves were witness to, such as making their own people put on English Regimentals and come into the Camp in the Character of Officers and Soldiers deserting from His Majesty's Troops, and one Man personated a Member of Parliament.—but that the Chiefs begun to despond, and to reflect on the Consequences of their Rebellion, which in time might drive them to call in foreign Succours, which is the situation France and Spain look out for.

“ 11. Lastly, that it appears to them both, the Americans had no settled, regular, well digested plan, that there exists among their Chiefs more Jealousy than unanimity: that many of the Settlers, and mostly all the Commercial people of Substance, begun to be tired of the present situation, and that they (the two french Officers) thought it probable Government would fall on Methods to disunite them, which if employed with success, would necessarily facilitate a reconciliation.

“ By stimulating the pride of Monsieur Le Comte de Beauvoulair in the moment that some Vin de Champagne produced the desired effect on his prudence, he told me that he had had two Audiences of Le Comte de Guines; that his Excellency had made him great offers of Service and had asked him twice to dinner, which for particular Reasons he had not profited of, but that his Brother (the Gentleman who lost his trunk and who returned to France on Saturday) dined with the Ambassador on Thursday, which prevented his dining with me, and being of the party to Greenwich. My Opinion is that the two french Officers are at this Instant in the Service of the Rebel Americans, and are paid by them; that they came over either with proposals to the Courts of France and Spain, or some other Commission in the American Interests, and that they intend to return to their Employers by means of some English Ship. They hinted to me that they were not alone of their kind in London. They mentioned a Spanish Officer in the Sea Service, who speaks English very well, and who Lodges at Lime House, and as we passed the Frigates and Transport Ships sitting out at Deptford, they told me they were intended for America, and appeared well informed of every particular relative to the affairs of America.”

1775, August 18.—Letter from N. B. to Mr Statuwell (qy. Hatwell) to the care of Mrs Leslie. "Dear Friend I received yours and I make no doubt of the Widows punctuality, its only your fears that makes you apprehend the Seal being cracked is only your anxiety." Is now at the D. of N's who assures him the money is at a moment's warning and if his Highness had received the intelligence once of the landing at Milford Haven, the day will be their own. Has received a letter from D. of Q. and proposes her taking a house in the country. All is going on according to their wishes and she states "that George looks very sour mouthed especially at his regiments."

RICHARD FORD and COMPANY to WALTER FRANKLIN, New York.

1775, September 2. London.—"We are sorry to see your Americans go from one state of Madness to another." They are taking great pains to destroy themselves, for such must result from their present conduct. The partner of their firm has been appointed British Consul at Baña. Notwithstanding the restrictions laid upon their commerce, any ship dispatched from New York to Falmouth for orders may proceed afterwards with her cargo to any European port.

CHANDLER.

1775, September 2. Trenton.—The people in general are beginning to think more seriously of the probable consequence of the dispute, but there is no relaxation in military preparations and the same unanimity prevails. He supposes England knows that the country is entirely out of her hands, and that no civil officer can exert any power unless directed by Congress.

Extract. Intercepted.  $\frac{3}{4}$  folio page. [This, with other intercepted letters in this month, was found in a wrapper marked—Communications from Mr Todd Oct. 11.]

MOSES FRANKS TO JOHN HARRIS CRUGER.

1775, September 4. Teddington.—Is uncertain how long communication will be allowed them. Has noted well his letter of 5 July on business in general, yet finds remittances come from Philadelphia, Virginia and even Boston, so hopes New York will not stand alone in forbearance. "What has private Faith, Credit, and confidential Trust to do with the publick Disagreement?" Asks him to apply this thought to someone whose name he will not mention as he knows all letters are opened. Private affairs. Has recently seen Mr. Penn with the petition from Congress.

Copy. Intercepted.  $1\frac{1}{2}$  folio pages. [This, with the following and several other intercepted letters in this month, was found in a wrapper marked—Secret from Mr T—d.]

MOSES FRANKS to the HONOURABLE OLIVER DE LANCEY,
New York.

1775, September 4. Teddington.—"I wish I could tell you anything agreeable from this Side relative to the unhappy Differences between this Country and yours." Fears little more is left than a communication of good wishes as no proclamation can impede such or offence be taken from them. Government regrets "that there ever existed Spirits discordant enough to seek importance in confusion."

Extract. Intercepted.  $\frac{2}{3}$  folio page.

A. PEPPERRELL to LORD DARTMOUTH.

1775, September 4. Portsmouth.—Gives an account of the examination to which he was subjected on his arrival at Portsmouth and he is now confined in the town till matters are more settled. Disturbed state of the country, especially at Boston and Portsmouth. Could live peaceably here if he acted as deceitfully as some others do. Desires some appointment.

J. ROBERTSON to ISAAC WILKINS.

1775, September 4. Wt. Chester.—“My Friend S—y spent the Afternoon with me last Saturday, but seemed plaguily down in the Mouth.” He fears lest the Provincial troops should make a conquest of all Canada where General Carleton is but weak in numbers. General Montgomery is gone from Ticonderoga with 2,400 men to attack St. Johns and is to be re-inforced with others. Schuyler is at Ticonderoga and two battalions of York soldiers have gone up commanded by Major Ritzmore and Major Zedwitz.

[ ] to the REVEREND DOCTOR MYLES COOPER or to ISAAC WILKINS.

1775, September 4.—The writer wishes he were with them in England. Persecution of the Tories in America. Has heard that the Lord Mayor of London had obliged the King to declare that no more troops should be sent there, wishes none had been sent unless with a better commander. Presbyterians in New York petitioned for a charter and G——r has favoured their request. Seabury does not write, as it would be prejudicial to him if it were known he kept up correspondence with such Tories. Has advised him to follow Auch——y’s (Auchmuty’s) example. Fears if some severe check is not soon given, officers of the Crown and friends of Government will be seized as hostages and afterwards either accommodation with Great Britain be settled or Independency proclaimed. Would like to know what they can expect from England so as personally to act accordingly.

GILBERT BARKLY to WILLIAM STRAHAN.

1775, September 5. Philadelphia.—“The Situation of Affairs in this Country is in the same inflamed manner it has been for some time past.” The King’s troops continue at Boston and the Provincials are strongly encamped near. It is expected they will keep on the defensive in hopes of some success attending the last petition to the King. Is well acquainted with many of the provincial members of the Congress and has assisted in composing the petition and if commissioners are appointed to settle differences hopes to be of further service. Asks that the enclosed may be forwarded to Grey Cooper.

JOHN POWNALL to LORD DARTMOUTH.

1775, September 5.—Signifying the King's approval of the orders contained in the draft of a letter to General Howe. Lieutenant-Colonel James who delivered a dispatch from General Gage, left Boston on 30 July when the Rebels were collecting their whole force and he thinks they mean an attack on Boston, which the Generals were preparing to prevent. "Disease has I find long prevailed in our Camp and desertion the Consequence of despair had begun to take place." Apologises for opening the private letter from General Burgoyne.

Autograph letter signed. 2½ quarto pages.

*Endorsed:—*Mr Pownall, Sept. 1775, relative to Dispatches recd from Boston, &c.

JOSHUA STEELE to LORD DARTMOUTH.

1775, September 5. Margaret Street, Cavendish Square.—The enclosed plan has long been the subject of his thoughts as he foresaw the tempest. Had sounded some of the American Agents on the practicability of such a mode of Government eleven years ago and believes it would still be received with cordial sincerity. Assures his Lordship he is no less actuated by the Amor Patriæ, than by the concern he is under for his West Indian property which suffers from loss of the American markets.

Autograph letter signed. 2 quarto pages.

*Endorsed:—*Mr Steele, 5th Sept. 1775. With a Speculation for a new Constitution.

Enclosure:—

Plan for a new Constitution for America. In Steele's hand. Believes the present differences have arisen from the various constructions put upon the word Constitution. Traces its meaning from their history, and views it in various positions and at different periods. Propositions for the future government of America.

WALTER and THOMAS BUCHANAN and Co. to GEORGE and JOHN BUCHANAN, Glasgow.

1775, September 6. New York.—The Snow "Peggy" is not arrived. They are informed she has goods for Georgia but expect she will not be allowed to land them as that state has come into the association of the rest of the provinces. Dreadful consequences will ensue if conciliatory measures are not soon agreed upon. Earnest wishes for a speedy reconciliation.

T. B. CHANDLER to the REVEREND MR. INGLIS, New York.

1775, September 6. London.—No prospect of change of measures here. Stocks in a flourishing state and manufacturers fully employed. The newspapers abound with the most indecent reflexions upon Government and the grossest misrepresentations of facts. Shows how both sides have been deceived by false accounts. Thinks, now that things are better understood, it is time to negotiate. If no accommodation is made, more vigorous measures will be taken to reduce the Colonies as he has been assured that fifty millions of money can be raised to carry on the war if necessary.

JOHN COXE to JAMES BOGLE FRENCH, Swithins Lane, London.

1775, September 6. Philadelphia.—This port will be shut up on the 10th of this month and the merchants are preparing to leave the harbour. The people are in good spirits and soldiers to a man, they are taking precautions to save the city, which is difficult to be got at, and will soon be out of the reach of a British Navy.

WILLIAM DONALDSON to PETER N. B. LIVINGSTON, New York.

1775, September 6. London.—He fears, by their having red wax over the black wafer, that his letters of 23 June have been opened ere they reached him. Is concerned at the present critical and alarming situation. Private intercourse is rendered precarious by such conduct as above and a proclamation which has lately been issued here.

JACOB FRANKS to MOSES LEVY, Newport, Rhode Island.

1775, September 6. London.—The circumstances of the times and the late proclamation forbid his sending money to America; will therefore keep it for Levy's disposal unless he desires to put it into hands less scrupulous.

ALEXANDER GILLON to EDWARD VAN HARTHALS.

1775, September 6. New York.—The Continental Congress which was to meet again yesterday will doubtless continue their spirited opposition tho' ready to accept any tolerable proposals. Wishes peace and prosperity might again be restored then England will feel the benefits of American trade. Sets out for Philadelphia to-morrow and hopes to go to Carolina the 15th of next month.

Extract. Intercepted. ¾ folio page. [This and the three foregoing were originally within wrappers marked as having been received from Mr Todd, Secretary to the Post Office.]

VICE-ADMIRAL GRAVES to PHILIP STEPHENS.

1775, September 6. Boston.—“Lieut. Grant's Letters contain very long Accounts of the People of Georgia's Proceedings in sending Delegates to the Congress, tumultuously assembling in the Cause of Liberty, threatening those who do not join them, and even vowing to destroy the St. John Schooner. But we are so accustomed to this Language and Treatment, that I will not trouble you with the relation of what Mr. Grant experienced at Savannah.”

Extract. ½ folio page. [The signed letter is in the Public Record Office, series Admirals Despatches, North America, Vol. 6.]

WILLIAM STRAHAN to DOCTOR BENJAMIN FRANKLIN.

1775, September 6. London.—Regrets to hear matters are thought to have gone too far for an accommodation and that things tend towards a separation. Consequences of such to America. Considers she will suffer more in a few years of contest than the amount of all the taxes the British Parliament would have imposed on her for a century. Has read the last petition to the King; it appears to be written in loose terms and after he (Franklin) was convinced that words and arguments were of no use. Thinks America has more reason to dread being enslaved by some of her own citizens than by the British Senate and that the contest will greatly endanger these very liberties they have taken up arms to defend.

Extract. Intercepted. (From Mr Todd.) 1½ folio pages.

GOVERNOR WILLIAM TRYON to LORD DARTMOUTH.

1775, September 6. New York.—Private. Introduces Captain Foy, representing his persecution by the malignity of the times. Estimated strength of Provincials at Ticonderoga and reported future movements. Five hundred Indians have been at Albany to receive the presents sent them by the Continental Congress, it is thought they will preserve a neutrality. Guy Johnson forced to flee to Canada and Franklin rumoured as successor. Colonel Lewis Morris is gone to Pittsburgh to engage the Indians there. The enclosed letter he received from a person of credit, and has “communicated the contents to Governor Franklin and principal crown officers, which has embarrassed many in their resolutions.”

Autograph letter signed. 4 quarto pages.

Enclosure:—

1775, August 22. Rhode Island.—Copy of a letter addressed to Governor Tryon. “You have doubtless heard ere now that the Continental Congress have agreed to secure all the Crown officers and friends to Government.” These are to be held as hostages for the redemption of such of the Provincial officers as may be taken by the King’s troops. Refers him to Captain Montagu for corroboration of this statement. A Council of War at the Camp have decided to seize his Excellency. The Provincial Generals and officers insist on these measures before engaging in a general battle. Preparations being made to attack Boston on the first intelligence of Britain’s determination to continue the war. The temper of the times forbids saying more as he is chosen to convoy the needful to General Gage and this is the first intelligence received from camp for five weeks. A letter enclosed by Hugh Wallace to his kinsman Captain Wallace would find him.

2 quarto pages.

T—— S—— to The Hon. HENRY WHIT [qy. White].

1775, September 6. New York.—Proceedings taken by the Governor in consequence of Captain Vandeput’s firing on the town. Accounts from the camp report all quiet there; both armies are strongly entrenched. The General is much distressed for provisions; the "King Fisher" has been at the Hook and taken two vessels bound to the West Indies which she sent to Boston. A sloop came down the river last week and sold her cargo to the Captain of a transport. This also has gone to Boston. The sloop was watched, pursued and burnt. Other persons who have furnished provisions to the army and navy have been taken and are now in close confinement in the jail of the city. The Governor has satisfied Congress respecting their suspicions of his correspondence with the General.

Copy. Intercepted. (From Mr Todd.) 3 folio pages.

J. WATTS, JUNIOR, to JOHN WATTS.

1775, September 6. New York.—"The two Armies at Cambridge are still within their Entrenchments." The American army is 20,000 strong and has encroached upon Gage's by taking possession of Plough Hill. Carleton is strongly entrenched with Regulars, Canadians and Indians at St. John's and busily engaged in building boats on the Lake. The Provincials have embarked there with the intention of destroying them. A Congress of Indians has been held at Albany, he believes, to recommend neutrality to them, which Colonel Johnson had all along desired.

Extract. Intercepted. (From Mr Todd.) 1 folio page.

Sends private letter from Hey and confidential communication from General Harvey also copies and extracts of intercepted letters. Transmits for his signing a dispatch to General Howe on the subject of their expectations from Russia. A ship sails in five days for Providence.

THOMAS WHARTON to SAMUEL WHARTON.

1775, September 8. Philadelphia.—The expedition mentioned in a previous letter abandoned as General Gage frustrated the scheme. Schuyler is penetrating Canada to seize stores there, taking 7 or 8,000 men with him, about 1,400 of whom were sent from Washington's army. Believes many Canadians and Indians are ready to join the Rebels. Powder arrived at Rhode Island from the French West Indies. The designs of No. 4 are clear and he evidently aims at independence. The letters from John Adams and others printed in the newspapers were intercepted by Gage. Hopes something will happen to prevent the independence so much desired by some but dreaded by others. Tomorrow the ports are all closed. Encloses newspaper and plan of Boston.

Extract. Intercepted. 2 $\frac{2}{3}$  folio pages.

AN OFFICER in the EAST INDIA COMPANY to LORD DARTMOUTH.

1775, September 9. London.—“The inclosed which I send for your perusal came to my hands by a mere Accident.” Believes it sprang from an Association held recently at a tavern in or near Leicester Fields. A number of these bills have been circulated; fears evil consequences may result therefrom. Withholds his name from this letter as the most disinterested actions are liable to misconstruction.

*Endorsed:—*An Officer 1775—inclosing an inflammatory Publication.

Enclosure:—

Printed paper headed “Sidney’s Exhortation, In a candid Appeal to every true Lover of God, his Country, and Himself.” “Men and Britons, Friends and Countrymen, In Matters of the utmost importance, we are bound to use the greatest Caution, etc.” Strong denunciations against Government for their repeated refusals to redress the American grievances. The author is personally resolved never to become a slave to such arbitrary measures and will not resign his liberty unless with his life.

CHARLES SIMPSON, Town Clerk, to [LORD DARTMOUTH].

1775, September 9. Lichfield.—The inclosed letter, directed to the Mayor of Lichfield, having been delivered by the postmaster to Mr. William Cotton, on being opened by him was found to contain proposals inconsistent with allegiance; so forwards it to his Lordship assuring him that every member of this "incorporation" is united in the warmest zeal for the honour and support of His Majesty, and will contribute by all possible means to suppress the present rebellion.

CAPTAIN GEORGE VANDEPUT to SIR GEORGE VANDEPUT, Baronet.

1775, September 9. “Asia,” New York.—Complains of neglect shown him in the present disagreeable situation. Gives details of an assault made by the mob to take away some cannon that were mounted upon a Battery near the River. “I was advised of their Intention, the night was very dark, and I ordered a Boat to lie near the Battery to make a Signal to me, in case they perceived them putting their Design in Execution; about Twelve the Signal was made & the Boat was immediately fired upon by a great many People from the Walls; on which in course I fired from the Ship, one man was killed in the Boat, & as I hear, there were three wounded on Shore, but none killed. They however got the guns off, indeed there was no difficulty in doing it, . . . they had not more than forty or fifty yards to remove them to be out of the way of our Shot.” This affair has stopped all communication with the town and more violence is expected. No improvement likely, from the indecision of Government. Wishes troops had never been sent as it has caused the whole colonies to unite. Georgia has sent delegates to Congress.

JAMES PERRY to [LORD DARTMOUTH].

1775, September 10. Wolverhampton.—Wishes English merchants could put an end to the unhappy disturbances in America but while contending parties distress and ruin trade and commerce such is impossible. Predicts ruin to the trade of both countries unless peace is soon restored. From personal acquaintance with America for thirty years believes there are many steady friends to Government who if a few causes of complaint were removed would return to allegiance. Thinks there is a path which may be pursued to bring about an honourable and lasting peace with America.

[GENERAL BURGoyNE] to the EARL OF ROCHFORD.

1775, July 26. Boston.—Private. "I am much afraid it will require a good deal more activity than we have yet shown to prevent famine in the Town, if not in the Army, when Winter approaches." Observations on Gage's inclination to evacuate Boston and its harbour and make himself master of New York for the winter. Advantages of the latter over the former, but the execution of the measure would demand great foresight, secrecy and other management, especially to protect the persons and property of the loyal inhabitants of Massachusetts. Personally he should like to possess both places if re-inforcements destined for America will admit of such. Certainly that army will need provisions to be sent from Britain as such cannot be obtained here. Commends the troops for their zeal and bravery under present hardships.

FRANCIS STUART to THOMAS CHEAP, Bedford Row, Bloomsbury.

1775, September 10. St. John's.—Has been at this place about a week under the command of Major Preston. Is busy at fortifications and when vessels are ready they are going up the Lakes in order to destroy the ships the Rebels have there. Cannot attempt to retake Crown Point and Ticonderoga for want of men to garrison them. Has the Light Infantry so is certain of being employed. Some of his men are prisoners with the rebels having been surprized with Capt. De La Place at Ticonderoga. Gives an account of an attack by the rebels whom they repulsed but are promised revenge later on. This place of the utmost consequence, being the key to Canada. With re-inforcements they do not fear another encounter.

CHIEF JUSTICE WILLIAM HEY to LORD DARTMOUTH.

1775, September 11, continued on 17, 18 and 21. Quebec.—Is in an agony of mind not to be expressed. Fears this whole province will soon be in the hands of the enemy as there is nothing to oppose them but the works at St. John's and 500 men. Canadians will not help and Indians have given up for want of support. Carleton has only a small force with him, but they will sooner die than surrender. Sad state of the country for want of troops. Canadians and Indians have joined the rebels. 18 Sept. "A courier is just arrived with copies of some Circular Letters sent from the Rebels to the parishes on the south shore nearest their camp ordering them to furnish 50 men each armed with provisions for 4 days at their own expense on pain of military execution." This procedure has alarmed the Canadians. Thinks, if a respectable body of men could be got together and 500 were to march to St. John's, the rebels would break up and return to Ticonderoga, and, if not assisted by the Canadians, would abandon their design till the spring. Personal danger.

Rejoices to see the Proclamation. The people of Glasgow are in high spirits, and several ships have arrived from Virginia laden with tobacco. The Commissioners of the Customs have ordered their officers to clear out no ships with more than the ordinary complement of seamen aboard, which will prevent the rebels getting any more recruits from this country.

Circumstances attending the opening of the mail containing letters from his Lordship—the Governor coming out of his house was surrounded by six Carolina officers armed, who demanded the letters sent by Dartmouth, which the Governor refused; after the mail was opened, the Post Master, previously forbidden to go outside the town, was made prisoner to his house in future. #### GOVERNOR ROBERT EDEN to LORD DARTMOUTH.

1775, September 9. Annapolis.—Private. Mentions items of intelligence given in his last of 27th ultimo. The Congress at Philadelphia is waiting an answer from the King to their late address, which if denied, manifestoes are to be sent to the sundry towns in Europe, inviting them to trade with the free American Colonies. Late violent proceedings have driven many men from this province to England. Introduces the Reverend Mr. Boucher (the bearer of this) as well qualified to give information on American affairs. Tomorrow is the last day of the ports remaining open. His Lordship's dispatches by the June packet were opened before he received them.

EDWARD MONTAGU* to PEYTON RANDOLPH.

1775, October 2. London.—“As this is the last Mail which will be allowed to go from hence I am unwilling to loose the opportunity of bidding you a long farewell.” Does not believe he is yet a rebel but understands his “Patriotism is not below Proof.” Knows that the object of the Colonies is total independence, and if he were in power would grant it to them as the quickest way to ruin which their present actions are leading them to. “I read all your Prints from Charles Town to Boston, and find Truth in none and no other meaning but continuing the Delusion of the poor ignorant People, who must be sacrificed by Thousands to gratify the Pride and ambition of that damn'd Rascal John Adams. If your Designs are completed, and you should become a separate State I hope he will turn out another Cromwell.—He'll make a noble Protector tho' but an indifferent Malster.—His Letter to Mr Warren exhibits a true Picture of that Moderation and Tenderness which would prevail in him in the Exercise of Power.—If Gage does not raise him to a more exalted Station he wont be content with any Thing less from your hands than Stadtholder, but I hope you will be in no danger of that embarressment.” Fears he (Randolph) will be driven to the Indians for protection unless the maritime towns become bomb-proof. “Such a Peal of Thunder is preparing for you that will shake even the Apalatian Mountains.”

JAMES PERRY to LORD DARTMOUTH.

1775, October 2. Wolverhampton.—Quotes copy of letter just received from Boston showing state of affairs there. The dispositions of the Americans and English are too opposite to dwell in friendship together. England much benefited of late by the importation of grain and flour from America and he thinks the disputes might be settled by a change in taxation and the repeal of some acts not of great consequence. Proposes the appointment of a suitable mediator to go to America with authority to bring about a reconciliation.

Autograph letter signed. 4½ quarto pages.

DR. J. B. CHANDLER to the REVEREND CHARLES INGLIS,
New York.

1775, October 3. London.—“We are all here heartily desirous of an Accommodation.” Remarks on the Plan of Pacification drawn up by Lords North and Dartmouth who are anxious for an amicable settlement. Neither the nation nor ministry are intimidated nor have they any doubt but the Colonies can be reduced sooner or later. No ministry was ever firmer than the present one, and if war must continue it will be with increased vigour. If America acts a reasonable part, she will immediately rescue herself from the military Government she has placed herself under and accept England’s proposals, otherwise madness will have its perfect work and destruction follow.

JOHN MAUNSELL to DOCTOR AUCHMUTY.

1775, October 3. London.—“I shall call on Your Brother, who is lately arrived from Boston, the Moment I am able.” Has kept up a correspondence, since his arrival in England, with Vanshaake and laid before him a true state of things here as far as they relate to America; asks him to see these letters. If some conciliatory measures are not adopted on America’s side and in a constitutional manner by her provincial Legislatures the sword must determine the controversy. Preparations being made for either event.

JOHN MAUNSELL to PETER VANSCHAAK, New York.

1775, October 3. London.—Notifies the stoppage of packets to New York. Regrets to see the British constitution in America totally subverted. Gives his sentiments concerning the state and temper of the people in England. Preparations for war though conciliatory measures will be offered. Letters from members of Congress intercepted by General Gage are handed about and show a desire for independence. States what he thinks America should do to heal the differences. Asks him to exert his influence to restore peace.

J. INGERSOLL to JARED INGERSOLL, Philadelphia.

1775, October 4. London.—Remarks on the circumstances of David Ingersoll. As this packet is the last that will be sent to America, and opportunities for correspondence will be seldom, asks that he may not be accused of negligence in the future, when it will be solely on account of the situation. Various propositions have been sent to the King from different English towns. Some letters from Colonel Harrison to General Washington and from Adams to his wife taken on the Rhode Island ferry have been published here and do not raise the character of Congress or their politics.

[EDWARD] MONTAGU to ANTHONY TODD.

1775, October 4. Gray's Inn.—“Presents his Comp<sup>ts</sup> to Mr Todd begs leave to send him the inclosed,* which he wishes to go by the N. York Mail.” The address of the said letter would justify inspection but hopes Mr. Todd will bear testimony for him that his correspondence is not treasonable.

Autograph letter in the third person.  $\frac{1}{2}$  quarto page.

* Probably his letter to Randolph of the 2nd inst.

WILLIAM STRAHAN to DOCTOR BENJAMIN FRANKLIN.

1775, October 4. London.—Takes advantage of the last regular packet. Is concerned to see he has accepted the place of postmaster from the Congress. The desire of the Colonies for a separation is apparent to all from the violent proceedings taken against Government servants there. Fears he (Franklin) has carried things too far and is engaged in a most dangerous and difficult task. “I am still of opinion, that the Ministry of this Country was never disposed to fleece or oppress you, that this unnatural Civil War has been chiefly, if not wholly, occasioned by our wicked Factions at Home, whose Struggles for Places & Power have by degrees carried them such daring lengths as have induced & encouraged you to increase your Demands much beyond what you at first dreamt of.” Has lately seen many worthy men who have been forced to abandon their homes to avoid confinement, confiscation of property and corporal punishment, and these give sad accounts of the miseries of anarchy in America. Is sorry to differ from him in this great political dispute. [Not in Sparks' nor Bigelow's Franklin.]

WILLIAM STRAHAN to THOMAS WHARTON.

1775, October 4. London.—Refers him to Doctor Franklin's letter for information on the present dispute between England and her colonies. Is convinced that accommodation is now become impracticable and separation possible, though how far it will answer the intended purpose remains still to be seen. Parliament is about to meet, but fears differences will not be settled till much mischief is done on both sides. Thinks it strange matters should have gone so far, when it is plain that safety and prosperity depend on union.

HUGH WILLIAMSON to JOHN DICKENSON, Philadelphia.

1775, October 4. London.—“A powerful Army will certainly be sent to America next Summer.” Petitions are coming up from the principal towns of England desiring coercive measures with America, which will lead to Parliament sending a large armament, and taking foreign troops into British pay. Knows America cannot be conquered but the land will be destroyed and then separated. Wishes other measures could have been adopted to prevent such effusion of blood.

Extract. Intercepted. 1½ folio pages.

[ ] to RICHARD CARY.

1775, October 4. London.—“Alas my dear Sir, what Scenes have you lived to be Witness to.” Is concerned to hear he was a sufferer by the destruction of Charles Town. Explains a paragraph in his letter to Mr. Curwen respecting the spirit of the people and asserts that there is no defection in him from the old principles of the family but that he will support their cause in public and private. Is censured for continuing his acquaintance with a certain Lord, but assures Cary his cause will not suffer thereby. Preparations being made to continue the war; 30,000 Russians are to be taken into British pay.

Copy. Intercepted. 2 folio pages.

[ ] to THOMAS QUIN.

1775, October 4. London.—Congratulations on his advancement from the regulating of watches to the commanding of a regiment in the Provincial Army. Justifies him in taking up the cause of liberty, but it is doubtful whether the Americans will be able to hold out against the forces destined for that country next spring; foreign troops are to be sent with orders to devastate their towns if they will not submit, and King and Parliament are determined to assert their rights. Does not sign this letter as it is reported letters for America are opened before they are sent but the handwriting will be known and he has sealed it four times with his mother's head.

Extract. Intercepted. 1½ folio pages.

N. D. [1775].—Draft of an address, with alterations in Lord Dartmouth's hand. Expressing their astonishment that a rebellion at this time actually exists in Massachusetts Bay, Rhode Island and Connecticut and their concern to see that it has been encouraged in several of the other colonies. Can never so far desert the trust reposed in them as to relinquish any part of the sovereign authority over all His Majesty's dominions, nor allow that any of them ought to be exempted from sharing in the common burdens necessary to the whole. When the colonies shall have made sufficient provision for the support of their respective civil governments, will in that case think the continuance of the laws for raising a revenue in America no longer necessary. Desire His Majesty to take most effectual measures to enforce obedience to the supreme legislature.

1776, January 15. Philadelphia.—Has long checked an impulse to give his Lordship a plain and impartial picture of matters in these Colonies. His sentiments concerning the present state of affairs in America. Considers that the former harmony might be restored without the effusion of any more blood. Expresses the desire of gentlemen of the Continental and Provincial Congresses, with whom he has conversed, for union honourable to the parent state and by which the wished-for liberties of the colonies could be secured. His experience shows that the people in general detest the thoughts of a Republican Government. Offers thoughts which may serve as preliminaries to the desired union; first, rescinding of the Acts of Parliament of the previous session; 2nd, an Act of indemnity for all past transactions; 3d, a cessation of arms; 4th, the ports opened by the Americans; 5th, a deputation from each assembly to settle measures with one sent by His Majesty and Parliament.

1776, January 25.—With a Greek Inscription. Paper unsigned, beginning,—“The inclos’d ancient inscription waits on Lord Dartmouth, which was found in a Village no far from London.” As the Greek inscription seems prophetic of our present disputes with America, and to hold forth the language she holds forth to the Mother Country, considers it may be worthy of the consideration of His Majesty and the Ministry. Explanation given to the said inscription by the Vicar of “our Parish.”

Pownall's answer on the subject. Wishes to deliver a plan which would effectually prevent such supplies going to the Provincials. "As their High Mightinesses have Issued a placart Prohibiting Furnishing the Americans with any Warlike Stores, Our Men of War and Cruisers should Detain & Bring up all such Vessells as have such articles on board, and I would advise paying the Dutchmen the Value of the Arms, for which we have presidents in the Rebellion In Scotland in the Reign of George primo." AMBROSE SERLE to LORD DARTMOUTH.

1776, August 12. Off Staten Island.—Destruction by the rebels of the only five mortars possessed by them when they besieged Boston. Distress of the people of the country for want of clothing and other articles of importation. Their army unhealthy; small pox rages round Boston and the army at New York prefers to force every fourth man on Long Island rather than receive auxiliaries from Massachusetts. The affair at Charlestown has given them fresh spirits. Lee expected here daily with all the people he can muster from Philadelphia, etc. “It has been a great distress to us, that the great Fleet has been so late in its Arrival; and it has afforded every Advantage to the Rebels. . . . As to Lee himself, he is very much sunk in the Opinion of his best Friends among his own Party. There is something so eccentric in the man's Temper, and such a Vacancy of Principle, that it is impossible for all his Talents, which have been much enlarged upon, to support a Reputation here or anywhere.” Flying reports concerning General Burgoyne. Speaks of enclosing two or three newspapers. Arrival of Sir Peter Parker's fleet, with Lord Cornwallis, General Clinton, and 2,900 men. Hotham's fleet now sailing into the harbour.

Autograph letter signed. 5 quarto pages. [See Stevens's Facsimiles.]

JAMES BURROW to LORD DARTMOUTH.

1776, August 19. Salisbury Street, Strand, London.—Authentic papers he is sending relative to America. "The day we arrived in Town, His Excellency (Gov<sup>r</sup> Legge) went to Court where the King received him with every mark of attention and affability; my Lord George was also very polite . . ." The Petition of the House of Assembly contains a free declaration of their loyalty to the King, but respecting the Governor they return thanks for his recall to examine into his conduct on the complaint of the people. Mr. Burrows expresses his surprise at the petition being received (coming from people detected in most shameful practices) and does not believe it was unanimous, the carrying it being a "managed point by the party themselves." Expenses to which the Governor has been put; but does not doubt he will meet with that support, restitution and commendation he so justly deserves. Speaks of enclosing a paper published in Nova Scotia; a "certain Mr. Hutchinson was very instrumental in drawing it up. Sends also the famous declaration of their being free and independent states.

WILLIAM KNOX to LORD DARTMOUTH.

1776, August 22.—Hoped to have been able to send Lord Dartmouth a more pleasing account of our Southern Expedition than is contained in the enclosed precis. The troops have not suffered from the climate "which I dreaded more than the fire of the Rebels, tho' that has done no small execution on board the ships. Not a man on the Quarter Deck of Sir Peter Parker's ship at the beginning of the Attack that was not either killed or wounded before the end of it. The worst consequence of this failure will be the shewing the rebels where their strength lies and how they may foil us again in the winter tho' our strength be greater." All hopes now fixed on General Howe.

Autograph letter signed.  $1\frac{2}{3}$  quarto pages.

Enclosure :—

1776, August.—Advices received from Sir Peter Parker and Lieutenant General Clinton by the Ranger Sloop. Landing of General Clinton with the troops on Long Island. Dispositions made by the fleet and army on June 28 at Charlestown. Position taken up by Sir Peter Parker opposite the fort on Sullivan's Island. Movements of the enemy. Proposition by Clinton to ford a creek between Sullivan's and Long Islands which was judged an imprudent one for want of boats and because of a march through a swamp in the face of the rebel army. The ships drawn off from the attack when night came on; 201 killed and wounded in the action. Slight wounds received by Sir Peter Parker and Lord William Campbell. Troops preparing to re-embark on July 8. The Fleet expected to sail to join Howe in a few days. The "Actæon" of 28 guns having run aground was burnt by her own people. Troops healthy.

[AMBROSE SERLE] to LORD DARTMOUTH.

1776, November 8. New York.—Religion has operated as much as any other cause to the general distraction. The active and unbecoming part taken in these controversies by preachers of all denominations. Considers the great source of this religious contention and disorder lies in the deficient constitution of our colonial policy. Enumerates several clergymen who have been active in disseminating their views. Looks upon the war very much as a religious one.

MONTFORT BROWNE to [LORD DARTMOUTH].

When that letter was conveyed to the General, he had actually 3437 picked men enlisted and ready at three days' notice to embark at Guildford, Stratford, Norwalk, Nursing Island, etc. Many of them were English, Irish, Scots and Germans, all true friends to Government. ## GENERAL CARLETON to JOHN ROBINSON.

AMBROSE SERLE to LORD DARTMOUTH.

1776, November 26. New York.—The impression of despondency made upon the enemy is too powerful for the machinations of Congress to remove. Some of the rebels give out that they will never consent to any terms of composition. His opinion that Great Britain can only regain her dominion and keep it when retained by the sword. Influence of the newspapers of the Colonies. Encloses newspapers. An Indian secretly making his way to prepare his people for the next year and to convey intelligence of our affairs to General Carleton. Information about Joseph Read of Philadelphia from an officer of Government who represents him as an able man but full of chicane, intrigue, and duplicity. Supply of provisions for the Army and Navy by the incursions into the Jerseys etc. It does not seem a sanguine opinion that the heart of the Rebellion is really broken. Considers it requires no prophetic spirit to pronounce that the desire for independence will break out again in the course of years.

AMBROSE SERLE to LORD DARTMOUTH.

1776, November 28. 1776, December 3. New York.—Circumstance mentioned to him by Mr. White, which conveys the opinion of the rebels. Mr. Putnam speaking upon American affairs at the house of Mr. Kay in the Jerseys had said that they think their cause is ruined as their army is disbanding because the term is expiring and they consider they cannot get another. Congratulations on the increasing success of His Majesty's troops in New Jersey. Little or no loss sustained by Cornwallis in this pursuit. A strong party forming in Philadelphia. Doctor Franklin has had the address to get off, on the pretence of negotiating a Treaty with the Court of France.

Declaration of an invasion taking place in the spring. Bull expected by the papists, absolving them from their allegiance. Their designs are to take advantage of the distress to which we are brought by the rebels in North America. Desires this letter to be acknowledged in the London Chronicle, when Lord Dartmouth shall continue to receive information. Perhaps later he will disclose his name. Declares himself to be "a man of Estate and SOME consequence in this Kingdom." Wording of the advertisement. No time to be lost in guarding against this system. ## AMBROSE SERLE to LORD DARTMOUTH.

1777, January 1. New York.—His time exceedingly taken up in making out pardons for rebels who are coming in for them by hundreds. Congratulates his Lordship on the repeated successes of “our short Campaign.” General sentiment at New York is that the power of the rebellion is nearly broken and beyond any apparent probability of resource or recovery; this intelligence gained from intercepted letters and other channels. Hopes for the possession of Philadelphia early in the spring. “The ships &c. in that harbour will be an Acquisition to us, if we can save them; but their Destruction will be an irreparable Loss to the Rebels.” Ships under Hopkins blocked up in Rhode Island. The remains of Congress gone to Baltimore. "The Difference in the Appearance of the King's Affairs and especially the Resolution in the Professions of many Persons in this Country are both very great." General Lee behaves since his captivity with the meanness of spirit expected of him.

JOHN ROBINSON to [LORD DARTMOUTH].

1777, March 2, 50/m. p. 10 P.M. Parliament Street.—Upon looking into the papers of Sir Robert Herries considers them of so extraordinary a nature, and the proposition so decidedly against the principle and letter of the restraining Act that he troubles his Lordship with the subject.

Enclosure :—

“Some Observations on Sir Robert Herries’ Plan which strike Mr Robinson from the cursory reading which He was able to give it last night.” Sir R. Herries assumes the necessity to obtain tobacco, first, for the French market in order to prevent that trade from getting into another channel so as not to be able to recover it upon the restoration of peace, and, secondly, in order to supply the necessary consumption at home; upon a thorough investigation of these allegations neither of them will be found to be warranted, for as to the first Great Britain may suffer a temporary loss of that trade during the present disturbances, yet doubtless upon the restoration of Peace it will revert to Gt. Britain, for the Farmers General will buy at the cheapest market, which is the Brit: colonies. Shews how the second proposition would be equally futile and cannot be carried out without opening a communication of trade with the rebels in Maryland or Virginia in direct violation of the Restraining Act, and what is more alarming still, the circulation of specie and bills, which would give them a real and substantial credit over all Europe and enable them to purchase and pay for all stores &c., and consequently support them in the war.

The rebel force is at Fort Edward and consists of 7,000 men, Putman (sic), St. Clair, Nixon and Fellows are with Schuyler; "as Genls the men want confidence in their officers, and their officers in their men." The country comes in fast to Burgoyne's manifesto. He, Skene, has been appointed Commissioner and is to set out immediately for Castleton to receive the submission of the different inhabitants. General Phillips has gone to Ticonderoga to pass to Lake George. "The General himself will advance to Fort Ann so soon as his Plans are ripe for execution, and so down to Saratoga and Still Water, where the Rebels talk of standing, at present they are in great confusion, this wooden country is of such a Nature, that it is impossible for the General to fix the Rebels in a body therefore the Duty must be done by Detachment." Brigadier Fraser's corps is "to be much honoured, they beat the Rebels in their Own Strength of the Woods." Sir Guy Carleton gives every assistance and is on the best footing with General Burgoyne. #### INTELLIGENCE.

1777, November 11.—Extract of a letter from New York. Complains that General H[owe]'s conduct since he has had command of the army has been a heap of blunders and ridiculous delays; that he has always been jealous of the superior military capacity of Burgoyne and Clinton, and has now made a sacrifice of the former by disabling the latter from making any diversion in his favour having left him barely enough troops to defend Kingsbridge, New York, and Staten Island. Others assert the contrary, and blame Carleton. Declares Washington's army to be stronger in consequence of General Burgoyne's affair, and that we cannot send over less than 20,000 more troops, as early in the spring as possible. Public opinion of the necessity of changing the Commander in Chief.

JOHN CRUDEN to . . . .

1777, November 14.—Extract of a letter from John Cruden dated from New York. His distress with regard to General Burgoyne's fate. Considers that had General Howe taken possession of North River, in May, June, or July last, the face of affairs would have been different. Advisability of General Howe keeping his ground at Philadelphia, to prevent supplies from reaching the New England Governments from Pennsylvania. The trade that has been carried on in the two Carolinas since November is amazing. On the arrival of a reinforcement under Genl. Robertson, Clinton made a spirited effort to form a junction with the now captive army though the only benefit was that the surrender was admitted on better terms.

$1\frac{2}{3}$  quarto pages.

The EARL of HARDWICKE to [LORD DARTMOUTH].

1777, November 19. Richmond.—As the state of his health makes it not advisable for him to attend the first day of the Session, desires he will accept his proxy. Further sentiments on this subject.

Autograph letter signed.  $1\frac{3}{4}$  quarto pages.

The EARL OF HARDWICKE to [LORD DARTMOUTH].

1777, November 21. At night. Richmond.—Expresses his sentiments with regard to the rebellion. Lord Chatham was indeed fruitless in pretending that Government had no share in engaging the Indians on our side in the last war; Lord Amherst could have spoken fully to that point.

JOHN POWNALL to LORD DARTMOUTH.

1778, January 31.—Opinion of various persons upon the impracticability of an army from Canada penetrating into the New England Colonies or to Albany, if opposed by the people of the Country in arms against them. Encloses extracts of letters from Lord Loudoun confirming his statements as he believes they may be of use in stating the grounds on which General Burgoyne's expedition was undertaken. Remarks upon the employment of Indians acting with our army. Had intended to send the enclosures to Lord North but fears he has given offence by frequently troubling him on American affairs. Asks whether there is any prospect of a peaceful conclusion of the war.

LORD NORTH to [LORD DARTMOUTH].

1778, February 10. Downing Street.—"I find, what I have suspected, that the greater number of opinions whom I have consulted, lean to a declaration by Parliament that we will not tax, than to the repeal of the acts." Both measures they say are equally mortifying, but the former is more likely to induce the Americans to enter into a treaty with Great Britain, besides, if an expectation of a reciprocal contribution from them is held out, and that point recommended to the Commissioners, the latter measure is more consistent with his (North's) conciliatory proposition. Has applied to the Lords of the Cabinet to desire them to meet here tomorrow to take their opinion on this point, and desires him to be here before the hour appointed, viz. 11 o'clock.

Autograph letter signed. 1 $\frac{2}{3}$  quarto pages. [See Stevens's Facsimiles.]

LORD BATHURST to [LORD DARTMOUTH].

1778, February 13.—Thinking the two letters of the 4th February to Sir William Howe and Sir Henry Clinton fatal to the affairs of this country, it was impossible for him to continue longer in the confidential cabinet. Expressions of regard and esteem.

LORD HARDWICKE to [LORD DARTMOUTH].

1778, February (n. d. but written before his letter dated 17th). St. James's Square.—“Critical as the present Conjuncture is, with regard to the Danger of a Union between our Colonys & France,” he wishes the terms of accommodation we hold out may be made as palatable and efficacious as possible. Suggests whether it would not be proper to repeal some of the hostile laws made against the Colonies, not directly, but eventually, in favour of such provinces as should return to their allegiance, and renounce Independence by a given time. Considers the departure of the Commissioners should not be delayed. Laments that conciliatory ideas were not proposed before matters were so far advanced with the French Court. Apologises for this freedom. Suggests that Gates might be made useful.

Autograph letter signed. 3 quarto pages.

LORD HARDWICKE to [LORD DARTMOUTH].

1778, February 17.—Flatters himself there was nothing improper in the manner, and does not think that the matter of his last letter was so futile as not to deserve some notice. Is sensible that advice obtruded unasked and unsolicited, is often unacceptable, rarely successful.

WILLIAM CRUDEN to LORD DARTMOUTH.

1778, February 21. Crown Court, Covent Garden.—Has received the enclosed letter from his son only this evening. It contains several hints, which if duly prosecuted might show that the blame of our miscarriages lies, not at the door of Administration at home, but hard by the head quarters in Philadelphia. Intends calling on Monday morning.

JOHN CRUDEN, JUNR., to the REVEREND MR. CRUDEN.

1778, January 28. New York.—Return of Mr Cornell and family from Newbern in North Carolina. "J. London went with him from here in the Flag of Truce with a view of getting some of his property out of that Country, from whom I received a letter" dated 26 December. Persecution of friends of Government continues. Distress which prevails in New York. Virginia and Maryland supplied with goods from North Carolina into which province an amazing quantity of goods is brought. Is sure of the good that would result if Lord Howe would grant letters of marque to the merchants of this town. The rebel army "have received every necessary in that round-about way, and the insignificance of the place (Occraook) prevents Lord Howe from Landing Vessels to cruize there . . . all the Tobb<sup>s</sup> of James River in Virginia is shipped from it now" . . . Some gentlemen of Virginia and Carolina who applied to Lord Howe to send vessels there, explained to him the service they would render as well as the profit that would arise to themselves. His Lordship's words were :—'Will you never give these poor people an opportunity of comeing in.'— "If such measures are to bring them in farewell America it will never be my Country." All the resources of the rebels should be cut off by allowing them no trade to the southward and no privateers to the northward. Information received from Mr. Tucker of Virginia, of 2,700 men being voted in Congress for the ensuing Campaign. Sentiments concerning the enlisting in the rebel army. Is anxious to hear the result of Parliament in learning the dreadful state of General Burgoyne's captivity. Intended departure for Philadelphia. Enclosure.

T. WEBB to LORD DARTMOUTH.

1778, March 3.—That in his efforts to facilitate the success of His Majesty's arms he had not escaped the vigilance and activity of the rebels and had been apprehended by order of the Congress last April and transported to the back parts of Pennsylvania. The propriety of this step they founded on his holding a civil appointment under his Majesty as Barrack Master of Albany. His exchange effected by Lord and Genl. Howe. Desires an appointment in an Independent Company in Great Britain.

J. GALLOWAY to [LORD DARTMOUTH].

1778, March 4. Philadelphia.—Details of General Washington's intended movements; his winter quarters fixed at Valley Forge on the Schuylkill 22 miles from Philadelphia, "with design to cover and command the supplies of the peninsula between Delaware and Chesapeake, to have easy access to the Jerseys and keep up the communication with the Eastern provinces, to secure his retreat over the Susquehanna and until then to cut off supplies from the city." The quarters for his men are newly-built huts or loghouses, very uncomfortable; cavalry and horses destitute of cover during severe weather; men nearly naked and both men and horses often reduced to the greatest distress from want of provision and forage, in consequence of which his army is diminished by disease and desertion. The loss of Philadelphia has deprived them of supplies, nine-tenths having previously come from there. Petition of the people of Pennsylvania, New Jersey, the Delaware and Maryland to be supported with His Majesty's troops. Considerations with regard to recruiting the army. Hostilities committed by the Indians since October last. "Unpolitic" measures pursued by Congress concerning their troops. Is of opinion that if proper measures are pursued the rebellion may soon be ended by the force now here and those intended by Parliament to be sent; advises that the Loyalists be allowed to take up arms and assist the Government as they can be safely trusted and will secure the country as the army leaves it, with very little assistance. Critical importance of an early campaign.

The REVEREND WILLIAM STRINGER to [LORD DARTMOUTH].

1778, March 6. Philadelphia.—Sends this by Mr. Rankin, who has had the management of Mr. Wesley’s affairs. Rankin has been a good deal persecuted by the enemy and made his escape with much difficulty. He himself is the only minister in Philadelphia who has acted consistent with his oath of allegiance to the King and his duty as a clergyman; trials he has encountered from his congregation in consequence. Has presented a memorial to Sir William Howe asking to be appointed chaplain to a newly raised regiment. Distressing state of the province. Thoughts of returning to England.

WILLIAM CRUDEN to [LORD DARTMOUTH].

1778, March 10. Crown Court.—Result of his conversation with refugees from America. News from Mr. London of the distress prevailing at Philadelphia and desire of the people for peace. “A Mr. Ingersoul from Pensylvania by the way of France assures that the tidings will be welcome and adds None here know how many lives have been lost thro’ cold and hunger as well as the sword. One of the Livingstones from New York writes his brother that if Parliam<sup>t</sup> repeal the Obnoxious Acts all will be well; Britain and her Colonies will again unite & tho’ the Congress should oppose, the people will overrule them therein.” Considers if the proposal of treating should be rejected by Congress, that the Carolinas with Georgia would be found the weakest links in the whole chain.

Autograph letter signed. 1 $\frac{3}{4}$  quarto pages.

Endorsed:—Rev. Mr Cruden March 1778.

RICHARD OSWALD to [LORD DARTMOUTH].

1778, March 12.—On the subject of Mr Laurens’s letter to him, written soon after the former’s return to Charlestown in January 1775, which he considers deserves some notice, as the writer is now President of Congress, and his letter seems to express a sensible attachment to the interests of this country, notwithstanding his declared intention of taking part in the proposed opposition to the measures of Government. It must be owned appearances are against him since he has himself gone into the worst of the two extremes he condemns. Reasons for enclosing the letter [not found]. Eulogising the conduct of that gentleman with whom he has corresponded for more than twenty-one years. Refers to conversations he had with him in 1773 and 1774. When he went to Carolina in 1774 he left three sons in England at school and soon after sent over his two daughters. They are now living in the country some distance from London.

LORD NORTH to the EARL OF SANDWICH.

1778, May 8. *Downing Street.—Private. Opinion of Lords Weymouth, Germain, Gower, and Dartmouth that nothing contained in the letter and papers sent by Admiral Duff will justify a change in the destination of Byron's fleet. They continue to think that every dispatch should be used to send the fleet off to North America unless accounts are received of the arrival of the Toulon fleet at Cadiz and either that it continues there or sails to a different quarter of the globe. ROBERT HOGG to LORD DARTMOUTH.

1778, May 11. No. 49, Threadneedle Street.—Has received letters from North Carolina, enclosing copies of a law made in that province forfeiting the property of all who do not return by October next. Has sometimes thought it would be prudent to proceed to New York and there wait the issue of the terms sent out by the Commissioners and, in case of cessation of hostilities, to endeavour to get to North Carolina, and try to bring away some of his estate. MAJOR-GENERAL JAMES GRANT to LORD GEORGE GERMAIN.

1778, May 24. Philadelphia.—Sir Henry Clinton has honoured him with the command of a corps of troops to be sent from New York to the West Indies, but as he has not yet received his instructions ventures only on a private letter. He took possession of the place of their destination last war. It was reckoned the most sickly island in the West Indies and it will have a deleterious effect upon his troops. Hopes his efforts will be crowned with success, but he does not wish to be tied down to a particular spot. His expenses during the American war have always exceeded his military appointments. Desires he may be put on the same footing with other officers who have commanded in America and the West Indies.

EDWARD NEWENHAM to [LORD DARTMOUTH].

1778, July 3. Barrack Street.—Quotes from a letter 'he has just read, concerning an intended attack against our West India Settlements. "Unpolitical" state of the Ministry; how he baffled them with regard to the repeal of the test act which he carried by 103 to 74. Hopes the Bill if it returns will return in its pristine state, if it does not, fears it will not be agreeable to the majority of the King's real friends, and a foundation for everlasting dissensions will be originated. His private opinion is, that it was absurd, impolitic and ill-timed to touch on that dangerous ground; the repeal of the Irish Popery laws without Government was sure of a large majority.

LORD NORTH to [LORD DARTMOUTH].

1778, October 31. Bushy Park.—Thought Lord Suffolk’s messenger would have brought him to town; supposes he knows the business upon which he was summoned. Mediation offered by the King of Spain. Lord North does not think it probable that peace will continue with Spain two months longer. Considers it a cruel reflection that so little has been done with our fleets and armies this year. Gloomy prospect. Glimmering of an alliance with Russia and Prussia. Has just heard that a fleet of French and American frigates with a small body of troops attacked Dominica in the beginning of September. Vice Adml. Barrington at Barbadoes. “You have read in the Gazette that Lord Howe is returned and has left D’Estaing at Boston. By Governor Johnstone’s account there would be some probability of a speedy reconciliation with the Americans, if there was not an apprehension that the claim of independence would be admitted, and the forces withdrawn. It will soon be known that neither of these measures will take place, but as our troops can not be re-inforced, I am afraid we can not hope for much success in that quarter.”

LORD GEORGE GERMAIN to SIR HENRY CLINTON.

1779, January 23. Whitehall.—(Secret and Confidential). Has received and laid before the King letters received by Colonel Stewart and by Lord Carlisle and Mr. Eden. Meetings have been arranged with the Commissioners and their opinions heard on every important point respecting the mode of conduct to be pursued toward the revolted provinces, the result of all which, with regard to Sir Henry's command, Lord Germain proceeds to state.—It is most earnestly wished that "Mr" Washington may be brought to a general and decisive action at the opening of the campaign, but if not, it is imagined that with an army of 12,000 men Sir Henry might force him to seek safety in the Highlands of New York or the Jerseys, and leave the Inhabitants of the open country to follow what the Commissioners represent to be their inclinations, and renounce the authority of Congress and return to the King's allegiance; thus Civil Government might be re-established in New York. It is also intended that two corps assisted by a naval force should act on the coast of New England and in the Chesapeake and a diversion be made on the side of Canada. Lord Germain then enumerates the reinforcements to be sent out and the supplies with instructions as to the employment of the various forces.

Copy. 9¾ pages. [The quadruplicate signed letter is in the Royal Institution, American MSS., Vol. 10.]

W. RAWLINGS to [LORD DARTMOUTH].

N. D. [1779, June or July].—Trusts we shall yet be enabled to overcome the machinations of enemies at home and abroad. Desirability of having an honest man at the head of this port; recommends Mr. William Billing as Collector, Mr. Phillips having died the previous day. If Billing is appointed “I shall soon see the nest of smugglers at Newhey demolished and the pirates that have so long infested our coast and in the last week taken 27 vessels no longer harboured there.” Embarkation of Frenchmen on board an Irish wherry, Thorn, master; next day another party came, but too late; apprehends they are lurking and secreted by the smugglers. Received last week a letter from Lord Shuldham at Plymouth, who has sent round the “Swallow” ship-of-war; has despatched Bellany to pilot her where she may find the wherries. Has secured a Spanish vessel, a prize to the “Black Prince,” put the Lieutenant of the pirate and three of her men in irons, and sent them to Falmouth. The lieutenant says he is an American and produces a commission signed by Franklin, but it is a common thing for these cutters to hold three commissions, one from Franklin, one from France, and one from England; the villains thus escape with impunity.

Autograph letter signed. 3¼ quarto pages.

W. RAWLINGS to [LORD DARTMOUTH].

1779, July 31. Padstow.—Thanks him for the relief from the depredations of the pirates. W. RAWLINGS to [LORD DARTMOUTH].

1779, August 15. Padstow.—“On Thursday last we had a most respectable county meeting at Bodmyn when an address to the King on the present situation of affairs was unanimously voted.” Trade of the county in a most deplorable state and a greater quantity of pilchards was hardly ever known on the coast. A paper stuck up in the market-place exhibiting complaints against Samuel Martyn of Newhey. Information received from the Supervisor of Truro, concerning smuggling at that town; believes it to be the cargo of the “Black Prince.” Details concerning the smuggling. Necessity for Sloops of War on the coast.

WILLIAM SMITH to GOVERNOR SKENE.

1782, December 20. New York.—Refers to the success at Gibraltar. Lord North's observation that Smith was almost alone in not abandoning to despair upon the instructions to Mr. Grenville. "You are not always to suppose that the Loyalists of this place speak the minds of that Great Body of faithful subjects in all parts of the continent." They perceived that the Rebel party drew no comfort from the Commissioners' letter "and concluded as I did, that this came from their Friends in Your Cabinet; and it was natural to hope the best of Lord Shelburne"; considers he acted wisely. "And now if any man doubts the practicability of recovering the Provinces, he must be utterly ignorant both of their Condition and temper." The consternation into which the Loyalists have been thrown by the instructions, has abated the dread of revenge. He has not the least doubt of immediate peace here if there was complete authority to agree upon a settlement clogged with no condition of future approbation to be obtained. Taxes laid on by the Congress for the year 1782 received in November last, and only show 7,853,305 of 8,000,000.

PHILIP SKENE to [LORD DARTMOUTH].

1783, August 27. Chelsea, five fields.—"Permit me to apologize for the Liberty, I thus take in enclosing the Copy of a Memorial which I presented to Lord North through the hands of Mr Nepean a few days before his Lordship left Town. The foundation of my Claim originating with your Lordship, I was necessarily obliged to Ground my Pretensions of right in the Manner the Memorial sets forth, had I not been otherwise encouraged under your Lordships assurance that you would take an Opportunity of mentioning the facts in my behalf to his Lordship. Give me leave now my Lord to solicit of You that favor (not that I entertain the Shadow of a doubt of his Lordships readiness to befriend me) but for the additional Weight of Your Lordships Sanction, must give to the justness of my demand; The loss I have sustained in my income in loosing the appointment of inspector of the Woods, the total confiscation of my Estate in America (through my Evil Genius Lord Shelburne) myself and Son under a Bill of Attainder which leaves me very little prospect of any future recovery of the same, are the powerfull Arguments, that enforce my application, for those Arrears which other resources hitherto made of little Account; I hope Your Lord<sup>p</sup> with (sic) consider it in that point of View, and kindly Aid me in Your Friendly Assistance, as it is now become a very Arduous task (sustaining such losses) to find a means of affording myself and family the necessary Supplies of Life."

JONATHAN TRUMBULL to LORD DARTMOUTH.

1783, October 1. Lebanon.—Refers to letters written by him, in his previous official capacity, to Dartmouth at the beginning of those troubles which brought on a war between Great Britain and America. Particularly mentions one of March 1775 and regrets that his suggestions were not followed. Recommends Mr. Temple, who is going to England; he and Dr. Franklin were the only Crown officers of rank who were dismissed from very lucrative and honourable employments for their attachment to America, or rather for not falling in with the other Crown officers in the misrepresentations which so fatally deceived Great Britain. Dr. Franklin has been employed and amply honoured and rewarded and would not accept, if offered, any reparation. Mr. Temple is therefore singular in his sufferings; he had been Lieut.-Governor of one province, had a seat at the council-board in five others, was surveyor-general of the royal revenue in America, and Surveyor-General of Customs. Writes this not only for Temple's sake but to show that he also wishes oblivion to past injuries and a lasting return of friendship and commerce between the two nations. Sends this by his son who returns to England to improve his natural turn to the pencil, which his countryman the celebrated Mr. West considers worthy of cultivation.

Letter signed. 3½ folio pages.

Note.—Trumbull was the only royal governor who joined the American cause; he retained his post fourteen years; died in 1785.

The sooner a new Governor is appointed the happier it will be for His Majesty’s service and the Inhabitants. “Gov<sup>r</sup> Leyborne had just attain’d a true Idea of the Constitution & people, and was entering into measures to effect a reformation, when the Colony received a severe shock by his death.”

Comments upon the evil of this rule, especially when it occurs in an Island where the King’s troops are stationed, though in the present state of the constitution it is unavoidable.

BRYAN EDWARDS.

1773, December 20. Jamaica.—Thoughts on the Spanish Assiento Contract. The King of Spain having granted the Spanish Assiento Company permission to remove their principal factory to the Havannah and to purchase slaves from the neighbouring Colonies and convey them in Spanish vessels to their own settlements, it occurs to the writer that from the vicinity of Jamaica to the Spanish Settlements where negroes are most demanded a large trade might be established there, providing the slaves could be purchased in sufficient numbers and under as advantageous terms as in the other British Plantations. “I consider the renewal of the free port Law, for another Year, a fortunate Circumstance for the Island of Jamaica, as the Spanish traders will for their own Sakes, most certainly prefer those ports in which their Safety is founded on Law, to places where their preservation depends only on the weak and precarious Tenure of Connivance and favor.” Suggests that instead of renewing the Free Port Act, the Navigation Act should be moderated in regard to Spain only, in admitting all their vessels to every British Port, on condition that they do not break bulk while there. Should this occur, the increased number of slaves purchased by the British on the Coast of Guinea will necessitate an increase of at least twenty vessels, also an increase of flour and other provisions for the extra slaves, which will employ at least 15 or 20 more vessels from North America, thus increasing the trade not only of Great Britain but of the whole of her Colonies, preventing the several Plantations from repining “at that illiberal preference which they say is now shown to Jamaica” and “which would soon open a golden fountain flowing through the Colonies to Great Britain, enriching like the Nile the Territories through which it flows.”

"The more I consider of the matter, the more I think the words of the intend'd act were misconstrued." Doubts not but that he will have some instruction or opinion sent to him in order that he may act in the best manner for the King's service and the peace of the community. "If you can further me such Assistance it will be doing me a Service that no lenth of time or distance shall ever make me forget."

SIR BASIL KEITH to LORD DARTMOUTH.

1775, June 12. Jamaica.—His gratitude for the repeated marks of friendship and kindness shewn to him by his Lordship. His efforts to prove worthy of the protection afforded. Refers his Lordship to his public letter for the general defence he has endeavoured to make for his conduct. "From the very extraordinary Nature of the Petition I cannot be surpriz'd at the great offence it has given to His Majesty, and the Legislative Authority of Great Britain." He expects and dreads the consequences. "I have all the Laws now before me that I have assented to since I came to the Administration, yet I cannot guess at the other improper ones your Lordship mentions to have pass'd the Assembly: and I trust no further proof of my misconduct will be found." Attempts to vindicate himself with regard to the delay in transmitting the laws as they pass. He has been blamed for giving his assent to the Additional Duty Bill without a suspending Clause. Unsuccessful searches he has made for a precedent in the shape of an annual money bill carrying a suspending clause. Desires his Lordship to enquire of Sir William Trelawney (who is on his way to England) the history of the petition, and the necessity of the Additional Duty Bill.

On Saona Island under the Government of St<sup>o</sup> Domingo, several English were discovered with huts under pretence of carrying on turtle fishery, and their trade having several armed vessels, carrying it to such an excess that they came in with them as if they had been in British Dominions, orders were given by the Governor to Captain Don Lorenzo Daniel to go to Saona, take up as many as he should find in huts there, and not to suffer any Captain or men of the crews to escape. HILLSBOROUGH.

1772, October 9. St. Vincent.—No. 34. In consequence of his Proclamation the Charibs held several Consultations, and sent to him promising to behave well if they were left in possession of their lands. As this could not be done the troops were sent into their country; in the several attacks three English and eight Charibs have been killed. Is glad to see the safe arrival of Major Mackenzie and the 31st Regiment. Fears the reduction of the Charibs will be a work of time, “for they Possess a country very inaccessible, and seem to have a knowledge how to avail themselves of this Advantage.” With the Council’s advice he has formed a company of “Voluntiers,” out of the militia. Has ordered a supply of rum for the use of the troops. Asks his Lordship to obtain the baggage and tonnage money applied for by the Officers, as the service upon which the troops are engaged is a very severe one. BRY : BROUGHTON to LORD [                  ].

1779, September 10.—Arrival of Admiral Barrington in town, who gives a different account of the West Indian engagement from that which has been understood. “We have had rather the best of it.” On Adm<sup>l</sup> Byron’s approach the whole French fleet, amounting to 26 sail of the line, came out of St George’s Harbour, Grenada. Byron immediately gave the order for chase and for close action. Barrington, who led the van, came up with the fastest sailing ships and began the engagement with seven. He drove the “Languedoc” out of the line twice and cleared her decks, as did the “Boyne” by the next largest French ship; on this the French, having the advantage of the little wind there was, edged away. Rowley who was left with three ships to take care of the transports was ordered to intercept them and in attempting it received the fire of the whole French line. They however got away, Byron not being able to get up so as to bring on a general engagement. “Our loss is 180 killed & 146 wounded.—The French is said to be much greater, 3 Captains, 18 Lieutenants & upwards of 2000 men being said to be killed & wounded. Our fleet is gone to Antigua to refit & the French to Martinico. Barrington gives great praise to Byron.”

Enclosure:—

1788, March 17. London.—Remarks. As he has been for two years in the English and French West Indies and since conducted sugar estates in the East Indies, he thinks he may be able to give some useful information concerning the employment of slaves and freemen on the same, before the abolition of the slave trade is agitated in Parliament. Describes the working of a large sugar estate carried on near Batavia on which freemen only are employed, and points out where the advantages accrue from employing the same instead of slaves.

PART III.

CANADA, LABRADOR, NEWFOUNDLAND, NOVA SCOTIA, ISLAND OF SAINT JOHN.

The calendar of this portion of Lord Dartmouth's manuscripts, being pages 545 to 606, is supplied by Mr. Douglas Brymner, LL.D., F.R.S.C., archivist at Ottawa, Canada.

LETTERS AND PAPERS RELATING TO CANADA.

1757, April 4. Montreal.—Montcalm to Berryer, Minister of Marine. (A translation.) By a few contraband articles properly disposed of, the English dispatches are brought to him regularly, some of which open to him the greatest secrets of the English state. His (Montcalm's) correspondent appears to have been a Mr. J——, who says that the reason they (the French ?) know so little is, that their Governors are French nobility who are enemies to trade. Referring to the disposition of the Colonists (in New England), Mr. J—— says: "Take my word you may manage 'em; they entirely act according to their own interests." . . . . . Montcalm continues: "I can venture to assure you from knowledge and will show it you in another letter, that England will be the first victim of her Colonies." He then advises that as the Colonies have all sorts of manufactures the French should not interfere with them; "leave therefore Canada to be despoiled by them; give them every assistance in their manufactures to make a general commerce over all the English Colonies. If Canada was to be ceded, it would not be an irreparable Loss. As I suppose the Court would not give up the Fishery, the Source of Riches, therefore it would be necessary to have Louisbourg or some neighbouring Isle for that purpose, and to bring our merchandizes too for the English; and this little Port (or Post) would be as favourable to us, as Canada would be unfavourable to the English." (A note says: "This advice of Montcalm's made the French at the Peace insist on the Isles of St. Pierre and Miquelon.")

1758, October 1. Montreal.—Montcalm to Berryer. (A translation.) Bougainville is carrying the account of the defeat of Abercromby. His time is given up to fighting in summer and thinking in winter. "With a little policy I am satisfied the Governors of Canada would be able to carry to old England more rude Blows in the Bosom of Peace than we can do in War time. These Colonies are so little cemented to the Mother Country, that if I thought it expedient for our interest, I could get one Part of them now to sign a Neutrality; but this is not a proper time to distinguish them by so public a mark of Disaffection." The letter continues that the Colonies have always objected to fortifications, on the ground that there was nothing to fear from Europe, but in reality because they knew that forts and garrisons were the surest means to keep them in subjection. He is clear that the erection of a fort or anything that interfered with them would lead to sedition. They do not object to back settlement forts as they protect from Indians, are garrisoned by themselves and supported by convoys which could be cut off. "The several advices I receive daily assure me, England will one day lose her Colonies. As to the English Colonies one essential point should be known: it is, that they are never taxed—they keep that to themselves. An enormous fault this in the Policy of the Mother Country. She should have taxed them from the Foundation. I have certain Advice, that all the Colonies would take Fire at being taxed now.”

1759, August 24. Quebec.—Montcalm to de Molé, first president of the Parliament of Paris. (A translation). Is here (Quebec) after standing a three months' bombardment from Wolfe, who can never succeed, so long as he attacks from the other bank. The campaign cannot last a month, on account of the terrible autumn winds, which are totally against the Fleet. Quebec must be taken by a coup de main. “The English have nothing to do but make a Descent on the Bank where this City is situated without Fortifications or Defence. Mr. Wolfe (if he understands his business) has nothing to do but bear the first Fire—advance fast upon my Army—stop at his Discharge—my Canadians without Discipline, at the sound of the Drum &c., will get into Disorder and fly—such is my deplorable situation.” He believes he will not survive the loss of the Colony, the only thing that remains is to die with honour. “But in this I console myself, that the loss of this Colony, this Defeat will one day be of more Service to my Country than a Victory; And that the Conqueror in aggrandizing himself will find a Tomb even in that. The English must breathe the Air of Freedom, and these Americans more so; And the Children of these are not degenerated from the Republican Principles of their Parents. Their maxim is to obey as little as possible and when their Interests are touched they will revolt. Can England send one or two hundred thousand Men to oppose them at this distance?” The Northern parts and sea might be kept in obedience by the shipping, but who would conquer the interior parts? “Besides, on a general Revolt, the Enemies to England in Europe will aid the Revolters.” If the English conquer they will have the conquered become English, forgetting differences of race, &c. Is clear that his ideas will be accomplished in less than ten years after the Conquest of Canada, but shall, as ordered act for its preservation.

1764.—Instructions to Murray, that the misconstruction of the proclamation of 7th October, 1763, be removed and that in making provision for the due and impartial administration of justice that there shall extend to all "subjects in general the protection and benefit of the British laws and constitution in all cases where their Lives and Liberties are concerned" but "shall not operate to take away from the Native Inhabitants the Benefit of their own Laws and Customs in leases where Titles to Land and the modes of Descent, Alienation and Settlement are in Question, nor to preclude them from that share in the Administration of Judicature, which both in Reason and Justice they are intitled to in common with the rest of Our Subjects." 8½ foolscap pages.

1765.—Various dates.—A collection of copies of letters unsigned but evidently from Thomas Walker, who was attacked in his own house in Montreal, and partly from a friend of his on the subject of the trial, at which those accused of the outrage were acquitted. The letters are dated 20th February, 8th and 24th April, 30th May, 7th, 22nd, 25th and 27th June, all in 1765. The Governor (Murray) is charged with gross partiality and the military officers with behaving in a most outrageous manner towards the inhabitants. The State papers show that five officers were arrested, John Frazer, St. Luc la Corne, John Campbell, Daniel Disney, Simon Evans and one merchant, Joseph Howard. The bills were laid before the Grand Jury in March, 1767, and, with the exception of that against Disney, thrown out, but Disney was acquitted by the petit jury.

1765, June 10. Lincoln's Inn.—Opinion of Counsel by the Attorney General (Norton) and Solicitor General (de Grey), on the status of Roman Catholics in countries ceded to the Crown in America. "We have taken Mr. Pownall's Letter into our Consideration, and are humbly of Opinion, that His Majesty's Roman Catholick subjects residing in the Countries ceded to His Majesty in America by the Definitive Treaty of Paris, are not subject, in those Colonies, to the Incapacities, disabilities and Penalties, to which Roman Catholicks in this Kingdom are subject by the Laws thereof."

Enclosure :—

Enclosed is an opinion of Counsel, dated 18th October 1705, signed by Edward Northey, in respect to the Province of Maryland, that the charter to Lord Baltimore does not give power to do anything contrary to the ecclesiastical laws of England. On the general question whether the Laws of England are in force in the Plantations against Romish priests by the statute of 27 Elizabeth, Counsel states that that extended to all the dominions the Queen had when it was made but it is doubted whether it is extended to dominions acquired after, as the Plantations have been, but the Statute 11 William (III.) to the same effect, "extends to the Plantations, they being Dominions belonging to the Realm of England, and extends to all Priests, foreigners as well as natives." Romish Priests or Jesuits, if aliens, may be turned out of Maryland, if not made denizens or naturalised, but native born subjects cannot, they may be proceeded against by the last mentioned law.

1765, July 20. London.—Roubaud to Dartmouth (in French). Congratulates His Lordship on his appointment of premier lord dans le bureau des plantations (President of the Board of Trade). Is a jesuit of the College of Quebec, who has been ill treated. From his familiarity with Montcalm and his residence among the Indians he is thoroughly acquainted with the country, so that he has been employed by Murray to reduce this knowledge to writing and to proceed to London to give the minister full information respecting Canada, especially in regard to the clergy, hoping that the Court as a reward for his fidelity would grant him subsistence were it only from the Jesuit properties, to which it seems he has some right and in this sense Murray had written to Hillsborough, who had given him hopes which had not been realised. He had handed Lord Hillsborough some of his papers, from the notes which he had he could with some trouble prepare a clean statement for presentation to His Lordship (Dartmouth). Asks for an audience and liberty to lay certain papers before him. He had long desired to have an employment in His Lordship's house as French tutor to his son, but although he had used various means he had not been able to secure sufficient influence. Hopes for other employment as he knows all parts of Canada and can give all necessary information and prays for his recommendation to the Governor of Quebec.

1765, August 17. London.—D. (Dartmouth) to Roubaud (in French). If he has proposals to make to the Board of Trade in name of the Governor of Quebec, he will be received with all respect. Has not time either for an interview or to examine his papers. When Murray shall have given notice to the Board of the commission with which he has charged him (Roubaud) he would find him (Dartmouth) ready to testify his sentiments.

1765, August 24. London.—Cramahé to Dartmouth. Murray had sent him to give an account of the state of Quebec so as to assist in the framing of instructions for his guidance. The Canadians have been alarmed, first, on account of their religion, second, with regard to the administration of justice in a language unknown to them, and the sudden introduction of laws of which they have no idea, and of lawyers not knowing a word of their language. Regulations are wanted on the following: Ecclesiastical affairs, administration of justice and revenues. Under the first are described the various classes, the three vicars general, with the powers of bishops, with the exception of ordaining, confirming and consecrating oils; the chapter; the clergy, regulars and seculars, the nuns. The Jesuits having been expelled from France and Portugal, thinks they cannot be surprised if they are removed from Quebec; proposes limitation to the admission of novices to the Recollets and nunneries. The necessity for prudence in selecting a protestant clergy, two at Quebec, two at Montreal, and one at Trois Rivières would be sufficient. The constitution of the courts of justice; all lawyers should understand French. The various classes of revenue described. List of civil offices with salaries of the officers. State of the public buildings. Respecting Indians and the presents that might be given them.

1765, August 31. Lincoln's Inn.—Fowler Walker to Dartmouth. Sends letter, copies of which had been sent to Lords Bute, Halifax and Hillsborough, by the writer (name not given) for the redress of the insupportable grievances of the inhabitants of Quebec. The copy sent to Bute was from the belief that Murray was patronised and protected by him. Seven charges are stated to be contained in the letter against Murray, but they are not given, reference as to their nature being made to the letter, which is not here. Walker states that he has been appointed agent for the complainants, but whether these were new or old subjects does not appear.

The letter is endorsed: "With another letter complaining against Genl Murray, Govr of Quebec."

1765, September 27. Quebec.—Levesque, Lemoine and Porlier, to Henry Guinand, merchant, London (in French). As he has been informed by his correspondents and others who have been recommended to him from Canada, they will not enlarge on the past. They have submitted with pleasure to the new government and have received favours from it they never enjoyed under the French government, but temporal benefits are wanting. France spent annually for military and other political purposes from ten to twelve million livres, which distributed gave a spring to industry, which the country, still poor, required; it was like sowing seed which increased double or treble, and the country gained strength, which without the first germ would have remained inactive. Their new masters had changed this and instead of spreading riches they exact a heavy burden, which they cannot bear; there is only one resource, to supply by an extended and free trade the want of assistance from their new country and [the burden of] the rules which it imposes on us. The merchants of England are considered the first in the world and consequently the most enlightened, so that they can see what is most suitable and useful, but owing to their distance objects appear in a different light. Trade dies out, the necessary, indeed indispensable, articles cannot be obtained and their own produce of which they make use cannot form the means of payment. Sad situation! No more money is sent and none can be procured by their produce; the Colony, then, overwhelmed with debts which it cannot pay will become a useless member. From the bankruptcy of so many firms, established for four or five years, it is evident that the country is not sufficient of itself, but requires for some time either assistance or encouragement to trade as an equivalent. They complain that instead of cheap, wholesome wine they formerly obtained from France, they can only procure a strong, unwholesome wine at an onerous rate; that their wheat is charged on arrival in England with a heavy duty, whereas properly managed the import of this wheat would make England the granary of Europe and enable the Canadians to trade with advantage and to settle the debts they are obliged to contract for necessaries. Advocates the change of laws which may have become unsuitable, should they stand in the way of helping Canada. Call attention to the desire of the Roman Catholics for a superior and of the Protestants for a minister of their own faith; the good that would result. Urge him (Guinand) to take their cause in hand.

1765, October 17. Lincoln's Inn.—Fowler Walker to Dartmouth(?). Calls attention to the doubts as to the legislative powers exercised by Murray and his Council; he holds that they are not invested with any legal authority to ordain laws and ordinances for the public peace and welfare and good government of the province, notwithstanding they have taken upon themselves so to do. Although the King on the conquest of Canada had the right to place by the royal prerogative the legislative power in the Governor and Council solely, yet he had abridged his power by the terms of the proclamation of 1763, of which he quotes a section containing the provision for legislation, which is, "We have also given power to the said Governors with the Consent of our said Councils and the representatives of the people . . . . . to make, constitute and ordain laws &c. . . . . and untill such assemblies can be called as aforesaid, all persons inhabiting in or resorting to our said Colonies may confide in our royal protection for the enjoyment of the benefit of the laws of our realm of England." The Governor and Council are, therefore, given power in the meantime to constitute courts of judicature to hear and determine causes as near as may be agreeable to the laws of England with the right of appeal. Should his Majesty's ministers be of opinion that the Governor and Council are at present invested with a legislative power, that would "necessarily be attended with a most indecent and detestable conclusion, namely, that his Majesty's subjects, under the circumstances above mentioned, could not safely confide in his royal protection, for the enjoyment of the laws of his realm of England, notwithstanding his royal word and gracious assurances given them to the contrary." He points out the inconveniences that would arise from the sudden enforcement of the laws of England "upon a people whose genius and education, whose Religion and manners, are so widely different from those of the people for whom these laws were compiled," and as "these inconveniences cannot now be prevented consistently with the honour of the Crown and the rights of the people, without the sanction of a general assembly," urges that one should be called, the difficulties in the way being left for removal to the wisdom of his Majesty's Councils.

1765, November 4. Quebec.—François Joseph Cugnet for the heirs of Bissot, Joliet &c. to the Lords of Trade (in French), praying that the heirs be confirmed in the property on the main land of Mingan, the island of Anticosti, the island and islets of Mingan as far as Spanish Bay (Ance des Espagnols) commonly called Labrador or Baye Phelippeaux, sending the Act of Notoriety in place of the title which has been lost, fearing the effect of orders and regulations issued by Hugh Palliser, Governor of Newfoundland, respecting the coast of Labrador, and the islands of Anticosti and Madeline (the Magdalen Islands), which had been inserted in the Quebec Gazette of 31st October last, fears increased by a frigate with vessels furnished with passports for St. Modet and other ports, which had always belonged to the trade. Their hopes of success from the declaration by the King since the conquest, that the Canadians would be retained in their property.

1765, November 15.—Additional instructions to Murray in reference to ordinance enacted on the 17th September, 1764, that a new ordinance is to be enacted, declaring that all the King's subjects in the Province of Quebec are entitled to be impanelled and to sit and act as jurors in all cases civil and criminal. Further that in all cases between British born subjects, the juries are to be composed of British born subjects only; in all causes between Canadians, the juries are to be Canadians only; in cases between British born subjects and Canadians, the juries are to consist of one half of each. Canadians are also authorised to practise in the Courts &c. [The date in a list of documents is 17th February, 1766, but this appears to be doubtful; as by the report of the Attorney and Solicitor General of 14th April, 1766, the date of the additional instruction is given as 15th November, 1765, as above.]

They formally disavow the statement, esteeming themselves happy in living under the orders of the Hon. James Murray, whom they wish to see retained amongst them.

The merchants and traders of Quebec sent a petition for Murray's recall, supported by one from the merchants of London engaged in the trade to Canada, which were sent to Murray by Halifax on the 10th of June, 1765. Murray was recalled in 1766.]

1766, April 14, London.—Report from the Attorney and Solicitor General, Yorke and de Grey, relative to "the Civil Government of the Province of Quebec." It is endorsed 13th May 1766, but that is the date at which it was read at the Committee of the Privy Council. They had received for consideration and report memorials and petitions from British and French subjects in Canada, complaining of several of the ordinances and proceedings of the Governor and Council of Quebec. The "principal sources of the disorders have been 1st. The attempt to carry on the administrations of justice without the aid of the Natives, not merely in new forms, but totally in an unknown tongue, by which means the partys understood nothing of what was pleaded or determined having neither Canadian Advocates or Solicitors to Conduct their Causes between Canadians only, nor Canadian Jurors to give Verdicts, even in Causes between Canadians only, nor Judges conversant in the French Language to declare the Law, and to pronounce Judgment; this must cause the Real mischiefs of Ignorance, oppression and Corruption, or else what is almost equal in Government to the mischiefs themselves, the suspicion and imputation of them.

"The second and great source of disorders was the Alarm taken at the Construction put upon his Majesty's Proclamation of Oct<sup>r</sup> 7th 1763, as if it were his Royal Intentions by his Judges and officers in that Country, at once to abolish all the Usages and Customs of Canada, with the rough hand of A Conqueror rather than with the true spirit of a Lawful Sovereign, and not so much to extend the protection and Benefit of his English Laws to His new Subjects, by securing their Lives, Libertys and propertys with more certainty than in former times; as to impose new unnecessary and arbitrary Rules, especially in the Titles to Land, and in the Modes of Descent, Alienation and settlement, which tend to confound and subvert rights instead of supporting them."

The first had been rectified by the order made by their Lordships on 15th November last (1765) to Murray by an additional instruction, which provides an adequate remedy. The Lords of Trade have applied themselves with great care, ability and judgment to suggest remedies for the second evil. The plan criticised in detail. By the first article, a Court of Chancery, to be also a Court of Appeal, is "very rightly meant to invest the Governor and Council with two different jurisdictions, one as a Court of Equity, the other as a Court of Error." The second article proposing a Superior Court of ordinary jurisdiction is approved of. In addition to the provision that the judges are required to be conversant in the French language "and that one of them particularly should be knowing in the French usages," they recommend that they be instructed to confer sometimes with the Canadian lawyers most respected for learning, &c., who may prove of the greatest assistance. In regard to fixing the terms for the sitting of the Superior Court, it is recommended that these be settled by local circumstances. The fourth article proposes that four sessions of assize, oyer and terminer, and gaol delivery be held at Quebec, with like special commissions once or oftener in the year at Trois Rivières and Montreal. The law officers represent that it is unnecessary to lay down any particular rules for holding four sessions at Quebec. It would be better to hold the circuit courts at Trois Rivières and Montreal twice a year after the manner of the Courts of Great Sessions established in Wales by Henry VIII., and by the Circuit Courts settled for Scotland in the late reign (George II.). They approve of the distribution of the Province, as proposed by the fifth article, into the three districts of which Quebec, Montreal, and Trois Rivières shall be the captial towns, but in respect to the annual appointment of a Sheriff, they suggest that the term of office be longer, owing to the difficulty of procuring English and Protestant sheriffs, especially at Trois Rivières, where the annual sheriff of Quebec might fill the office with a deputy. In that case the sheriff might be annual at Quebec and the same at Montreal. Objections are made to the proposal in the sixth article that the justices of the peace of the three districts, should in quarter sessions have jurisdiction in suits to the value of ten pounds. Such cases they think should be tried in Quebec. The power given to two justices in suits up to forty shillings, and suggest that it would be popular with the new subjects if one or two Canadians were appointed justices. In respect to the proposition in the seventh article, that in all cases where rights and claims are founded on events prior to the Conquest of Canada the Courts are to be governed by the French usages and customs which had hitherto prevailed in respect to such property, they extend the principle to all cases, holding that "there is not a maxim of the Common Law more certain than that a Conquered people retain their Antient Customs till the Conqueror shall declare new Laws." Canada being long settled and the laws established as well as local customs, they are of opinion that the judges would answer all the ends of their trust if they model their conduct on the following general rules. 1. In regard to personal actions and wrongs, the substantial maxims of law and justice are everywhere the same, so that the judges cannot err if in such cases they look to these substantial maxims. 2. In regard to suits affecting real property, the introduction of English laws would cause great confusion, local laws and customs should, therefore, be followed. English judges, with the help of Canadian lawyers, would soon instruct themselves in these. 3. In suits before the Governor and Council as a Court of Equity the same general rules will apply. 4. In criminal cases English law should apply. Its certainty and lenity are the benefits intended by the royal proclamation. 5. In rules of process and the practice of the Courts, the Judges with the Attorney General of Quebec should be instructed to prepare a plan adapted to the jurisdiction of the different Courts; the forms of procedure should be as simple, easy, and as summary and expeditious as may consist with the advancement of right and protection of innocence.

1773, February 7, London.—Roubaud to Dartmouth (in French). Had not been admitted to an audience, his feelings at this exclusion; His wretched state. Having been drawn from his College, he cannot return to the Jesuits; a living death would be the price of his admission to the Church of England. Appeals for assistance.

$4\frac{1}{4}$  quarto pages.

1773, March 17. London.—George Walker and Hugh Montgomerie to Carleton. Transmit memorial from settlers in Quebec stating the abuses in respect to the fishery from Bay Verte to Bay Chaleur and on to Gaspé (Gaspé) in the Province of Quebec and requesting that some of His Majesty's cruisers be stationed on the coast for the protection of the fishery.

1773, March 29.—Maseres to Dartmouth. Desires His Lordship's acceptance of the copy of a new draught of an Act for settling the laws of the Province of Quebec to obviate complaints of some things in the former draught.

$\frac{3}{4}$  quarto page.

1773, March 31.—“A few remarks on the Province of Quebec,” with a plan of the town of Quebec. This appears to be the first copy, roughly written. It is endorsed “Lt. Marr's papers, 56 pages with a plan March 31st 1773.” A clean copy has the title “Remarks on the Province of Quebec,” and is endorsed “Lieut. Marr's Remarks upon Quebec during his residence from 1768 to 1772," but the plan does not accompany it. (Marr was in command of the Royal Engineers at Quebec for some years, but appears to have been superseded in 1777 by Carleton and in July 1778, he complains of being treated as a cypher, Twiss, a junior officer having been put over his head. In August of 1778 he obtained leave of absence, but remained in charge of the local works at Quebec till the end of the summer of 1779). The remarks are thus divided: 1. Boundaries of the Province, taken from the Proclamation of 7th October, 1763. 2. River St. Lawrence. 3. Seigniories and subdivisions. 4. Conditions of vassalage. 5. Manner of taking and dividing the land. 6. Consequences of the foregoing manner of divisions. 7. Antient laws of succession to lands. 8. Changes which have happened under the English Government. 9. Nature of the soil and Canadian Improvements in Husbandry. 10. Timber &c. 11. Pipe staves. 12. Exports from Canada &c. 13. Disposition & Temper of the Canadians. 14. The Canadians indolent & the causes thereof. 15. Project for raising hemp. 16 has no title; this section gives the relative populations &c. 17 suggests building churches for Protestants in Quebec, Montreal and Three Rivers, and the class of ministers who should be settled in them; the desire for a House of Assembly by the old subjects; the inconveniences of granting it owing to the aggressive spirit of English speaking Protestants; the want of education among the Canadians and the probability that the Roman Catholic clergy would seek to be represented on account of their landed properties. Fortifications. General Remarks. Quebec, Montreal, Chambly, Dechambault.

The rough copy contains 55½ pages, besides the plan, the clean copy 78¼, both foolscap. The difference arises from the writing, the two copies being identical.

1773, March 31.—Memorial of Nicholas Turner that E. W. Gray, his deputy at Montreal, had accounted for the fees to June, 1768, but has since refused to do so. Asks that the Attorney General of Quebec may be ordered to compel him to account for and remit the fees.

1773, April 15. Piccadilly.—Chartier de Lotbiniere to Dartmouth (in French). Had been working continuously to satisfy His Lordship's desires and would yesterday have sent part of his work had it been possible. He has touched on some of the causes in the Courts which had attracted his attention, stating their judgments, believing it to be necessary to convince those who may not yet be sufficiently so, of the necessity that the country should have principles of law which cannot be abused. Has suppressed the most monstrous facts of the actions to their close, feeling that the honest people of England had more than sufficient trouble in considering the little he had said. It will be new neither to His Lordship nor to Lord North to whom he had already related the whole and even more, and which have been entered in the statement he had made to him (Dartmouth). He had also informed Lord Hillsborough, who, in spite of his surprised and inquisitive air, he (Lotbiniere) was convinced had been informed of the whole before. As it is impossible to obtain leisure on His Lordship's reception day (jour de lever), asks for a private audience.

1¼ quarto pages.

1773, May 12.—Maurice Morgan to Dartmouth. His mission to Quebec to report on the state of the judicature in that Province; the inadequacy of the allowance for his expenses and asks for additional payment.

4 quarto pages.

On a wrapper is endorsed "Mr. Mau. Morgan, 12 May, 1773, soliciting a reward from Government for his services at Quebec."

1773, May 20. London.—Roubaud to Dartmouth (in French). His claims against the Jesuits, certified by Murray; they refuse to pay and to recompense him. Government has added to his pension, but having entered on engagements on the faith of this he is now twice as deeply involved as he was before. Repeats the account of his services, &c.

3 foolscap pages.

1773, May 29.—Richard Manser to Dartmouth. Appeals for employment to relieve his necessitous state.

1773, June 6. Beauport, near Battle, Sussex.—Roubaud to Dartmouth (in French). Has been desired by Murray to send another petition for which no great success is anticipated owing to causes which he can only communicate verbally. The danger he runs of being arrested in Murray's house, who owes him a safe conduct back to the college from which he drew him to send him to the King, and in honour should solicit and obtain from His Lordship a safe conduct to the Jesuits, which though hard would be less so than to perish in a London prison. States that the two Captains Mackay, of whom one received £1,000 for land not worth £50 and the younger is Surveyor of Woods, are both in Paris soliciting employment from the French Court &c. His fears of an execution on his furniture if he is not assisted.

A memorial (in French) to North is enclosed (1½ pages) and certificate by Murray (1 page) both foolscap.

1773, June 18. Beauport, near Battle, Sussex.—Roubaud to Dartmouth (in French). The silence in reference to his last request forebodes a refusal. The promises made to him of a sufficient pension, on account of the saving in connection with the paper money of Canada, have not been kept, whilst other men without any claim enjoy the favours of Government. His treatment will not encourage the new subjects to offer their services. Repeats the account of his wretched condition.

1773, June 22. Quebec.—Cramahé to Dartmouth. Hopes that the consideration of the constitution for Quebec may soon be brought to a conclusion. To gain the affection of Canadian subjects they should be granted all possible freedom and indulgence in their religion. Recommends the appointment of a Roman Catholic Bishop and the allowance for a coadjutor, to consecrate the clergy &c. and to do away with the necessity of the Bishops crossing the seas for their own consecration, and meeting with these who are not friendly to British interests.

1773, July 3. Bristol.—Bishop of Bristol to Dartmouth, strongly recommending the case of Gregory, late of Quebec, for relief.

1773, August 4.—Lord Chancellor to Dartmouth. Sends papers relating to Canada, which will, he believes, enable His Lordship to form a plan of Government for Canada. [The date may either be the 4th or 7th, the figure being badly made.]

1773, August 11. Paris.—Chartier de Lotbiniere to Dartmouth (in French). Offers to take charge of His Lordship's son and to meet him at Dieppe; suggests that he need only take one servant and not take the title of Lord, as that would greatly influence the expense. He would not be the less considered and would see equally good company. Assures His Lordship that he will guard him as he had done his own son, &c. [Lord Lewisham, the son in question, was not quite eighteen years old at this time.]

2 quarto pages.

1773, August 11. Inner Temple.—Maseres to Dartmouth. Asks for a sinecure office in one of the Provinces, on account of his services in Quebec. The office of Provost Marshal of Barbados is now vacant. His disappointment at losing an Indian judgeship, which he was obliged to refuse, as the Lord Chancellor insisted on giving priority in the Commission to a junior at the bar.

1773, August 26. Inner Temple.—Maseres to Dartmouth. Has received information through Pownall that the office of Provost Marshal at Barbados had been granted in reversion. Asks that the same favour may be extended to him for another office. The desire on the part of Lord North, Lord Mansfield, and the Lord Chancellor to settle the constitution of the Province of Quebec by legislation.

3 quarto pages.

1773, September 4. Montreal.—Memorial (in French) of Joseph Fleury, represents the letting of his house for a barrack in Montreal and its destruction by fire and praying for reimbursement. Represents also the advances he made to Montcalm of grain and money for the use of the French troops for which he cannot get payment from the French Government.

1773, September 11. Beauport near Battle.—Roubaud to Dartmouth (in French). Is still with Murray and would have waited in silence the efforts of his friends with North, but for the bull for the dissolution of the Jesuits, which affects his interests as well as those of the public. The extent of the orders in the bull described. Accounts should be taken at once, since if the bull is received without the consequent orders of Government the Jesuits would leave the college, divide the funds and property, so that the King would lose a large sum and he (Roubaud) be deprived of his share. Asks for an interview on the subject. Rose Fuller, member for Rye drove him to a horse race at Lewes, where he had an interview with the Duke of Richmond at the ball, details of which he would give at his first visit. He is still a fugitive, separated from his family, and hopes that this opportunity will be taken to end his calamities.

2 foolscap pages.

A letter to Pownall of same date is enclosed, begging him to read the letter addressed to Dartmouth and to use his influence to have him recalled to London and to have his affairs settled, so as to put an end to his misfortunes.

1 foolscap page. A separate wrapper states that the letter was read by the King.

1773, October 18 (?). London.—Roubaud to Dartmouth. Memorial (in French), “sur l'état present des jesuites en Canada.” Had a few days before sent to the King what he believed to be an unanswerable proof of the necessity that Government should decide with respect to the Jesuits, the order having been abolished by the Pope and their properties, therefore, escheated to the Crown as had been the case in other States, although from motives of humanity they had granted the members an alimentary pension. The King would, no doubt, act with the same generosity towards the Jesuits of Canada, who were almost all in the decline of life, too old to be banished from their country and several not fit to provide for their own subsistence. To enable Government to decide what should be a proper allowance gives a list of their seigniorial and other properties, their college and other buildings, &c. In the society are three orders, the only true Jesuits being the professed; the brothers and non-professed were not understood to be of the order and could be dismissed at pleasure. When the treaty of peace was concluded they were forbidden by the Court to receive novices (nouveaux sujets) but they had the brothers, a kind of servants, not wearing the ecclesiastical soutane, taught a few words of Latin and made priests. These should not be admitted to the new fabrique; there are two of them living—Fathers Macquet and Cazeau. Gives the names and ages of the true professed who are nine in number, including himself. Suggests that to relieve the burden of paying the pension for a long time, the Bishop should be ordered to place the Jesuits in the vacant charges which are numerous in Canada, and which would furnish a larger amount for the decent subsistence of the priests than the value of the pension.

The memoire is undated. The memoire to the King, mentioned in the first paragraph as having been sent a few days before, was dated 11th October 1773.

6¼ quarto pages.

1773, November 28. La Haye.—Roubaud to Dartmouth (in French). The unexpected arrival of his wife and consequent increase of his expenses. Cannot pay his tavern bills which would be a disgrace to the office he holds of Secretary to the Embassy. Reiterates his claims on the Jesuits, &c.

2½ quarto pages.

1773, December 21. La Haye.—Roubaud to Dartmouth (in French). Had expended £3,000 sterling to redeem English prisoners; had enriched the state by a million sterling on account of the paper money of Canada (dans l'affaire des papiers du Canada); had served England faithfully for 13 years; the King had thanked Murray for sending him to London, and when he was deposed, the Jesuits had agreed to pay him a pension of 120 guineas a year, ratified and guaranteed by the Governor. For five years these claims were totally abandoned, and the Jesuits imitating the conduct of Government had ceased after a year, to pay the pension. His wretched state of poverty ; asks for payment of his pension from the Jesuits with arrears, enlarging on his claims.

1773.—“Avertissement. Doit être incessamment publiée par souscription, Lettre Canadienne et Sauvage, Dediée à Milord N. (North) par Mr. Roubaud, nouveau sujet de sa Majesté, et Membre de l'Eglise D'Angleterre, ci-devant Missionnaire Jesuite chés les Sauvages.”

5 quarto pages.

1774, February 4. Hague.—Joseph Yorke to Dartmouth, Roubaud, recommended to his care, had taken refuge here after his wife's elopement, but she has traced him out and joined him. The increased expense this has caused. Had not hesitated to assist him ; his pension is small and although he acts prudently, he cannot avoid incurring debts. From his services he does not deserve to be given up or to die in prison. Asks instructions if he is to leave Roubaud and his wife to take their chance of returning to London. A postscript says:—“I could not refuse Mr. Roubaud the leave he asked to trouble your Lordship with a renewal of his lamentations.”

3 quarto pages.

1774, February 11. St. James's Square.—Dartmouth to Yorke. In consideration of his difficulties rather than deserts, he had obtained assistance from the Treasury for Roubaud. Although he had promised to make no further solicitation, he would once more endeavour to preserve him from the ruin caused by his own indiscretions. His pension, though small, should suffice and he has besides had sums given to him to pay his debts ; his extravagant pretensions. Roubaud is to send an account of his present debts and he shall hope to satisfy the most clamorous.

1774, March 2.—Wedderburn to Dartmouth. Is doubtful if he has succeeded in expressing the alterations required in the Quebec bill; his objection to parts of the bill and alterations strengthened. His objection to French law in criminal cases, which Chief Justice Hey assures him would be as little agreeable to the French as to the English speaking inhabitants, and the French make very good jurymen. Sees no objection to the adoption of the criminal law of England, which might afterwards be modified in accordance with the circumstances of Canada. Remarks on the method of appointing to the Council. Objections to the definition of the state of the laws, the proclamation, commissions, &c., being annulled, and it is difficult to understand what is meant, a clause of the bill declaring “that His Majesty’s subjects in Canada shall enjoy their Laws and Customs beneficially, as if the Proclamation had not been made and as is consistent with their allegiance and subjection to the Crown and Parliament of Great Britain.” These words, Chief Justice Hey thinks, will much perplex the Canadian. “Is his Religion lawfull, or tolerated or unlawful. Are the rights of succession, of marriage, of contract, that have accrued since 1764 and been enjoyed according to the law of England rescinded, for the Act is in some measure declaratory as to the sense of the Proclamation. What is to be the condition of the English Canadian? Is he or is he not included in the description of His Majesty’s subjects of and in Canada? He thinks it would be much better to express clearly what rights shall be restored to the Canadian, and that he would be better satisfied with a less extensive and a more certain Provision for him.” He (Wedderburn) thinks the objections weighty, and that it would be easy to adapt a bill to the idea they suggest.

4 foolscap pages.

1774, March 11. Hague.—Yorke to Dartmouth. His Lordship having taken Roubaud’s affairs in hand, he (Yorke) shall wait further directions. Leave of absence obtained for Ensign Selkirk Stewart.

One of two copies of an unsigned and undated memorial is endorsed, “Letter from a French surgeon, recommended by the Duke de Nivernois.” The memorialist appears to be the surgeon mentioned in the preceding letter. The application is to be appointed visiting surgeon to the two hospitals in Quebec now in charge of the nuns, who act as doctors and surgeons to the best of their power.

1774, May 1.—Dartmouth to Mansfield. The first objection—that relative to the Supremacy,—has been agreed to by the Cabinet. The other—relative to tithes—is unnecessary, as His Majesty intends to make immediate provision for a Protestant clergy. The clause relating to the free exercise of religion has been made declaratory, which will remove doubts and prevent any ill consequences in other parts of His Majesty's dominions.

Has conversed with Hey about the Quebec Act; Hey prefers his (Pownall's) plan to his own but he (Pownall) thinks Hey's is best; anything that falls short of, goes beyond or halts between either will be improper. Carleton gone; has left a list of persons proper for Councillors, which is enclosed. He (Pownall) is going to Margate, but is not sure where he shall fix his residence. North says that Roubaud is to have 300*l.* but must wait till it is convenient to the Treasury to issue it.

1774, September 4. Montreal.—F. Martin to — (in French). Had obtained observations on plan of the Act, differing from those of Cugnet. 1½ foolscap pages.

1774, October 10. Valburg.—Roubaud to Pownall (in French). Had received his pension from his banker, to whom he had given an order on the Treasury. The conduct of his wife had obliged him to do this to avoid scandal, as she had her Ganymede with her for a year. She goes to London next week, may God go with her; she will probably be accompanied by her young man (gars) and they will no doubt try to entangle his affairs so as to prevent his return to London. "If his business is not settled before their arrival he does not know when it will be and asks that Lord Dartmouth be informed of the facts. If his agent gives him favourable news, the Ambassador thinks he should set out, and on the assurance of the benefit promised by the Treasury he may borrow money to pay his creditors. Should he receive the gratification he expects, hopes that enough will be sent to pay his debts.

Urges his claims for a pension and that on his being officially informed of its being granted, he could borrow money in London on an order being given to repay it in Quebec. An order had been given to the Jesuits to pay him, which they had refused on the ground that he had become a player, although at the time of the accusation he only knew a few words of English. He makes his wife an allowance of 50*l.*, and has only three or four guineas left, when this is spent he will be forced to beg at St. James's, in a court suit presented to him by the King; asks leave to solicit a public subscription, &c.

These letters appear to be those attributed to Montcalm.

1777, June 30. Quebec.—W. Gordon to Dartmouth. Thanks for the attention paid to his memorial. Mandamus to hold the offices of Clerk of the Crown and Common Pleas not received till 20th May, owing to the detention of the vessel at Halifax. Knox's letter of 27th March that he could not hold the office of Clerk of the Common Pleas as well as Clerk of the Crown received on the 2nd of June, so that he had not used the mandamus, nor had he intended to do so, as it would have deprived a worthy man of his subsistence. The office he holds yields £100 a year, without perquisites, on which he cannot live, but Carleton has added to his salary, which he trusts may be approved of. His services during the siege of 1775; owing to disease then contracted asks for leave of absence.

1777 (?).—Roubaud, memorial addressed “Au Roi.” One of many memorials on the subject of his services and his claims on the Jesuits for a pension. The words “Quand le Général Murray, me deputa à Londres il y a près de douze ans” fix the date nearly.

(1 foolscap page.) The letter is undated, but it encloses a certificate from the turnkey, referred to in the letter, dated 12th February 1780, apparently a few days before the letter was written. 4 octavo pages.

1772, November 4. Nain.—Braasen to Hutton, secretary. The title is: "A Letter from the little Congregation in Nain in Terra Labrador to the Society for the furtherance of the Gospel among the heathen." Gives an account of their proceedings among the Esquimaux and the success of their mission.

Endorsed :—Mr. Hutton, Chelsea, [who was secretary for the Brethren or Moravians, and the copy here was addressed to Dartmouth].

1772, November 30. Whitehall.—Report of Lords of Trade on the claims of Hocquart to the fishing post of the Gros Mecatinat, on the coast of Labrador. Report the grant to Bissot in 1662, of a tract of land "from the River aux Cœufs in the mouth of the River St Lawrence to Phelippeaux Bay near the Straights of Belle Isle," under the denomination of the Main Land of Mingan. In 1679, all the islands on the coast within the described limits were granted to Joliet and Lalande. It is within these limits that Gros Mecatinat, claimed by Hocquart, is situated, containing, according to description, four leagues in front and four in depth, with all the isles and islets adjoining. The proprietors making no use of the post for a fishery, Hocquart in 1739, being then intendant, granted a lease of it for nine years to Pomereau, but the post being a part of the seigniority of the Main Land and Isles of Mingan, three per cent. of all the profits was reserved for the proprietors. Death of Pomereau, extension of the lease for three years to his widow; her refusal to pay an increased rent induced the proprietors to take it into their own hands, but Bigot, then intendant, refused them possession, on the alleged ground of prejudicing the rights of the Crown. Tachet, employed by the proprietors, went to France and obtained for them the promise of the post, but Hocquart by his influence at the Court of France obtained a grant of Gros Mecatina for life, on the reservation of three per cent to the proprietors and leased it to Tachet, who held the post as lessee from Hocquart from 1754 to 1759, when the country was conquered. Cannot recommend that Hocquart be confirmed in possession of Gros Mecatina, his title not warranting this, and may prejudice the claim of the grantees, which they would no doubt prosecute before the Courts in Quebec, should the coast of Labrador be reannexed to Quebec, having been improvidently made a part of the Government of Newfoundland by the proclamation of 1763. Even if Hocquart's claim had been valid, he had not taken advantage of the fourth article of the Treaty of Paris, either by continuing his residence in Canada as a British subject, or by selling his estates to His Majesty's subjects within the delay prescribed by the treaty.

7½ foolscap pages. There are two copies of the report.

An undated memorandum giving a note of the grants on the coast of Labrador from 1662, appears to belong to the preceding papers.

1 foolscap page.

1772, December 2. Lindsey House, Chelsea.—John Wollin to ———. Reports that the missionaries on the coast of Labrador are well, cheerful and on good terms with the Esquimaux. The improvement in the conduct of those who came to Newfoundland in June, on their way to trade in the Bay of Chaleur. It is hoped “that the murders and disturbances which formerly sometimes occurred, will for the future cease.”

1 quarto page.

1773, January 5. Lindsey House, Chelsea.—Hutton to Dartmouth. After making a summary of the material passages relating to Labrador, had found he had forgotten to speak of the proposal of Mikak, the Esquimaux woman, to return to England with her new husband and son to get a new boat &c. The objection by Government for many reasons, “to the savage apparitions” in England, so that the return of Mikak was prevented by the missionaries. The envy of the other Esquimaux of the presents received by Mikak which are spoiled and good for nothing as she had to hide them. The bad effect on her own mind of the visit, and the licentiousness she indulged in. The evil influence on the Esquimaux of the example shown them when in England. The sight of the ships has sufficiently proved the force of the nation and the good conduct of the sailors, restrained by Palliser and Byron, has had all the good effect wished for without other inconveniences.

3 foolscap pages.

This letter accompanied an undated paper with the title :

“The Brethren’s Society for the furtherance of the Gospel among the heathen, Humbly present the following brief account of the Brethren’s Mission & Settlement in Esquimaux Bay on the Coast of Labrador during the first year of the Missionaries abode there, to the Right Hon<sup>ble</sup> the Earl of Dartmouth, one of his Majesty’s principle Secretaries of State & to The Lords Commissioners for Trade and Plantations.”

12 foolscap pages.

A private letter from Hutton, dated the 6th January, gives what he calls in another letter of the same date (not marked private) “A view of the internal and spiritual course of the mission within itself.” This view speaks of the fourteen people living “together as a Family devoted to God : having every one of them the same views and the same Taste & are together as a sort of Religious House, have their Morning and Evening Prayer, meetings for reading the Scriptures and singing Hymns & Liturgies every day” &c. &c. The manner of communicating Christian teaching to the Esquimaux is also given.

6 quarto pages.

1773, January 6. Lindsey House, Chelsea.—Hutton to Dartmouth. Apologises for the delay in transmitting the summary of the proceedings of the Brethren among the Esquimaux, owing to the difficulty of having it properly copied. This being the anniversary of the homage paid by the wise men from the East to the Saviour, [Twelfth Day] the Society is holding a meeting to rejoice together at the hope of an increase of believing Gentiles. The articles of the Society, printed and bound, had been sent by La Trobe to Hillsborough to be presented to the King. If no opportunity had offered for this presentation shall have another copy prepared. Thanks for the favours so readily granted by Government. The good effects of the labours of the Brethren must be a pleasing reflection to those who have assisted. The satisfaction of the Society at his (Dartmouth's) appointment, knowing that His Lordship will feel peculiar joy in being in a position to gratify his desire to forward the work of the Brethren. A summary at the end of the letter shows that 98 Brethren and 46 sisters were engaged in different parts of the world as missionaries, twelve Brethren and three sisters being in Labrador. "All these," he says "are volunteers, who try to maintain themselves by the labour of their hands, with as little expense as possible."

1773, January 13.—Lieut. Cartwright to Dartmouth. His objections to vesting the Government of Labrador in the Governor of Canada, instead of in the Governor of Newfoundland. The propriety of having the property in the fisheries of Labrador granted to individuals, although not allowed in Newfoundland. The reasons for and against given in parallel columns, respectively entitled: "Labrador continuing united with Newfoundland," and "Labrador supposed to be annexed to the Province of Canada." [George Cartwright, the author of this paper, spent many years in Labrador and published the journals of his proceedings, with illustrations of the scenery, &c.]

6 foolscap pages.

1773, February 13. Bath.—Lord Clare to Dartmouth. Recommends Noble and Pinson for a grant of a district on the Labrador Coast. If admitted to an interview Pinson could give His Lordship information about the coast that might be of advantage to the public.

1773, March 9. Whitehall.—Dartmouth to Shuldham. Instructs him that all engaged or to engage in seal and salmon fishery on the Labrador Coast and who have taken or shall take possession of any river or bays of Labrador or to the north of the Straight of Belle Isle, making permanent establishments to carry on the fisheries are to be protected, provided they annually fit out from Great Britain one or more ship or ships to be employed in the cod fishery on the coast of Labrador. The proprietors are to claim no greater extent of the shore than is necessary in proportion to the number of the ships and men they employ. Not signed.

2 foolscap pages.

1773, August 12. Paris.—Hocquart to Dartmouth (in French). His claim to be the proprietor of Le Gros Mecatina is resisted by Cugnet, on the ground that it has become his by his marriage with the daughter of La Fontaine, the proprietor. La Fontaine when the property was sold by auction to Madame Montesson, from whom he (Hocquart) acquired it, had exercised his right of tiercement (a right under the feudal law by which the proprietor could demand a third more than the highest offer) and instead of 4,600 livres bid by Madame Montesson had demanded and been paid 6,133·06 sous, as appears by a copy of the transaction signed by Bigot (the intendant) and by La Fontaine.

1773, November 4. Lindsey House, Chelsea.—La Trobe to Dartmouth. Return of Brother and Sister Layritz from Nain, to which place they had gone in Spring. The dangers they had encountered on the voyage from St. John's Newfoundland in a sloop of 30 tons, the voyage occupying nine weeks, "being drove into Bays and among islands by contrary winds. They were graciously preserved in storms among floating Ice and were turned back by a field of Ice of vast dimensions. They were twice surrounded by numbers of the most savage Esquimaux, who have been used to murder and rapine, but the hand of God not only preserved them, but B<sup>r</sup> Layritz went among them, and preached to them, which B<sup>r</sup> Beck interpreted, they were very attentive." Safe arrival at Nain and welcome from the Brethren and Sisters and from the Esquimaux. All the people healthy and happy. Visit of some of the Missionaries to the North, reaching to 60° latitude. Hopeful prospects. Had called on His Lordship but was unable to see him. Layritz desired to make a verbal report &c.

3 quarto pages.

1773.—Three papers of jottings on Palliser's regulations respecting Labrador. They relate, apparently, to the consideration of the re-annexing of Labrador to Quebec, and refer entirely to Labrador, although two are endorsed Newfoundland.

1773.—"Proposal for a further exploration of the country of Labrador; humbly addressed to the Right Honourable the Earl of Dartmouth, by Lieutenant Roger Curtis of His Majesty's sloop the Otter one of Commodore Shuldham's squadron." Curtis, afterwards Sir Roger, who died in 1816 an admiral of the red, reports having made a survey but gives no date. According to the MSS. of the Moravians, this was in 1773; as in a report in the Moravian mission office, 7 Furnival's Inn, a copy of one noted as being sent by Curtis either to the Admiralty or Governor Shuldham, that is the year in which the survey was made. But the official log book and muster roll show that Curtis was on board of the "Otter" lying at Pitt's Harbour Chateau, now Headley Harbour, all the summer of 1773, so that the two statements are entirely irreconcilable, although the report in the Moravian Mission office is very explicit as to his proceedings at the Mission station. It is impossible now to determine. Either the muster roll was improperly kept or Curtis did not make the survey, which, in view of the details he gives, it is not possible to believe. He was paid off from the "Otter" on the 27th November, 1773, and remained on half-pay till commissioned in the "Chatham" on the 6th August 1775. The year 1773 appears to be the date of the proposal.

1774, January 13, Coleman Street.—Robert Hunter to Dartmouth. The growth of the fishery. Asks for protection to the holders of the fishing posts, who are liable to disturbance should the vessels sent out annually, as required by the regulations, be late in arriving on the coast. Asks for copy of the regulations to be sent to his friends to prevent misunderstanding between them and the officers of His Majesty's ships.

1774, March 1. London.—George Cartwright to Dartmouth. A sealing and salmon post on Seal Island and the River Charles had been taken possession of by him and his partner, the partnership expiring in 1773. That Andrew Pinson unlawfully seized on the post in 1772, and still retained possession when he (Cartwright) arrived on the coast in August, 1773, Shuldham having given him permission to fish there for the season on account of his (Cartwright's) late arrival, so that the fishing should not be lost for the season. Prays for such remedy as may be considered just.

3 foolscap pages.

1774, September 12. Charles Harbour.—Cartwright to Dartmouth. Has not been able to meet with any fossils worthy of acceptance. Sends a tree cut down by the beaver and gives a sketch of the habits of the animal. The decline of the fisheries in 1770, on account of the uncertain tenure of the posts. The only firm that continued was that of Noble and Pinson, who by sending out their vessels early hoped to be able to seize all the best posts by getting first on the coast. The murder of a crew by the Indians had deterred them from extending their fishery further than Bad Bay, about a mile from the block-house at Chateau; that and Seal Island, were the only sealing posts without the Straights of Belle Isle in possession of the English when he came and they had not one salmon post. His operations during 1771. Seizure of his post by Pinson in 1772, owing to the non-arrival of his (Cartwright's) vessel, she having been cast away on Fogo Island; had, therefore, established new posts. The advantage of the new regulations for the security of property, but Noble and Pinson still held possession of his posts until dispossessed of two of them by the Governor, who had not, however, restored him Seal Island, to which he has a better title than they (Noble and Pinson). Finds that the coast is annexed to Quebec, and that the Canadians are to be reinstated in all their former possessions. The disadvantage of this to the traders who may be dispossessed by old, unheard of grants, never made use of. Requests to have all that part of the coast between Cape Charles and Cape St. Lewis, and the islands within those limits. No Esquimaux have come this summer; the indulgence shown by Government to the Moravians has enabled them to engross the trade of these people, to his no small loss and disappointment, as £300 of goods are in hand not saleable any where else. Return of a boat from Sandwich Bay, where she left the furriers in possession of the Salmon river; there was no sign of any Europeans having dwelt there; it is much frequented by the Nescanpick Indians, who are good furriers and have traded with the Canadians for many years. One family had visited him from whom furs to the amount of £50 had been bought. Proposes to take a cruise to the northward, to visit the Indians and find out proper places for summer sealing and for whale fishing.

8 quarto pages.

1774, December 3. King's Road, Chelsea.—Hutton to Dartmouth. Reports the wreck of the sloop sent northward to look out for a missionary settlement; two of the missionaries, Brasen and Lehman, drowned, the rest saved, but without provisions or tools, and had lost their boat. Some biscuits and blankets driven ashore, and the broken boat with her sides stove in. With the blankets, and with the fur from their waistcoats, breeches, and boots they succeeded in keeping her afloat with seven persons till they reached Nain.

1774, December 4.—Hutton to Dartmouth. In breaking the news to Mrs. Brasen of her husband being drowned on the 15th of September, she said his corpse had appeared to her on that night, with a wound across his nose. That was the time, the letter continues, of his being drowned. When the corpses were brought from the scene of the wreck, “all Nain saw the wound on the Nose of Mr. Brâsen.” The good qualities of Brasen, whom they all miss.

2 quarto pages.

1774, December 12.—List (unsigned) “of the fishing posts occupied by the British merchants who carry on business without the Streights of Belleisle.” The list gives the names of those engaged in the cod fisheries, and of the “Seeling” posts.

*Endorsed:—*Mr. Cartwright, Labradore 12 Dec. 1774.

1775, January 10. Island of Jersey.—Mr. Corbett, Lieut.-Governor of Jersey, to Dartmouth. A company of merchants on the island fitted out a vessel in 1767, with 50 men for the fishery in Labrador, but abandoned it with a loss in 1769. In 1773, they were induced by Derby to enter again on the trade, but are alarmed at the report that Labrador is annexed to Quebec, and that all their posts will be taken possession of. The importance of this trade to the Island of Jersey; asks for information to quiet the minds of the merchants.

1775, September 14. Sandwich Bay.—Cartwright to Dartmouth. The failure of the fisheries last winter. The security of possession has, however, encouraged the adventurers to prepare with vigour for the prosecution of the trade. Next year, if no new regulations prejudicial to their interests are issued, every branch of the fishery will be increased nearly one fourth. The season was late this year for cod fishing, but a good one at last. Gives details of the preparations for salmon fishing. His partners are discouraged but he will carry on the business himself. He shall not disturb the Moravians. Will follow His Lordship's advice and not extend his business too fast. Should Custom House officers be introduced asks to be appointed Collector. Would not encourage any meeting of adventurers respecting the bill for Canada. Had sent answers to Parker, which would probably be laid before His Lordship. His (Cartwright's) proposed regulations for the Labrador coast are, he thinks, best for the nation and for the adventurers. The tree cut by the beavers had, by mistake, been sent to John Hunter, the surgeon; sends a larger tree, stag's head, &c. On one of the rivers of the bay is a cataract 16 feet high which stops the ascent of the salmon; the pool below is full of them attracting many black and white bears; the offal they leave on the rocks attracts wolves, foxes and other carnivorous animals, so that the country is full of them.

1777.—“Memorandum concerning the Sealing and Salmon fishing Posts of Geo. Cartwright Esq. on the Coast of Labrador.” The paper is undated, but is endorsed: “Capt. Cartwright’s memorandum concerning his Salmon fisheries in Labrador, 1777.” The statements are repetitions of the state of the fisheries and complaints of the power given to the Governor to decide whether any adventurer possesses more of the shore than is reasonable, as being extended to regulate the number of posts. He says: “If he be possessed of more salmon posts than others, it has been by risking more money in real discoveries and adventures, in taking more pains, encountering more difficulties and dangers, in suffering more crosses, failures, and disappointments than others. He has done all this under that hope and confidence of protection from Government which every honest and industrious subject has a right to expect,” &c. He continues: “The Coast of Labrador is now indebted to him 8,000*l.*, besides his indefatigable labours for seven years.” (The time stated in the last extract proves the date—1777—to be correct, as he began operations in 1770.)

1783, February 3. Marnham, near Twyford.—Cartwright to Dartmouth. Sends copy of Memorandum on Labrador; applies to be made Governor and hopes, from his knowledge acquired in Derbyshire, to discover veins worthy of attention.

$1\frac{1}{4}$  quarto pages.

The paper enclosed, transmitted to Shelburne with a letter dated 27th January, 1783, gives his (Cartwright’s) views as to the regulations that should be made for the fisheries at Labrador. In the memorandum the difficulties of obtaining legal decisions in consequence of the transfer from Newfoundland to the jurisdiction of Quebec are pointed out for which cause crimes of all kinds constantly go unpunished, of which he gives instances. The resort to St. John’s, Newfoundland, for justice would not be much better, owing to the loss of their trade that would be caused to litigants, &c., by going there. The precarious tenure of property, even under the provisions of the proclamation of 1773. But this partial security had encouraged him to explore to the northward, where he discovered valuable salmon rivers, and put a stop to the thefts and murders committed by the Esquimaux, amongst whom he lived. The stoppage to trade caused by the war, the whole coast having been plundered by the “Minerva” privateer from Boston. His plan to cure the evils is to erect Labrador into a Government of its own, with the necessary officials (enumerated). Suggests a code of laws, including security of property for the discoverer of valuable posts, the reservation of timber, the admission free of duty of all fish oils, skins, &c.

NEWFOUNDLAND.

1759, December 27.—Paper not signed. An argument for the exclusion of the French from the fishery of Newfoundland, as the best means to prevent the training of sailors for their navy. "It is very evident that the fishing trade is of more consequence to our Naval force than any other Single Trade whatever . . . . . and I doubt not it will appear that entirely excluding the French from the fishing Trade in those parts will be the most certain Insurance that can be made for a lasting Peace."

$1\frac{3}{4}$  quarto pages.

1764, 1765, 1766.—Rough departmental jottings (four papers) respecting arrangements for Newfoundland, with calculations as to the produce of the French fishing, numbers of men, &c.

1772, October 25. Harbour Grace.—Rev. Mr. Coughlan to Dartmouth. Had met with little success as a missionary; four or five souls had gone to glory, some are walking in the fear of the Lord, some are preaching from house to house. The state of his health impaired by the severity of the climate. The bitter hostility of the merchants; not being able to starve him out, they formed a design to poison him. Is there any hope of his obtaining a living from the Society or the Bishop of London?

Shuldham to Hillsborough, 30th September 1772, report in minute detail, of the state of the defences of Placentia; the necessity of having a secure rendezvous for the people engaged in the shore fishery. Recommends the erection of a few batteries, to co-operate with the ships of war on the station, which alone might not answer for defence, as should they be called elsewhere, one armed sloop, with a few men, could, in the absence of the ships, burn the magazine and stores and at one blow destroy the fishery of twenty harbours for at least one year. Recommends moveable fortifications [that is ships] as the proper defence instead of extensive forts, &c. on the different bays of the island.

Sir Charles Frederick to Townshend, 25th January 1773. No reference has been made to the Board of Ordnance respecting the fortifications of Quebec. For St. John's, orders were given in March 1772, for a battery to be erected and a boom placed across the mouth of the harbour; all other projected works to be laid aside, Lieut. Pringle is to bring his proposals, plans, &c. to the Board, which will enable His Lordship to answer whatever questions Dartmouth may propose.

Observations on the proposed defences, undated, but which apparently refer to the preceding letter.

1773, January 26. Ordnance.—Board of Ordnance to Townshend. Pringle's plans for the defence of St. John's approved of, and, with His Lordship's approbation, orders shall be given to him to proceed to St. John's to carry them on with all possible dispatch. The boom ordered to protect the mouth of the harbour is in the Naval Department and orders must, therefore, be sent to the Admiralty to have it prepared.

Dartmouth to Townshend, February. — 1773, refers the Board of Ordnance to the instructions formerly given respecting the defensive works at St. John's. Should it appear on consideration that they are inadequate, the Board is to report what alterations or additions may be necessary. With respect to Placentia, such additional defensive works may be erected as the Board may consider necessary, provided the Board has full information, otherwise a decision must be deferred till such information is obtained.

1775, April 22. "Centaur," Portsmouth.—Arthur Hayne to Dartmouth. Encloses a plan for encouraging the Newfoundland fishery. His proposal, as summarised in the letter is that two days should be set apart every week for the use of fish as an article of food, and the argument is that all attempts by legislation to reduce the cost of grain and meat being ineffectual, the reduction could be managed by his plan. In closing the letter, he says:—"All luxury, my Lord, of the Flesh kind; not only heightens the Price of Provisions; but tend to the industry, and the maintenance of a very few People; Whereas, all extravagance and luxury in the Article of Fish; were we to dress it Ten Thousand Ways—consume—Waste—destroy—fling it to the Vultures, or the Birds of Prey; We should but so much the more answer the wise ends and Purposes of Government; and contribute to the maintenance of a greater number of People."

1766, March 10.—Memorial of McNutt to Lords of Trade. That he has now 12,000 settlers ready to enter upon lands. The terms settled by the Board in 1763 and confirmed by His Majesty were, that they should have liberty to choose their own representatives and town officers annually by ballot and in giving evidence those who shall choose may be permitted to hold up their hand instead of any other form. Applies for a charter for a city he intends to build at Cape Sable. He has been employed in surveying parts of Nova Scotia at a cost of £1,400. Has a vessel waiting at Liverpool and has three other vessels with whale boats which will remain unemployed till he returns to America ; asks, therefore, for a speedy decision.

1766, May 16.—Paper endorsed :—"Reasons ag<sup>t</sup> the reservation of timber." It prevents the clearing of land by<sup>e</sup> the farmers and acts against the fishing industry, as the fisherman could not use enough to build a fishing vessel, and the settlers are entirely at the mercy of informers, ready to swear anything. To the farmers it makes little difference what kind of timber is reserved, whether "white pine, gopher, or shittim wood." The reasons are given in by McNutt acting as agent for the settlers, who also apply for two ports of entry and discharge, one at Jerusalem, the other at Pictou, as it is a great loss to the owners of ships to be obliged to go to Halifax and a much greater loss to the settlers. The obstacles the reservation places in the way of ship building to the advantage of Archangel where fir ships are built annually for British and Irish account. The effect of the reservation is to drive the farmer to cut down the young trees before they reach the prohibited girth. The caution to be observed in making such reservations; those who have no intention to settle will accept lands on any terms, but the settlers must be more careful.

1773, August 24. Halifax.—Lord W. Campbell to Dartmouth (private). Previous to receiving the order to grant no more lands, he had allotted a small tract of about 400 acres to his little boy as a reminder hereafter that he had been born in the Province. Hopes that this will not be considered an infringement on His Majesty's mandate. ¶

1773, September 8. Parliament Street.—Meyrick to Dartmouth. Legge's commission as Lieut.-Colonel of the 55th regiment was left in Dublin, sent to Rochford and cancelled. The only way to preserve Legge's rank is by a brevet commission as Lieut.-Colonel in the army.

1773, September 13. Parliament Street.—Meyrick to Dartmouth. Suggests for consideration whether a brevet to Legge as Lieut. Colonel in the army would interfere with the King's intention not to allow a Governor of a Province to hold a commission in a regiment. Tryon, Shirley, &c., hold their rank in the army.

1773, October 22. Halifax.—Morris to Campbell. In accordance with orders reports on the lands to be reserved for timber. Cape Breton contains principally forest lands. The desirability of black birch, used for shipbuilding and wharves, very durable and not attacked by worms; black spruce is best for shipping and for masts for small vessels, but would serve for topmasts for the largest vessels. There is some pine, but the heavy gales on the coast cause shakes in the butts, from 10 to 20 feet up, above that they have often 40 to 60 feet fit for plank. Recommends that the whole island be reserved. The other is a tract of land on the St. John River above the settlements, to extend for 150 miles with a breadth of 25 miles on each side of the river. There are quantities of pine, oak, black birch, black spruce and other useful timber.

1773, December 9. Southampton.—Mauger to Pownall. The sad condition of Nova Scotia described in a letter from Butler, lately received. With the exception of Hopson, all the Governors deserved a halter rather than a government. Recommends that James Monk, going to Nova Scotia, be appointed to the Council.

1774, January 2. Shirburn Castle.—Macclesfield to Dartmouth. Transmits a memorial by Tonge to Legge. Tonge's appointment not having been agreeable to the late Governor (Campbell), his representations may not be absolutely free from partiality. Asks for a fair consideration of Tonge's case.

The memorial undated is enclosed. It complains that whilst preparing to regulate the office, to appoint deputies and to fix the fees, &c., he had been prevented by Campbell on the ground that he had mistaken the terms of his commission, which only appointed him to Halifax, with no power to appoint deputies or receive fees. Enters into details and submits the case to Legge's consideration.

1774, January 4. Halifax.—Legge to Dartmouth. Is afraid Meyrick has been importuning His Lordship too much in respect to the continuance of his rank. Shall write Meyrick not to trouble His Lordship more on that head; is perfectly satisfied and happy in his present situation. The mildness of the winter. Only money to make roads is wanted to make this one of the most flourishing provinces in North America; £500 a year well laid out for four years would be the making of the Province.

1774, February 5. Whitehall.—Dartmouth to the Governor of Nova Scotia (Circular). Instructions sent respecting the disposal of land.

He is to afford the agents protection, although he is not apprehensive respecting the conduct of the people of Nova Scotia.

An essay on the subject indicated in the title. 1774, October 28. Council Chambers.—Address of the Council of Nova Scotia to Legge. In answer to a charge by the Assembly that the Council, in its legislative capacity, had acted in a manner detrimental and obstructive to the welfare of the Province. This charge is an attempt to make the Council responsible [to the Assembly] for its reasoning and opinions and, therefore, unconstitutional, so that their answer out of respect to the Governor must not be taken as a precedent. It explains the course taken by the Council in reference to the taxes embodied in the bill sent up by the Assembly, to the principles of which the Council could not assent, for reasons given.

1775, January 10. Halifax.—Legge to Dartmouth. Had reported that the public records of receipts and payments in the hands of the late Treasurer had been suppressed; for the purpose of concealing some undue measures practised by a party here. The first Assembly was composed of persons solely under the influence of Mauger, then resident and now member for Poole. The means they adopted for securing power by squandering the money in the Treasury and the money borrowed on useless works, bounties &c., threatening the Governor and members of Council, many of them being officers of Government, with a refusal to vote their salaries, and, the members being traders, by keeping these members in debt; by granting to the distillers duties to exclude West Indian produce and through the influence of Mauger to fill the Council with their supporters so as to prevent any check on the Assembly. They have so monopolised the trade, that the Governor cannot introduce any measure for the public good, that is opposed to their interest, without complaint.

The extract from letter dated Halifax 18th November, 1774, is enclosed. It complains of his hard situation as Provost Marshal, the salary attached having been withdrawn and the income dependent on fees fixed by the Assembly, many of whom are emigrants from New England, who have brought the same principles as exist there and are determined, being a majority of the Assembly, to give the Governor and all the officers under him all the uneasiness in their power. The addition to his income of the salary (£50 or £60) of Receiver of quit rents would enable him to live.

1775, January 17. London.—Lord W. Campbell to Dartmouth. John Shoolbred has communicated the contents of a memorial to be presented to His Lordship for lands on the river Rustigush (Restigouche) and asking for testimony as to the utility of his settlement in the Bay of Chaleurs and the expense and industry with which it has been carried on. "This I can do in the fullest manner ; the settlement was begun during my Government of the Province, & from every account I have had, it promised to be very beneficial to the Trade & Manufactures of this Kingdom, & I think the Proprietors very deserving of every Encouragement."

An undated paper entitled: "A short account of the Bay of Chaleur," stating its position, settlements, inhabitants and suggesting that religious instruction should be given to the Indians, who desire it. The country, he says, cannot be settled with good men without religious ordinances. This paper is probably of the same date as the memorial.

3 foolscap pages.

1775, January 27. Whitehall.—Dartmouth to Legge. His dispatches received and laid before the King and the Board of Trade. Their Lordships agree that the ability of the subject should be the measure of taxation and believe the proposition of the Assembly to tax indiscriminately lands cleared or uncleared is improper ; he is not to give his assent to a bill of this nature. The proposal to extend the jurisdiction of the Supreme Court into some of the populous counties requires further consideration, although it does not seem to be liable to any material objection. It would have been an advantage to have had Chief Justice Belcher's opinion on it. An increase to the number of representatives should be made by legislation and not by instruction. His Majesty permits him to give his assent to a bill to give two additional members to the county and two to the town of Halifax and to reduce the quorum to nine, including the Speaker. His execution of the King's instructions for the sale of land approved of ; the remuneration for survey is to be so much per hundred acres, in proportion to the trouble, but that must be left to his discretion and the amount charged against the sales of land.

The ready compliance of the Assembly respecting a law for the reservation of lands has been graciously received. Will be happy if he can suggest any means for stopping the dangerous correspondence of the Acadians on Cape Breton with St. Pierre and Miquelon without further harsh measures towards those unhappy and infatuated people. Means to be taken to stop the taking away of coal from Cape Breton, except such as is required for the troops.

1775, February 10. Cavendish Square.—Barrington to Dartmouth. Returns Belcher's memorials and other papers respecting his claim to the moiety of the Governor's salary, of which six months had been paid by order of the War Office to Governor Ellis, appointed Governor on the death of Lawrence. Green had been paid under exactly similar circumstances in obedience to the spirit rather than to the letter of instructions. Belcher's is a hard case, and there being no military fund available recommends it to his Lordship's consideration.

Belcher's memorials, one to Dartmouth (one page and three quarters), the other to the King (one page), both dated at Halifax, 5th December 1774, on foolscap. 1775, February 24. Whitehall.—Dartmouth to Legge. A clause in the Act to prevent waste and destruction to pines, &c., on reserved lands is represented to be prejudicial to the fishermen of Louisbourg; desires that this shall be remedied. 1775, March 18. Throgmorton Street.—Thomas Legge to Dartmouth. Asks leave to have the box containing papers, &c., returned. Shall do nothing more about the memorial he had intended to present respecting sheriffs for Nova Scotia, more especially as the inhabitants had held meeting to make resolutions in favour of their rebellious neighbours. 1775, July 31. Halifax.—Legge to Dartmouth. Gives an account of the proceedings of an inveterate party in Nova Scotia on which he had already reported, and the difficulties that may be caused owing to the unhappy state of affairs in America. The agitation caused by the leader and his partisans has delayed public business. The Assembly, acting with them, has sat for six weeks and done nothing, giving every opposition to him (Legge), led by a select party of members who have taken offence at being removed from the office of justices of the peace for exciting disturbances; these with debtors to Government formed the majority. The loyal addresses were prepared before the combination. Day, a member, who had resided for some time in Philadelphia and imbibed republican principles, is one of the agent victuallers of the army and assisted by Tonge, the Naval Officer, framed a petition to the King for lessening the power of the Governor, Council and officers of Government, to throw the whole weight of power into the hands of the Assembly. The bait held out to keep up a majority was that the debtors should be exculpated and every man's pocket filled with money; 20,000*l*. were to be emitted in paper by establishing a loan office, but no provision was made for taxes to meet the Treasury notes, of which 20,000*l*. were outstanding; the bill was rejected by the Council, causing great violence in the Assembly. Binney's affair made use of to increase the excitement. Laments that in so critical a time several officers of Government should by their conduct tend to make the Assembly absolute.

1775, August 18. Halifax.—Legge to Dartmouth. Recommends his Lordship to acquire for four or five of his sons 20,000 acres each, which would increase in value by the formation of settlements.

1775, November 2. Halifax.—Gorham to Legge. The resolution of Council that he should engage and form two or more companies of Indians and Acadians having been desired by His Excellency to be deferred or dropped, prays him to reconsider the matter in Council so as to exculpate him (Gorham) as he stands in the Council book accountable for the immediate prosecution of the measure. From the distressed situation of the Indians from the want of ammunition and provisions, the measure is an object requiring immediate attention.

1775, November. Adelphi.—Burrow to Dartmouth. Had attended Lord [George] Germain, but had no opportunity to state the case. Asks if half an hour's interview can be obtained with Germain at his house. In a postscript he says the abolition of the office of inspector would be a triumph to Francklin and an injury to the Province, as he and his party boasted of the influence they possessed.

2 quarto pages.

1775, December 5. Yarmouth.—Report to Legge of an attack by two armed vessels from New England and some of the inhabitants carried off. Advice and protection are asked for.

2 foolscap pages.

1776, January 1. Halifax.—Petition of several members of the Council. It is signed by Jonathan Belcher, Henry Newton, Jonathan Binney, Arthur Gould and John Butler. Protest their fidelity and that they had formed an association to support and maintain with their lives and fortunes His Majesty's person, Crown and dignity, and to oppose attempts to seduce the inhabitants from their loyalty. Complain of the conduct of Legge since he became Governor, of which instances are given, and pray for relief.

Another petition to the same effect, from the principal gentlemen and inhabitants of Nova Scotia, is dated 2nd January. The two petitions are nearly identical.

1776, January 2. Halifax.—Francklin to Dartmouth. Has held the Commission of Lieut.-Governor for nearly ten years, and discharged his duty to the satisfaction of the King and his ministers. Had a right to expect attention and confidence from Legge, but on the contrary had been met with slight, neglect and sometimes rudeness. Has been silent but as it is asserted that Legge has made representations highly injurious to the character of the officers of Government and charges them and the inhabitants with being disaffected, he (Francklin) now asserts that such representations are totally untrue and without foundation, although it is true that Legge has by his conduct lost the confidence and affection of the King's best subjects. Had come to town to pay his respects to Commodore Arbuthnot and General Massey, but as he has no post in the military establishment of the colony, he can be of little assistance.

1776, January 2. Halifax.—Arthur Gould to Dartmouth. Complains that Legge refuses to sign bills for the office rent and "fire money," always hitherto paid quarterly, to the great distress of the officers entitled to the allowance.

3 quarto pages.

1776, January 3. Truro.—Representation and petition of the inhabitants of Truro against the Act for raising the militia and the Act for imposing a tax for its support.

4 quarto pages.

Another (undated) to the same effect from the County of Cumberland, entering into greater detail. It is endorsed 1775.

4 demy pages.

Another from Onslow to the same effect is endorsed 3rd October 1776, but this appears to be an error, as Legge left Nova Scotia in May of that year.

2 foolscap pages.

1776.—“Notes and observations upon the state of Nova Scotia in the year 1775, and the Petitions and Remonstrances against carrying certain Acts into execution, then judged by the Legislature necessary for putting the Province in the best state of Defence that the then circumstances of the People would then possibly admit and the Obvious Motives which actuated the Petitioners in their Opposition.” It is chiefly taken up with a criticism of the address from Cumberland, as a type of the others, which, it is contended, shows their sympathy with the rebels and their intention to oppose the execution of the Militia Act. There is neither date nor signature; the handwriting is that of Gibbons.

8 $\frac{3}{4}$  foolscap pages.

1776, January 10. Halifax.—“Return of officers for garrison allowance of His Majesty’s Loyal Regiment of Nova Scotia Volunteers.” The names of the officers, with the dates of their commissions are given.

1 foolscap page.

1776, February 7. Halifax.—“State of His Excellency Governor Legge’s Conduct and Proceedings with respect to Lieutenant Constable of His Majesty’s Royal Fensible American Regiment of Foot.” The offer of a company in Legge’s regiment withdrawn in consequence of charges against Constable; the document contains an examination, correspondence, &c., on the subject.

19 $\frac{1}{4}$  foolscap pages.

1776, February 27. Planta. Office.—Cumberland to Legge. Had tendered Meyrick, his (Legge’s) agent, his salary, but as Legge is expected shortly to return Meyrick thinks it better to retain the money till his arrival.

1 quarto page.

1776, February 27. Whitehall.—Lords of Trade to Legge. In consequence of complaints against him he is to prepare for his defence; the complainants are to have access to the necessary papers, &c., and he is to return to London. The charges, evidence, &c., to be exchanged between him and the complainants, and copies of the whole sent to their Lordships.

2 $\frac{3}{4}$  foolscap pages.

A letter from Cumberland to Dartmouth forwarding the letter is enclosed.

1776, February 27. Whitehall.—Knox to Legge. An immediate inquiry to be made into the occasion of the uneasiness and discontent said to prevail in Nova Scotia; letters from Germain and Lords of Trade will show what is expected of him. It will be a satisfaction to him to find that the Government in his absence will not be in the hands of a person whom he considers an adversary and connected with those who wish to render his government uneasy. Thanks for his attention to Ellis.

2 quarto pages.

1776, February 27. Adelphi.—Burrow to Dartmouth. His brother being willing to resign in his favour his office of Collector of Customs, asks his Lordship's influence to obtain the consent of North to the transfer. The letter is dated "Tuesday noon." The subject is stated in letter to Legge, dated 28th February, which was a Wednesday.

2 $\frac{1}{2}$  foolscap page.

1776, February 28. London.—Burrow to Legge. Dispatches received. Soon after his (Legge's) dispatches were received, Binney and Tonge arrived with a whole cargo of complaints, memorials, &c., which they had left no engine unmoved to give effect to. His exertions to counteract them, and had presented to the Lords of Trade his (Legge's) letters, and that of Morris; with these and the assistance of Dartmouth a conviction was forced [on the Lords of Trade], which he was afraid had not at first been intended. States the plan of Legge's recall to lay the state of the colony before the King, a course not unusual, and by such order the full pay continues, which is not the case on leave of absence being granted. On his arrival the Lords of Trade are to examine into all the complaints; what documents he should have prepared to explain the position of affairs. Care has been taken that the proceedings carry no stain on him (Legge). The dismissal of the head of the party has disconcerted his (Legge's) opponents. Arbuthnot is to be Lieut.-Governor; has no doubt that he (Legge), if he chooses, will be back in October with a reputation that will attend him through life. The complaints have been managed with great art and every one who could be prevailed on has been induced to write something disagreeable, which occasioned a prejudice not easy to break through, which was shared by Germain who succeeded Dartmouth. The change in Germain's opinions on the case, but the difficulties of his position should any mishap befall the Province were no notice taken of the complaints. He (Burrow) has no doubt matters will be cleared up and the character of the complainants exposed, when the Province will flourish for at present it is neither worth governing nor living in. Should it be his own choice not to return after his character is cleared, he will receive marks of His Majesty's approbation in the military line. Cumberland professes great friendship and would not deliver the petition sent by the five Councillors; Monk cannot be too severe on Belcher. Binney and Tonge cut ridiculous figures at the Board and will receive no countenance from the Secretary of State or the first Lord of the Treasury and the "valiant Col." [Tonge] is now flying to the Board of Ordnance to be appointed an engineer and to fortify Cumberland; had dedicated time to prevent this. What papers should be brought over. Monk to be cautioned not to write so much; Cumberland hinted that he was not his (Legge's) friend. His own private arrangements and his desire that his wife, now in Nova Scotia, should join him in London.

8 foolscap pages.

A table of fees (undated) established to be taken by the Governor is enclosed in the preceding letter.

1 foolscap page.

1776, February.—Burrow to Dartmouth. Has learned that Tonge is taken by the hand by the Board of Ordnance and to be sent as engineer to Cumberland county, where Francklin has influence and which was the first place to oppose the Militia Act. Tonge's bad character, Binney's inability to establish before the Board of Trade the charges against Legge.

4 quarto pages.

1776, March 2. London.—Burrow to Dartmouth. That he has been tracing the author of an anonymous letter and believes that it was written by Butler and handed to the printer by a man in disguise. He (Burrow) and his brother will call on Monday respecting the offer of the latter to resign in his (Burrow's) favour. Dated only "Saturday." For conjectural date see letter from Burrow of 27th February.

4 foolscap half pages.

1776, March 4. London.—Burrow to Dartmouth. Had been informed that Legge is to be recalled to answer the complaints against him. Hopes that Binney and Tonge who are applying for reward will not be listened to.

3 foolscap pages.

1776, March 7. Cornwallis.—Chipman to Henry Denny Denson. Encloses affidavits from Captain Ferrel and Lieutenants Green and Pinco respecting the threats of Samuel Willoughby to stop recruiting for Legge's regiment. The affidavits of same date are with the note.

In all 2½ quarto pages.

1776, March 8. Halifax.—The Governor reported to the Council that the Lieut. Governor had informed him 300 men in the townships of Windsor, Newport, Falmouth, Horton and Cornwallis and 200 men in Cobequid and Cumberland were ready to enrol themselves for the defence of the Province and asked for advice. The Council was of opinion he should proceed to the enrolment.

1½ foolscap pages.

1776, March 8. London.—Burrow to Legge. Had written him on the 27th (the letter referred to is dated the 28th February). Refers to his public and private dispatches. Dartmouth is determined that the matter shall be searched to the bottom. Germain's opinions of the people are now different from those he held. Anonymous letter received full of invective, apparently from the distiller; believes he has destroyed any effect it might have had. Has hopes of success in the proposal to succeed his brother; hopes for the arrival of Mrs. Burrow, &c. P.S.—9th March.

The success of the Government and weakness of the Opposition; 22,000 foreign troops engaged for America, with a fleet of 70 sail under Howe; is in hopes this year will see an end of the contest. Report that Carleton is recalled and Burgoyne to take his place. Other military news, &c.

1776, June 1. Halifax.—Binney to Legge. His grateful sense of favours received. Gossip respecting officers, &c. Mentions that Queen Anne had attended every day at the trial of Dr. Sacheverell. (This appears to be intended to meet the charge against Legge of attending during a trial, and thus influencing the decision of the Court).

2 quarto pages.

1776, June (?).—“The Reply of Francis Legge, Esquire, Governor of the Province of Nova Scotia, to the Petitions presented to His Majesty against him.” Part of the proceedings before the Lords of Trade, whose report on the investigation is dated 25th July 1776. There are two copies of the “Reply,” both of which are undated.

One is 12½, the other 9½, foolscap pages, but the difference consists in the writing, the contents being the same.

1776, June.—“The case of the Defaulters of Government in the Province of Nova Scotia, and particularly Jonathan Binney, Esq., fairly Stated and Candidly examin’d being Governor Legge’s Defence of his Conduct from the Imputations and Charges brought against him in these respects.” Apparently one of the documents laid before the Lords of Trade during the investigation into Legge’s conduct.

1776, June (?).—Paper endorsed: “Copy of a paper presented to the Lords Commissioners for Trade and Plantations by Jonathan Binney, Esq.” The charges against Legge and statements in support of them are in parallel columns.

1776, July.—Memorial of Legge to the Treasury for repayment<sup>r</sup> of his expenditure as Governor, for expenses of his coming to London in obedience to orders and the cost of his living there, and praying that an order be obtained for the payment of £1,550 for his reimbursement.

1776, July 25. Whitehall.—Report of the Board of Trade on the complaints against Legge. These are summarized under four heads. The recommendation is in these words:—"That your Governor through the Course of his Administration hath been wanting in that Gracious and Conciliating Deportment which the delicacy of the times and the Tempers of Men under agitation & alarm more particularly demanded, for want of which those upright intentions which he carried with him into Government became in great part fruitless and abortive and so general a ferment and dissatisfaction spread through the Province, that it became necessary for your Majesty to call him home to answer to the complaints exhibited against him." These complaints and observations are now before His Majesty, "and though we trust they will upon examination be found to furnish no such serious and well grounded matter of misconduct, as to cause your Majesty to withdraw your Royal favour and confidence from Mr. Legge upon future occasions," yet seeing the satisfaction his recall has given, they cannot think "it will be for your Majesty's service, that Mr. Legge should be allowed (for the present at least) to return to Nova Scotia for the purpose of reassuming the administration of that Government."

13½ foolscap pages. There are also two incomplete copies of this report, one the beginning the other the end of it.

1776, September 5. Salisbury Street.—Burrow to Dartmouth.. Owing to the "abdication" of officers of the Customs in Nova Scotia begs that he may be recommended for employment there should his brother's proposal to resign in his favour not be thought proper. Monk appointed Attorney-General in Quebec, to make room, he thinks, for Brenton to succeed to that office in Nova Scotia.

2 quarto pages.

1776 (?).—Memorial from Binney for a salary.

1778.—Legge to Dartmouth. Reminding His Lordship of the memorial presented upwards of two years previous for payment of the expenses he had incurred as Governor and in consequence of his recall and asking for His Lordship's influence to have payment made. Undated. The memorial referred to was written in July 1776.

1½ foolscap pages.

N. D.—Memorial from William Shirreff for the pay of his late father, appointed Judge-Advocate of the forces at Annapolis Royal in 1718, without salary. And on the recommendation of a Board of General Officers a new commission was issued in 1730 with a salary attached; the arrears of which amount to £2,774 sterling. (In the body of the memorial it is stated that Shirreff, the memorialist, has served for 25 years. His first commission, so far as can be traced, was given the 25th of June 1755, so that the possible date of the memorial is 1780.

3 foolscap pages.

An extract from the report of a Board of General Officers, on the petition of William Shirreff of 10th July 1730, is enclosed.

2 foolscap pages.

1772, August 27. Dublin.—Desbrisay to Dartmouth. Sends memorial from Samuel Smith, agent for St. John's, praying for roads on the island, and for a detachment of troops to assist in public works.

A memorial corresponding to that described in the letter is dated 30th December 1772, and follows the preceding letter.

1772 (?) Petition of Michael Swan for payment of a bill granted to him by Callbeck, Attorney-General of St. John's Island for money advanced, Callbeck being protected by his position from suits that might otherwise be brought against him.

$1\frac{1}{2}$  foolscap pages.

1773, May 13. London.—Desbrisay to Dartmouth. Encloses proposal for peopling the island of St. John.

$\frac{1}{2}$  quarto page.

Enclosed:—A printed proposal from Emanuel Lutterloh to furnish 4,000 families as tenants and settlers on estates in the island.

Printed. 2 foolscap pages.

1773, May 20. Litchfield.—Desbrisay to Dartmouth. Suggests his purchasing a lot of land in the island. Christie has offered to sell his lot, offers to act as agent for the purchase and management, without charge. The revenue to be expected from the investment.

$1\frac{1}{2}$  quarto pages.

1773, August 28. Dublin.—Desbrisay to Dartmouth. Sends forms of power of attorney and lease respecting lands in St. John's island, to serve as a model for His Lordship's lands in Florida. Sir Charles Saunders has offered to sell him (Desbrisay) his lands in St. John's Island, which he offers to transfer to His Lordship for the same price as that to be paid to Sir Charles, and to resume possession should the purchase not be advantageous to His Lordship.

2 quarto pages.

1773, September 24.—Charlotte town.—Memorial of Chief Justice Duport, Callbeck, Attorney General, Allanby, Provost Marshal and John Budd, Clerk of the Crown, represents that the island was constituted a separate Government from Nova Scotia, on the agreement of the proprietors to pay such quit rent as would meet the charges. That this quit rent has not been paid, so that there is no fund to pay their salaries, from which cause they have suffered great distress, having filled their respective offices for four years without remuneration. Memorialists pray that their salaries be secured to them in such manner as shall seem best to His Majesty.

$1\frac{3}{4}$  foolscap pages.

1773, November 22. Dublin.—Desbrisay to Dartmouth. Has withdrawn his advertisement for tenants for his lands in St. John's Island in consequence of His Lordship's displeasure. Had not attempted to obtain tenants except with the leave of the proprietors and encloses note from Lord Hertford's agent in proof of this.

$1\frac{1}{2}$  quarto pages.

The note is enclosed.

1 quarto page.

settlement, &c., praying that a resident surveyor should be appointed and nominating John Robinson for the office.

1 foolscap page.

1773 (?)—"Suggestions concerning the Island of St. John in North America." The salaries of the officers were to be paid out of the quit rents; this has not been done, and they wish Government to pay them, the proprietors complain that the quit rents are too high. Suggests that an Assembly be called which could pass a law to authorise the sale of lands for the payment of quit rents. The Governor complains of the insufficiency of his salary, and has presented, or will present, a petition to the Treasury for relief. The cause of the extraordinary expense is the accommodation of strangers, there being no hotel in the capital, and the expense will increase should an Assembly be called. The sum of 500*l.* wanted for making roads. The Naval Officer has no salary; until the trade would warrant the imposition of fees, he should be paid a salary.

1½ foolscap pages.

A loose jotting appears to relate to the preceding document. The Assembly was first called in 1773, so that the date of this document cannot be later than that year.

1 foolscap page.

1774, February 12. Dublin.—Desbrisay to Dartmouth. Would have been in London before, but for an attack of scarlet fever. To assist His Lordship in the disposal of his lands in East Florida, encloses his terms and conditions for the sale of his lands in St. John's Island and Lutterloh's proposals for tenancing the same. The seller for 20,000 acres will have £10,000 in five years and the purchaser by advancing £2,102 will have £2,000 for ever. Since he has been forbidden to take tenants from the United Kingdom, has adopted this method of settling his lands.

3 quarto pages.

Lutterloh's proposals enclosed are the same as those sent on 13th May 1773, with the addition of a certificate of his position. Proposals by Desbrisay, also enclosed, for selling and tenancing lot 31, showing the cost to the purchaser and returns.

2 foolscap pages. Printed.

1774, March 15. Barrington to Pownall. Encloses an application from Adair, surgeon, to be laid before Dartmouth.

1 quarto page.

1 quarto page.

1774, March 31. Berners Street.—General Worge to Dartmouth. Complains that land sold by him to Desbrisay had been disposed of by the latter in such manner as to defeat the claims he had in it for payment of mortgage.

2 quarto pages.

1774, May 1. Piccadilly.—Desbrisay to Dartmouth. Has settled with General Worge to that gentleman's satisfaction. Thanks for the recommendation he expects for the salary of £200 as Lieutenant Governor, but presses for a decision.

1774, December 10. Somerset House.—Desbrisay to Dartmouth. Sends description of two lots of land made by Clarke, a Quaker, who went to settle on St. John's Island. Again recommends His Lordship to purchase the two lots as an investment.

$1\frac{1}{2}$  quarto pages.

A short description in tabular form is enclosed.

1775, June 15. Hon. John Yorke to Dartmouth. Reminds His Lordship of a promise Desbrisay believes was made him on the application of Sir Joseph Yorke.

1775, June 21. Somerset House.—Desbrisay to Dartmouth, applies to be appointed to Granada or any other Government. Encloses memorial.

1 quarto page.

The memorial, of same date, enclosed, offers to raise a battalion of 500 men for service in America.

1 foolscap page.

1775, July 18. Dublin.—Lord Ligonier to Desbrisay. Is unable to assist him with Dartmouth, not being acquainted with His Lordship. Recommends him to apply to Sir Joseph Yorke.

1 quarto page.

1775, July 24. Charlottetown.—Thomas Wright to Dartmouth. Governor Patterson has a memorial to present on his (Wright's) behalf, relative to his situation as chief surveyor of the island; the injury he and his family would sustain by removal, the expense he has incurred, &c. It is endorsed "Nova Scotia" through error.

1 foolscap page.

1775, July 27. Somerset House.—Desbrisay to Dartmouth. Has been informed by Callbeck that Patterson does not intend to leave the island this year. That means a loss to him (Desbrisay) of half the Governor's salary and perquisites, and with no salary attached to his office of Lieutenant Governor and personal fortune, it would be miserable to go to a desolate island; asks leave, therefore, to remain for a year in hope of obtaining a Government or he would raise a battalion of 500 men at his own expense, on condition of being appointed to the command, naming his own officers to be selected from half pay. Is unhappy that Lord Ligonier is not acquainted with His Lordship; encloses his letter (see 18th July).

2 quarto pages.

1775 (?).—Memorial by Desbrisay for a salary to him as Lieutenant Governor. There are two copies.

1 foolscap page.

1775 (?).—Memorial of Desbrisay offering to raise a Company to consist of a Captain, three lieutenants and one hundred men to be employed for seven years in making public roads, he to be captain without pay and to select the three lieutenants.

1 foolscap page.

1775 (?).—C. Greville to Dartmouth (?). The training of Peter Stewart in the profession of law; he is a large landed proprietor in St. John's Island, has expended a considerable sum in the cultivation of his property and has sent out nearly 200 people who have been settled above two years. Apologises for mentioning Stewart after having recommended Grant. If appointed, Government will not have a more proper person in its pay from his qualifications, which are detailed. [The letter is without date or address. It was written in answer to inquiries as to Stewart's fitness for the office. Lord Dartmouth was Colonial Secretary from August, 1772, to January, 1776; Stewart was appointed Chief Justice in 1775, which is most probably the date of the letter.]

1776, March 20. Leicester Square.—Patterson to Dartmouth. His confidence in His Lordship's kindness to preserve him and his family from ruin. All his business is stopped at the Treasury and it appears as if it would rest there or be determined against him. Asks for His Lordship's mediation and will call to explain more fully.

1776. "Observations on the Island of St. John in the Gulf of St. Lawrence; chiefly setting forth the advantages that must arise from the settlement of it to Great Britain, and offering some Reasons why at the juncture it may prove particularly advantageous to give it extraordinary encouragement, &c." From the situation of the island it can never be a manufacturing country but must always "tempt the inhabitants to run into trade and the fishery." The ill-treatment of the inhabitants and especially the Indians by the New Englanders, who obtained the furs of the latter by giving them rum and a bad imitation of wine. The advantage to Great Britain of trade carried on from St. John's instead of from New England, especially during the present state of the Colonies. If Government held out encouragement, many loyal people from New England would fly there for safety. The error in the first establishment of a separate Government in 1769, providing for the salaries of the officials from quit rents, as in nearly seven years these did not amount to as much as would pay them for a year and a half. Proposes that the island should be put on a footing similar to the other American Colonies, giving the officers salaries sufficient to support their respective ranks. The paper is endorsed, "Gov. Patterson's Observations on the Island of St. John." It was probably written in London.

Undated. "A Description of the Island of St. John, in the Gulph of St. Lawrence, North America." The description is in a bound MS. volume, the information given in tabular form, with note of the quality of the land in each lot, the boundaries of which are given, a list of proprietors being at the end.

CIRCULAR OF THE COMMISSION.

Public Record Office, Chancery Lane,
London, W.C.

HER MAJESTY has been pleased to appoint under Her Sign Manual certain Commissioners to ascertain what unpublished MSS. are extant in the collections of private persons and in institutions which are calculated to throw light upon subjects connected with the civil, ecclesiastical, literary, or scientific history of this country. The present Commissioners are:—

Lord Esher, Master of the Rolls, the Marquess of Salisbury, K.G., the Marquess of Bath, the Marquess of Lothian, K.T., the Earl of Rosebery, K.G., Lord Edmond Fitzmaurice, the Bishop of Oxford, the Bishop of Limerick, Lord Acton, Lord Carlingford, K.P., Sir G. W. Dasent, and Mr. H. C. Maxwell Lyte, C.B.

The Commissioners think it probable that you may feel an interest in this object and be willing to assist in the attainment of it; and with that view they desire to lay before you an outline of the course which they usually follow.

If any nobleman or gentleman express his willingness to submit any unprinted book, or collection of documents in his possession or custody to the examination of the Commissioners, they will cause an inspection to be made by some competent person, and should the MSS. appear to come within the scope of their enquiry, a report containing copies or abstracts of them will be drawn up, printed, and submitted to the owner, with a view to obtaining his consent to the publication of the whole, or of such part of it as he may think fit, among the proceedings of the Commission, which are presented to Parliament every Session.

To avoid any possible apprehension that the examination of papers by the Commissioners may extend to title-deeds or documents of present legal value, positive instructions are given to every person who inspects MSS. on their behalf that nothing relating to the titles of existing owners is to be divulged, and that if in the course of his work any modern title-deeds or papers of a private character chance to come before him, they are to be instantly put aside, and are not to be examined or calendared under any pretence whatever.

The object of the Commission is solely the discovery of unknown historical and literary materials, and in all their proceedings the Commissioners will direct their attention to that object exclusively.

In practice it has been found more satisfactory, when the collection of manuscripts is a large one, for the inspector to make a selection therefrom at the place of deposit and to obtain the owner's consent to remove the selected papers to the Public Record Office in London, where they can be more fully dealt with, and where they are preserved with the same care as if they formed part of the muniments of the realm, during the term of their examination. Among the numerous owners of MSS. who have allowed their family papers of historical interest to be temporarily removed from their muniment rooms and lent to the Commissioners to facilitate the preparation of a report may be named: The Duke of Rutland, the Duke of Portland, the Marquess of Salisbury, the Marquess Townshend, the Earl of Dartmouth, the Earl of Ancaster, Lord Braye, Lord Hothfield, Mrs. Stopford Sackville, Mr. le Fleming, of Rydal, and Mr. Fortescue, of Dropmore.

The costs of inspections, reports and calendars, and the conveyance of documents, will be defrayed at the public expense, without any charge to owners.

The Commissioners will also, if so requested, give their advice as to the best means of repairing and preserving any papers or MSS. which may be in a state of decay, and are of historical or literary value.

The Commissioners will feel much obliged if you will communicate to them the names of any gentlemen who may be able and willing to assist in obtaining the objects for which this Commission has been issued.

J. J. CARTWRIGHT,
Secretary.
